PRESIDENT MITCHELL ISSUES STATEMENT

Advises Miners to Prove That They Are Not Anxious to Return to Work if Given Protection.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., Oct. 6.—A conference was held tonight between President Mitchell and the district presidents, continuing until 11:15 p. m. At 11:30 o'clock Mitchell gave out the following statement issued to district secretaries and all mine workers in the anthracite fields, in which he said:

In order to demonstrate to the people of our country that the statements of the operators are unfounded and that the mine workers are law-abiding citizens, the officers of all local unions should call mass meetings of all men on strike, union and non-union, such meetings to be held in each mining town at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, October 8. We know that the mine workers are not restrained from going to work by fear of bodily harm; and if this is the sentiment prevailing at the meetings, resolutions should be adopted emphatically declaring the statements of the operators to be untrue.

We also advise that acts of lawlessness by the coal and iron police and by strikers be discouraged and the services of members of the union tendered the local authorities to preserve law and order.

Great care should be exercised that those on strike do not permit themselves to be provoked by the coal and iron police into the commission of overt acts.

JEALOUS BABOONS FIGHT.

Struggle for Affections of Female, Who Is Killed by the Proprietor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(Special.)—The Sun this morning says: Three big baboons got into a row in a cage at the Bostock animal show at the St. Nicholas rink yesterday morning. There was a female baboon in the cage, but she took no part in the fight. The fight was caused by rivalry among the males for the affections of the female. The three were fighting to a finish and Director Bostock decided that the best way to put an end to the trouble was to get rid of the female. He did so by killing her with two shots from a revolver. The males then quieted down.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM A. STONE.
He Has Decided to Employ the Whole Organized Military Power of the State in the Strike Region.

COUNCIL OF WAR ASSEMBLES AT THE EXECUTIVE MANSION

The Result Is That the Entire Division Will be in the Field Within Twenty-Four Hours of the Executive Call.

GEN. WILEY ORDERED HOME FROM KANSAS MANEUVERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Oct. 6.—The entire division of the National guard of Pennsylvania was ordered on duty in the strike territory by Gov. Stone tonight.

The governor decided upon this plan to settle the anthracite strike at a council of war with the general officers of the guard at the executive mansion. His reasons for placing the entire state military force in the field are given in a formal order.

The full strength of the division is 10,000 men, and the cost of placing all the troops on duty will be enormous. The expense to the state for keeping the troops now on duty is estimated at $250,000, and it is probable that the total cost will exceed $1,000,000.

The conference was still in session at midnight. None of the officials will disclose the place of mobilization of the troops. Gen. Gobin will retain command of the troops now on duty. Gen. Schall will have charge of the First brigade and Col. Hulings will command the Second brigade until relieved by Gen. Wiley, who has been ordered home.

This is the first time the entire division has been placed in the field for strike duty since the Homestead riots in 1892.

The real reasons which impelled Gov. Stone to take this action probably will never be generally known. Evidently he did not decide upon this plan until today, as Adjt. Gen. Stewart had to be summoned from Washington to attend the council.

Military Men Present.

There was present also Maj. Gen. Miller, who came here from Franklin this evening. Gen. Gobin, who is in command of the troops now in the field, arrived about the same time, with Majs. William P. Clarke, William W. Inglis and George H. Halberstadt of the Third brigade staff. Gen. John W. Schall of Norristown, commander of the First brigade, arrived during the evening with Col. Willis J. Hulings of Franklin, who represented Gen. Wiley of the Second brigade, who is in Kansas.

All of these officers, together with Col. Willis J. Elliott of Philadelphia, Assistant Adjt. Gen. and Col. William F. Richardson, keeper of the state arsenal and assistant quartermaster general of the division, were present at the council.

Gen. Stewart was at Washington attending the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and did not reach here until an hour after the other officers arrived. He was hurriedly driven to the mansion. The officers went into conference and were together until nearly 11 o'clock before the result was announced.

Studying Map of the Region.

Col. Elliott was summoned here this afternoon by Gov. Stone and with Col. Richardson he made a careful study of the blue prints of the coal regions to select the locations of the troops.

There are now in the field the entire Third brigade, except Battery C and three troops of cavalry. There are 52 infantry companies in this brigade.

The First brigade is composed of four 12-company regiments, Battery A and the First Philadelphia City troop. The Second brigade consists of the Fifth and Tenth regiments, each of which contains eight companies; the Fourteenth regiment, with 10 companies; the Sixteenth and Eighteenth regiments, with 12 companies each; Battery B and Sheridan troop. There are 98 companies of infantry in these two brigades.

The arsenal began loading wagons at midnight and special efforts will be made to get the canvas in the field before the troops arrive. The movement of troops is being directed by Gen. Stewart, who expects to have the entire two brigades in the field inside of 24 hours.

Gen. Miller, commanding the guard, will have his headquarters in this city unless circumstances should arise that would require a change.

Some Predict End of Strike.

It is predicted that the action of the governor will bring about the speedy ending of the strike, through the resumption of many idle collieries under the protection of guns and bayonets.

There was a story here tohight that President Mitchell would order the strike off tomorrow, upon assurance from official quarters that legislation looking to the betterment of the miners' state would be introduced and pushed to passage at the coming session of congress and state legislature.

The Order Calling Out the Guard.

Headquarters National Guard,
Adjutant General's Office,
Harrisburg, Oct. 6.

In certain portions of the counties of Luzerne, Schuylkill, Carbon, Lackawanna, Susquehanna, Northumberland and Columbia tumults and riots frequently occur and mob law reigns. Men who desire to work have been beaten and driven away and their families threatened. Railroad trains have been delayed, stoned and the tracks torn up. The civil authorities are unable to maintain order and have called upon the governor and commander-in-chief of the national guard troops.

The situation grows more serious each day. The territory involved is so extensive that the troops now on duty are insufficient to prevent all disorder. The presence of the entire division national guard of Pennsylvania is necessary in those counties to maintain order and peace.

The major-general commanding will place the entire division on duty, distributing them in such localities as will render them effective for preserving the public peace.

As tumults, riots, mobs and disorder usually occur when men attempt to work in and about the coal mines, he will see that all men who desire to work and their families have ample military protection. He will protect all trains and other property from unlawful interference and will arrest all persons engaging in acts of violence and intimidation and hold them under guard until their release will not endanger the public peace; will see that threats, intimidations, assaults and all acts of violence cease at once.

The public peace and good order will be preserved upon all occasions and throughout the several counties, and no interference whatever will be permitted with officers and men in the discharge of their duties under this order. The dignity and authority of the state must be maintained and her power to suppress all lawlessness within her borders be asserted. By order of

WILLIAM A. STONE,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

THOMAS J. STEWART,
Adjutant General.

ADJUTANT GENERAL THOMAS J. STEWART.
He Was Called from Washington to Attend the Governor's Council of War in Harrisburg.

MOBILIZING THE MILITIA IN PITTSBURGH

Arrangements for Moving on Strike Field Complete.

HINT OF ORDERS EARLY IN THE DAY

WORD LATE IN COMING

All the arrangements were completed at a late hour last night for the movement of the local regiments to the anthracite coal regions. The armories of the two regiments and battery were bustling with confusion, the men of the commands having reported in large numbers. Blankets were being rolled and strapped to knapsacks, and ammunition and company stores were being disposed of for the movement when the orders came. All the armories responded to the sound of martial feet and before night had melted into dawn many of the men were back at their armories in full uniform.

The local troops were prepared to respond and entrain within three hours after the call. The brigade can be mobilized at any point within the state 15 hours after orders are received and be under canvas with established headquarters.

Plenty of Amunition.

Ball amunition in sufficient quantities is on hand for the local troops. Each company has about 2,000 rounds, which can be reached at any hour of the day or night. It is all 45 caliber ammunition and will meet all the present necessities of the troops.

In all the local brokers offices yesterday the word was flashed over the tickers that the division would be ordered to the anthracite regions before the close of the week. The tip was carried to the several military headquarters and within a short time all the line officers were notified that a quick movement would be expected when the official orders reached the city.

There was a rush to the armories and in a short time every company and state store was ready to be moved. Non-commissioned officers in charge of squads were notified and the men of their details seen. Several weeks ago company officers prepared for an expected call and divided their commands so that the individual members could be suddenly reached. The homes and working addresses of the men were taken by each company officer and corporals and sergeants were given copies of them and detailed to get the men to the armory as soon as the order came.

Arranging to Leave City.

On the street and in the headquarters of the several commands officers were gathered in groups discussing the situation. Many of them had made arrangements to leave their business in charge of others, while many more of them were hunting for substitutes. Sabers were being burnished and horse equipments polished.

Ammunition was packed, rifles inspected and made serviceable. The commands will go to the scene of trouble with full companies and over 1,200

SEES EMISSARY FROM PRESIDENT

MOVES KEPT SECRET

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 6.—President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America slipped out of town before dawn this morning for Philadelphia, where he met Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, who is President Roosevelt's personal representative on matters pertaining to the strike.

Mr. Mitchell returned tonight unaccompanied, and made the simple statement that he had met the labor commissioner. He refused absolutely to discuss his visit to Philadelphia, declined to say where in Philadelphia he met Mr. Wright or what passed between them.

Subsequently he said he saw other gentlemen while there, but declined to discuss their identity.

On the strength of Mr. Wright being close to President Roosevelt there is a general impression here that the commissioner carried a message from the chief executive to Mr. Mitchell.

A rumor is in circulation tonight that President Roosevelt has appealed to Mr. Mitchell to end the strike in the cause of humanity.

Interest in Mitchell's mysterious trip was intense all day. All the local district leaders called and scores of mine workers were in evidence.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America arrived here on the Buffalo express at 7:28 a. m. He passed out of the railroad station to the street, and from that time until he reappeared at the station, shortly after noon, his movements are unknown.

It was later learned that President Mitchell met Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, but all efforts to locate Mr. Wright proved futile. Mr. Mitchell declined to answer all queries excepting those referring to the situation in the coal regions, which he said was unchanged.

Woman Attempts Suicide.

Mrs. Jennie Murdoon, 30 years old, shortly before midnight took a dose of carbolic acid at her home in Magee street. She was found shortly after and taken to Mercy hospital in No. 2 patrol wagon. At the hospital it was stated that Mrs. Murdoon's condition is critical, as she succeeded in swallowing a good quantity of the poison. She was also badly burned about the mouth and cheeks.

WHAT MINERS' LEADERS SAY OF MILITIA CALL.

WILKESBARRE, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Before leaving for Buffalo President Mitchell and the district presidents had this to say:

President Mitchell—If they call out all the troops in the United States it will not make the men return to work.

President Nichols, Dist. No. 1—If the troops are not used for any unlawful purpose their presence in the coal field cannot do us any harm.

President Thomas Duffy, Dist. No. 7—The troops are not needed. I protested when they were first ordered in district No. 7. I am still of the same mind.

President Fahey, Dist. No. 9—I do not see any necessity for calling out more troops. The purpose is to bolster up the coal operators' side of the strike.

BURSTING SHELLS PUT THE MOROS TO FLIGHT

Capt. Pershing Thinks This Time He Has Taught the Hostiles a Lesson.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—The following account of Capt. Pershing's expedition against the Moros has reached the war department by cable from Gen. Sumner at Camp Vicars, through Gen. Smith at Manila:

"Capt. Pershing and Capt. Eli Helmick's columns fired into nearly every cotta (small native fort) in Maciu. The places were captured and destroyed. Some were very strong, but our bursting shells demoralized and put the hostiles to flight. It is evident they do not intend to be cooped up as they were at Bayan. (This is the place where Capt. Pershing first defeated the Moros in their forts.)

"One of the sultans of Maciu and 40 or 50 Moros were killed and two lantakas (small brass swivel cannon) and some rifles were captured. Two enlisted men were slightly wounded. No property or food was destroyed except such as was found in captured forts.

"I am hoping that this has been a lesson that will be beneficial to the Moros. I will try to communicate with Bacolod and others who have defied us. No opportunity will be missed to impress them with the fact that we can live with perfect peace with them if they will desist from hostilities and recognize our sovereignty.

"The datto of Rio Grande and others of the friendly Moros say our booting of the Maciu Moros will be good news to all of the other lake Moros."

MARGARET CARNEGIE'S GIFT TO BRONX ZOO

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—"The biggest and hairiest-headed lion in the world," the gift of little 6-year-old Margaret Carnegie, Andrew Carnegie's daughter, is to be an inhabitant of the Bronx zoo. It was bought by the "elephant-tiger man," as the little heiress to millions calls Director Hornaday of the New York zoological gardens, who returned to New York today after a seven weeks' trip.

While in Scotland Mr. Hornaday visited Mr. Carnegie, whom he has known for 30 years. While he was Mr. Carnegie's guest, the millionaire's little daughter told her father she wanted to make a present to the zoo, and her father told her to tell Mr. Hornaday what she wanted him to buy. Her directions were to "get the biggest and hairiest-headed lion in the world." She repeated this injunction to the "elephant-tiger man," and he says he executed her commission faithfully.

He visited every public and private zoo of any consequence in Europe before he secured a splendid specimen. Little Miss Carnegie was notified as soon as the purchase was made, and when she was told that it cost $1,500, she wanted to know if a larger one couldn't have been got for $2,000.

PITTSBURGH BISHOP'S NOMINATION DELAYED.

ROME, Oct. 6.—Cardinal Gotti, prefect of the propaganda, has all the documents relating to the appointment of a coadjutor bishop of the Pittsburgh (Pa.), diocese, but no nomination can be made until the congregation of the propaganda, which is now on vacation, reassembles next November.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(Special.)—The World this morning says: Ex-President Cleveland was asked yesterday whether he would make any speeches in the New York campaign. He replied: "I have no intention of doing so."

WANTS MITCHELL TO BE GOVERNOR

Secretary of Illinois Democrat State Committee Booms Him for Nomination.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—"I am for John Mitchell, president of the Mine Workers of America, for governor of Illinois next year," said George E. Brennan, secretary of the Democratic state committee, today, to a group of Illinois politicians at the Sherman house headquarters and all the others nodded assent.

"I thought Mitchell was a Republican," said one.

"Mitchell has always been a Democrat," said Secretary Brennan. "He retains his residence at Braidwood, in Will county, and until a few years ago he took an active interest in politics. He is young, only 33 years old, but there is not the slightest doubt that he could poll a tremendous vote in the state. John Mitchell has risen in the estimation of the people in the last week to a wonderful extent and I believe he could be elected governor of his state in 1902."

PAWNED WATCH FOR CHARTER.

A Lawyer's Forgetfulness Nearly Delays Railway Incorporation.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—E. V. Frothingham, a young lawyer from the New York office of Edward M. Shepard, today had to pawn his gold watch to get a charter for the Whippany & Passaic River Railroad Company. When Mr. Frothingham reached the state department he discovered that he had come away without the money for the filing fee of $75.

When it came time for the state department to close and the money had not been telegraphed from New York, Mr. Frothingham inquired for a pawnshop, put his watch in "hock" for $75, and had the charter granted. Before he left the office a telegram came, announcing that $75 stood to his order at a local telegraph office. He redeemed his watch.

BIG ESCORT FOR SHAW.

Army and Navy Will Honor Him at Corner Stone Laying Today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(Special.)—The Sun this morning says: The corner stone of the new custom house at Bowling Green will be laid by Secretary of the Treasury Shaw at 2 p. m. today.

Four companies of United States troops and two of the naval militia will escort the secretary, former Secretary Gage, Collector Stranahan and the committees from the old custom house and a salute of 17 guns will be fired in honor of the secretary of the treasury. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Gage will speak.

MORGAN'S ATTITUDE

Has Been Making Every Effort to End the Strike Consistent with Position He Fills.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Bishop Fallows today discussed a statement made by Mr. Walker, magazine editor, in a telegram to President Roosevelt concerning the mediation of J. P. Morgan in the settlement of the coal strike. The bishop said:

"I learned during my trip that Mr. Morgan has been making every effort to end the strike consistent with the position that he filled, and that he would be unwilling to take a new position and attempt to use all his influence to effect the mediation between the contending parties. He was willing to name a commission which would consider all the questions in dispute.

"Mr. Mitchell was willing to abide by the decision of such a commission if the operators would also consent to agree to its conclusions. It is clearly seen, however, from the recent action taken by the operators in the case of the president, that they would not agree to such a proposition."

FOUR PRISONERS ESCAPE.

Convicts on Invalid List Get Away from West Virginia Penitentiary.

WHEELING, Oct. 6.—Four prisoners, William Gardner, serving 10 years; William Palmer, colored, 10 years; Calvin Grose, 5 years, and John Runforth, 6 years, escaped from the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville tonight. They were all on the "lockout" or invalid list.

They obtained possession of a saw and cut through the bar of the storage room windows, through which they escaped. Their capture is momentarily expected.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—In a speech today accepting the Democratic nomination for congress in the Eleventh district, William Randolph Hearst declared existing conditions inside it advisable for the government to take possession of and manage the anthracite coal mines for the people's benefit.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT INDICATED GUILT

CONFESSED CRIME

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wheeling, Oct. 6.—Whether or not suicide is confession is puzzling the police here tonight, for this morning Miss Rosella Bain, who was the companion of the late Miss Gay Smith, whose body was found in the Ohio river Friday morning and who was last seen with the deceased, made an attempt upon her life by taking three ounces of morphine, but without avail.

She was discovered in her room at her boarding house evidently in the last throes, but by the timely arrival of a physician, was brought back to life and may live.

She was placed in the sweat box by the police on Saturday last and told the story of the last hours with Miss Smith. She refused to answer questions without first studying them carefully and acted so strangely that the police suspected her complicity with the disappearance of the dead girl.

She was kept under shadow Sunday, but she did not venture from her home. This morning she went to a nearby drug store where she purchased the poison and was traced to her home by Detective O'Leary. It was he who found her in her bed chamber.

The autopsy on the body of the dead girl showed no traces of poison in her stomach.

Both young ladies had been receiving the attention of James Nolan, an employe of a local laundry, where Miss Smith worked, but he had lately been more devoted to the latter. It is stated Miss Bain brooded over her faithlessness, and it is the theory of the police officers that she had something to do with the death of Miss Smith.

Nolan will say nothing. The case is shrouded in mystery, but if Miss Bain recovers, he will be apprehended and a confession is anticipated.

WHEELING, Oct. 7.—The Gay Smith mystery was cleared after midnight, when Rodella Bain sent for the chief of police and confessed that she pushed Gay into the river at the Yacht ferry landing on Monday night, after quarreling with her over Nolan's love.

GUAM EARTHQUAKE RAZED BARRACKS.

MANILA, Oct. 6.—The collier Austin, which has just arrived here from Guam, brings reports of a series of severe earthquakes there September 22, as a result of which the marine barracks at Agana and other buildings collapsed and much other damage was done. Two natives were killed. One hundred and eighty shocks were experienced in 24 hours. The population was terrorized and fled from the buildings and encamped outdoors. The Austin will return to Guam with lumber and other materials for the reconstruction of the government buildings.

MONT PELEE AGAIN POURING OUT SMOKE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(Special.)—The Sun prints the following cable from Paris this morning: The governor of Martinique has cabled M. Doumorgue, minister of the colonies, that Mont Pelee is emitting smoke. The trembling of the earth is felt at St. Marie and Trinita.

The party is to include Senators Clapp and Nelson, Gov. VanSant and Congressmen Fletcher and Morris.

AN HISTORIC TOWN GREETS PENNYPACKER

Chambersburg Gives the Next Governor a Very Hearty Welcome.

FINDS FRIENDS AND RELATIVES

FAULT-FINDING CENSURED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chambersburg, Pa., Oct. 6.—In this historic Cumberland valley, through which the cannon of Lee thundered nearly 40 years ago, ex-Judge Pennypacker, who then, for the first time as a youthful union soldier, visited this pretty burg, today looked out on the smiling fields of peace and plenty and met the sturdy citizens of Franklin county, who enthusiastically greeted him as the next governor of Pennsylvania.

Although he did not arrive here until after 5 o'clock the crowd which had been waiting for him two hours pressed around him, reached for his hand, greeted him with cheers and let him know he was in the home of his friends.

Almost from the time of his arrival he was besieged by crowds of handshakers, and tonight the streets were full of visitors from the surrounding country, who came in on special trains from Waynesboro, Greencastle and Shippensburg, and old Chambersburg was full of patriotic music, red fire and cheering crowds.

Gen. H. H. Bingham accompanied Judge Pennypacker and was given a rousing welcome by the citizens of the valley through which he fought with Hancock's corps in the bloody campaign of 1863.

The Local Reception Committee.

At the station the judge and Gen. Bingham were met by a reception committee, in which were County Chairman J. T. Pensinger, Senator Alexander Stewart, Burgess James A. Hamilton, W. W. Butler, ex-Representative W. L. Minnick, Representative A. N. Pomeroy, ex-State Senator W. U. Brewer, I. C. Yost, John W. Hoke, Morris Lloyd, H. E. Derbishire, H. G. Wolf, H. E. Wertz, George A. Wood and D. M. Good.

The meeting, which was held in the opera house, was a great demonstration, the building being packed to overflowing. County Chairman Pensinger introduced ex-Senator Brewer as chairman, who introduced Judge Pennypacker as a man who had won distinction as a judge and who is destined to win greater distinction as the next governor of Pennsylvania.

After the applause had subsided Judge Pennypacker related how, nearly 40 years ago, he had visited Chambersburg for the first time. He said:

"You had just received a visit from a member of distinguished Democrats from the south who had tried to convert you to their way of thinking; and I must say that your town did not look so pleasant then as it does now."

The speaker then took up the querulous complaints of the Pattison boomers, who are suffering so much from a contemplation of the alleged wickedness of every one else that their faces have grown so long they could almost eat oats out of the bottom of a barrel.

Criticized the Critics.

He replied to the petty complaints of the fault-finding orators who vilified everything they did not agree with and recklessly made charges which they failed to specify and which were without foundation in fact. He thought the carping critics should be got out of the murky atmosphere which they are apparently breathing.

He then spoke of the broadening influences of the Republican party, the redemption and education and uplifting of the natives of the new possessions of the country, and thought the contemplation of such an example ought to be an inspiration to lift the carping Democratic critics from the slough of despond, and instead of finding fault with every one and everything, to broaden their views and see what is good for the nation and all the people and not confine themselves to petty fault-finding.

Judge Pennypacker then drew a picture of the expansion of the nation and of its wonderful industrial development, the growth of commerce and of every business, all of which appeared to be too insignificant a matter for the attention of the fault-finders, who found time only for complaints. The judge paid a high tribute to the greatness of Pennsylvania and her unwavering loyalty to Republican principles.

Judge Pennypacker was enthusiastically applauded.

First Philadelphia Governor.

Gen. Bingham was introduced amid great applause. He complimented Congressman Mahon on his general record as well as for his devotion to the soldiers of the war of the rebellion. Bingham called attention to the fact that Judge Pennypacker is the first Republican that Philadelphia has ever presented for the governorship.

A whirlwind of applause greeted Gen. Bingham's reference to the fact that the Pennypacker family had furnished the union army during the war of the rebellion two general officers, one adjutant general, four colonels, one lieutenant colonel, two surgeons, one adjutant, two assistant surgeons, nine captains, seven lieutenants and 116 enlisted men, in all 145, including the Republican candidate for governor himself.

"The importance of this election," said he, "must be estimated from the standpoint of the two elections of Mr. Pattison to the governorship. You can elect Pattison and assume that no serious political results will follow. Pattison's election in 1882 divided the Pennsylvania delegation to congress in the house of representatives, giving the Democrats 12 members to 10 for the Republicans, and carrying four Republican districts, making the house the largest Democratic in the past 40 years. Two years later Cleveland was elected president. In Mr. Pattison's second election in 1890 the Democrats again carried four Republican congressional districts, helping to give the Democrats the largest vote in congress for 40 years past, and two years later Cleveland was elected president, with a Democratic congress, and the country got the Gorman-Wilson bill. In the past 40 years the Democrats have had control of the house and senate but once, and their most marked legislation was, as I have said before, the Gorman-Wilson bill."

It had been the intention of the gubernatorial party to return to Harrisburg tonight, but the judge met a number of relatives and old friends and decided to remain here over night.

MOBILIZING MILITIA IN PITTSBURGH

For several days the Tenth has been expecting a sudden call to the scene of the troubles. All the company baggage has been packed and prepared for shipment. Line officers have been notified and drills have been held almost nightly. The regiment is in excellent service condition.

Battery B Is Ready.

Battery B overhauled its state property on Sunday evening; the guns have been cleaned and prepared for service; the mechanism of the pieces has been inspected, and the entire armament of the battery placed in condition for active service. The battery will take out its full complement if called upon. Capt. Rees instructed his non-commissioned officers to reach them at once.

The call for the brigade will put over 3,000 troops in motion in less than 12 hours after the orders were received. Pittsburgh troops will be assembled and entrained in less than three hours, and by the time they reach Harrisburg the remainder of the brigade will be following in swiftly moving trains. The Second brigade is one of the strongest in the division and is composed of the flower of the Pennsylvania National Guard. The brigade consists of 49 companies of infantry, a light battery of artillery and a troop of cavalry. The maximum strength of the infantry companies is 63 officers and men, while the battery and cavalry commands have an excess slightly above this on a peace footing.

now in Kansas, and Col. W. J. Hulings is in command. The staff is composed of some of the most prominent people and leading business men in Western Pennsylvania. They are all thorough soldiers and will assist their commander in carrying out any movement of the brigade with rapidity. The staff of Gen. Wiley consists of the following officers: Maj. John R. Robertson, Cooperstown, assistant adjutant general; Maj. Samuel W. Jefferis, Pittsburgh, brigade inspector; Maj. Edward B. McCormick, Greensburg, judge advocate; Maj. Lewis A. Anshutz, Pittsburgh, brigade quartermaster; Maj. William S. McLain, commissary of subsistence; Maj. Samuel C. Milligan, brigade surgeon; Maj. Lewis T. Brown, ordnance officer, and Capts. Don Gingery and William O. McNary, aide-de-camps.

Waiting for the Word.

Col. Rutledge and Lieut.-Col. Kay were the last of the officers of the Eighteenth regiment to leave the armory in Oakland last night. At midnight Col. Rutledge had received no orders. When told of the action at Harrisburg, he said that he would have to wait for orders, and that the speed with which the regiment would be assembled and moved would depend entirely on the character of the orders. If there were orders to move with staff mounted or to carry more than the ordinary accoutrement, such things would be a factor.

"Quite a number of our men are out of town and can not be moved with the regiment at once," he said. "At our officers' meeting tonight we had reports from all companies, and about 700 men will move at first. Everything is in readiness at the armory for quick action."

Field Service Kit.

The orders for a prompt movement will call for each company carrying its cook stove and mess tent, which will serve till the smaller tents are shipped. Each guardsman will carry his two blankets, one of rubber and the other woolen, haversack with rations for 24 or 36 hours, according to the exigencies, mess pan, regulation uniform of blue with caped overcoat, campaign hat and 45-caliber Springfield rifles.

Two of the commissioned officers of the regiment are far away from the city. Capt. Robert Bissell, the regimental quartermaster, is at Yellowstone park, and Second Lieut. C. G. Hussey of Company K is abroad.

Col. Rutledge received orders by telephone at 1 o'clock this morning from Col. Willis J. Hulings, telling him to assemble the Eighteenth regiment in blue uniforms, with two days' cooked rations, to proceed to the scene of the trouble. Col. Rutledge could not say at what time the regiment would leave, as he was told by Col. Hulings to make arrangements for transportation, which will require some time. It is quite likely that the men will not leave the city before noon.

RAILROADS PREPARED TO HAUL THE BRIGADE.

The Pennsylvania railroad had by the most strenuous efforts, evidently with the preknowledge of what was coming, made ready for taking the Second brigade across the state. Just 50 special trains have been sent east on account of G. A. R. travel in the three past days, and yesterday the road was using borrowed equipment for its local passenger trains. Nevertheless, during the day there were rushed back from Washington five trains of from 15 to 17 cars each and two engines to each train. Even the Pennsylvania limited came in with two engines. These were held in readiness, and so far as the railroad was concerned, it was ready to do business with the whole Second brigade for several hours before the order was issued.

There was some wonder among the railroad men yesterday as to the meaning of such a rush to return the equipment, when it was easily foreseen that there would be a heavy demand for that same equipment in four days at Washington. There was no suspicion that the Second brigade was to be moved until late at night.

RAILROAD SECURES EAST END TRACT

Pennsylvania Pays $40,000 for Wilkinson Plot Near Brilliant Pump Station.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company yesterday closed negotiations for the Robert Wilkinson property, situated between Silver Lake and Brilliant pumping station. The plot contains almost 10 acres and the price paid is said to be close to $40,000.

Another purchase in this section was made last week by W. K. Hart, Jr., one of the tellers in the Liberty National bank. This piece was a part of the John Leech property, bounded by Lemington avenue and St. Peter's Lutheran cemetery. The plot covers about 75 acres, but only 20 were purchased by Mr. Hart. The price paid was almost $2,000 per acre. The two properties were bought for the Pennsylvania railroad. These two purchases made the route from Silver Lake to Brilliant pumping station almost assured.

There yet remains but two pieces of property between the land now owned by the Pennsylvania and the tracks of the Allegheny Valley road. These plots are owned by the National Transit Company and the Atlantic Refining Company, branches of the Standard Oil Company. It was stated last night that an agreement has been made between the railroad and Standard Oil Company for the purchase of enough ground for tracks to the Allegheny Valley, but this report could not be verified.

TO SUPPORT REPUBLICANS.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The Union party of Cambria county has adopted the following resolution:

We, the county committee of the Union party, do hereby withdraw our nomination for county offices, and, on account of pledges given us by the leaders of the Democratic party in Cambria county being deliberately broken, we would ask the Union party voters to stand by us in this action and vote the Republican county ticket.—W. H. Statler, County Chairman; Frank Updegraff, Secretary.

The committee claims that complete nomination papers which they prepared were tampered with by the Democrats, causing them to be rejected by the state department.

NEW STREET RAILWAY PLANS APPROVED

New Line Will Run from McKeesport to East Pittsburgh by Way of Dixons Hollow.

At a meeting of the commissioners of North Versailles township plans for a new street railway to be built through the township were approved last night. Work on the new traction line, which will be double-tracked, will be started at once. The new line will open up one of the most thickly populated and best residence districts in the Monongahela and Turtle Creek valleys.

The new line will be known as the McKeesport & East Pittsburgh Street Railway Company and will, it is said, be a section of the new Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville Street Railway Company. The new section will enter from the northern end of McKeesport and pass the Point Pleasant schoolhouse and run through Dixon hollow to East Pittsburgh, where it will connect with the new Wilkinsburg and East Pittsburgh line, which is three miles shorter between East Pittsburgh and Wilkinsburg than the line of the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

ONE DOLLAR AWARDED TO OWNER OF AUTOMOBILE

The automobile is able to take care of itself. That is the practical meaning of a verdict rendered in common pleas court No. 1 yesterday, in the case of R. B. King against the Consolidated Traction Company. Twelve men, good and true, sat on the case, and after listening to the testimony retired for consultation.

Considering the mobility and weight of the modern auto, the jury evidently came to the conclusion that the street car, which demolished King's machine, was running as much danger as the self-propelling vehicle, and after mature deliberation, allowed King the munificent sum of $1 as damages for the destruction of his machine.

SENATOR HANNA OPENS CAMPAIGN

He Addresses Enthusiastic Audiences at Wheeling and Steubenville.

KEYNOTE IS PROSPERITY

Wheeling, Oct. 6.—Senator M. A. Hanna opened the Republican campaign here tonight with a speech at the public landing to several thousand people. Senator N. B. Scott presided and made a brief speech. Secretary of State Leyland of Ohio and Congressman B. B. Dovener of Wheeling also spoke briefly.

Senator Hanna's speech was a defense of protection and a contrast of conditions under Democratic and Republican administrations. He spoke at some length on the trust question, declaring that he had always upheld the rights of organized labor and felt that capital also had the right to unite.

He commended the western miners for their position toward the strikers in the anthracite regions, and saw in their action indications of a better understanding between the opposing forces. He said the Civic Federation has already accomplished much toward bringing about such an understanding.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Senator Hanna and his party came here this afternoon, and the senator addressed the largest afternoon political meeting since the war. Fully 1,500 people were crowded into the opera house. Senator Hanna opened his speech by saying he was out telling the boys to "stand pat," and the people were answering, "You bet." He mentioned the fact that the Democrats only have a circus, while the Republican party has a glorious record of 40 years.

In his speech Senator Hanna challenged Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland to a debate on the tariff. Senator Hanna's challenge was telegraphed to Mayor Johnson at Wooster, O., and he immediately replied that he would accept the challenge.

WELLSVILLE, O., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Senator Hanna passed through the city today in a special car. When interviewed as to the prospect of making the Ohio river navigable at all seasons, he said: "I think that the people of the Ohio valley will meet with success in this movement. My opinion is that it will only be a comparatively short period when the mammoth waterway from Pittsburgh to Cairo will be locked and dammed.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Senator Hanna's special train passed through here today and a wonderfully enthusiastic reception was tendered him. The factory whistles were blown and the senator shook hands with the hundreds of citizens and school children.

THE PRESIDENT SENDS SARGENT TO MITCHELL

Commissioner of Immigration Probably Will Appeal for End of Strike.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—There was only one development of importance in the coal strike situation today. Frank P. Sargent, commissioner of immigration, for many years chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, had a long interview with President Roosevelt today and left Washington very soon afterward.

Mr. Sargent indicated that the interview concerned the coal strike, but he would not discuss the matter. From the fact that he always has been influential with labor organizations, it is generally believed that he is intrusted with a message to President Mitchell of the Miners' union. It is also said Mr. Sargent is to deliver a message of the president, urging that the miners end the strike in the interests of the public.

While many propositions have been under discussion, it is almost certain that the administration is taking up only one plan at a time. The present plan contemplates an end of the strike by the action of President Mitchell and his associates, and a full investigation of the mining conditions later. Should the movement now on foot fail, there seems to be no other plan which presents a feasible solution of the problem.

While it is generally believed that President Roosevelt has sent a direct appeal to Mr. Mitchell, no confirmation of such action was obtainable at the White House.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Late this afternoon Commissioner of Immigration Sargent arrived from Washington. It is said he missed Mitchell. Senator Quay was at the Hotel Walton when Mitchell, Wright and Sargent were there. It is not known whether the senator met any or all of these gentlemen.

THREE WINDOW GLASS FACTORIES STARTED

South Side Plants Were in Full Operation Yesterday—Some Resumed Work Saturday.

The three South Side window glass factories, which have been members of the Independent Glass Company, resumed full operation yesterday, after a partial start on Saturday. This puts about 500 men at work, who have been idle since June 30. The plants are the D. C. Cunningham Glass Company, Cunningham & Co., limited, and McKee & Co.

Other independent factories whose owners have been members of the Independent Glass Company selling agency agreement, resumed on Saturday, most of them under the terms of the Denny wage scale closed at Philadelphia and which makes the wage 12 per cent less than the Burns scale till after October 15, when the factories of the American Window Glass Company and the Federation Window Glass Company will resume. The Pittsburgh Window Glass Company, Washington, Pa., and W. R. Jones Company, Morgantown, W. Va., are paying the larger wage from the start, although governed by the Denny scale.

The American and Federation companies have fires in all their factories ready for the start, October 15.

To Protect Petroleum Industry.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The report of the tariff committee of the reichstag requests the federal government to consider at the earliest possible moment whether, from an economic viewpoint, the refining of petroleum should not be made a home industry by the introduction of separate duties on crude and refined petroleums.

HENDRICK SAYS PLOT IS ON THE OTHER SIDE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The World this morning says: "When the world is against a woman, God help her. It's bad enough to have the finger of scandal pointed at a man. Heaven pity the poor woman reviled at the very bar of justice when she appears to demand her inherent rights. This case of Laura Biggar, as the world knows her—Mrs. Bennett, as I known her—has taught me to believe that human pity is a rare commodity and that the world is upside down."

Dramatically did Dr. Hendrick defend Laura Biggar when he told for the first time in jail at Freehold, N. J., yesterday, to a World reporter the story by which he hopes to clear himself. Miss Biggar and ex-Justice of the Peace Stanton from the charge of conspiracy to defraud the estate of the late Henry M. Bennett.

"That woman is being prosecuted—hounded. Conspiracy? Pshaw! The conspiracy is all on the other side."

"Heretofore I have kept my tongue. I think it's time to talk now. The whole thing is a case of greed for money on the part of disappointed heirs and too much lawyer. The lawyers have hatched up a conspiracy plot that would do credit to a Sherlock Holmes.

"Let me tell you the truth about this case. Laura Biggar is the widow of old man Bennett. I know this to be true. We will prove it, and wish the case were coming to trial tomorrow. Dozens of letters have come to me in jail which volunteer to prove that the woman was Bennett's wife.

"One of them is from Marks, the artificial limb man, who says that while fitting a wooden leg to Bennett several years ago the old man told him he had been married to Laura Biggar, and introduced her as his wife. Another volunteer witness from up in New York state writes that he knows about the marriage in 1898 because old man Bennett, with whom he was friendly, gave him a box of cigars in celebration of the wedding. Bennett told this man that he was happy because he had just married Laura Biggar."

PHIPPS HAS BUSY DAY.

Visited New Manual Training School Building in Allegheny.

Henry Phipps, Pittsburgh's millionaire philanthropist, spent a busy day yesterday inspecting his various interests in the city. The greater part of the afternoon he spent in Allegheny inspecting the Boys' Manual Training School building and playground at Rebecca and School streets. The building, it is said, will cost nearly $100,000 when finished, and Mr. Phipps approved the work that is being done. After leaving Allegheny Mr. Phipps went to inspect his new Bessemer building, being erected at Sixth street and Duquesne way.

While in this neighborhood Mr. Phipps took a look at the property at Fifth street and Duquesne way, on which it is reported he will soon start the erection of a Mills hotel. The plans have not as yet been completed for this building, but it is understood Mr. Phipps will soon put this, his pet scheme, into execution. Mr. Phipps returned to the Hotel Schenley last night late, and tired. He gave orders not to be disturbed. It is his intention to spend today looking over his business interests in Pittsburgh and before his departure he may make an announcement of a philanthropic nature, which will be for the benefit of the residents of the city.

A LARGE AUDIENCE GREETED DAMROSCH

Exposition Music Hall Was Last Night Packed by an Enthusiastic Crowd—Today's Program.

A more brilliant opening than that yesterday at the new Exposition of the Damrosch engagement could not well be wished for. An enthusiastic audience last night packed the big music hall as a testimonial to the popular leader. For a Monday night the gathering was extraordinary, and the two weeks of Damrosch music bid fair to attract a big attendance. The feature of this engagement will be the Damrosch matinees, which are to be made more brilliant than the evening concerts.

The new soloist, Miss Anna Bussert of New York, instantly won favor with her listeners. Her initial number was the Arditi waltz "Parla." Tonight Miss Bussert will sing the famous Micaela aria from "Carmen." The appearance of the Pittsburgh festival chorus, under the direction of Benjamin F. Butts, rendered "Unfold Ye Portals" and "Inflammatus" to the accompaniment of the Damrosch orchestra. Miss Henrietta Keil's solo work was excellent. The Pittsburgh chorus will appear again next Monday evening in a new repertoire. Tonight will be symphony night. A selection never before heard anywhere will be the prelude to act II. of "Cyrano de Bergerac," Mr. Damrosch's just completed grand opera. This afternoon's program follows:

HARDENBERGH MAY SEEK SNYDER'S PLACE

He Is Considering the Matter of Being Candidate for State Treasurer.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 6.

Auditor General E. B. Hardenbergh will be a candidate to succeed Frank Harris, the present state treasurer; Senator William P. Snyder, president pro tem of the state senate, will be a candidate to succeed Mr. Hardenbergh as auditor general.

This prediction is based upon the present intention of the gentlemen named as prospective candidates. That Senator Snyder might become a candidate for auditor general has been touched upon in these dispatches; that Mr. Hardenbergh was considering the advisability of accepting the treasury portfolio is not generally known.

Senator Snyder was an aspirant for the nomination of lieutenant governor. He had strong backing, and had the gubernatorial candidate been a western man he would have had plain sailing. The nomination of Judge Pennypacker made it necessary to give to a western man the second place on the ticket. Ex-Senator William M. Brown was selected, and Senator Snyder subordinated personal ambition for the good of the party. Later his friends took up the plan of making him auditor general.

"I will not say I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer," said Auditor General Hardenbergh to The Gazette correspondent today, "but you may say I am considering the matter, and if nothing unforeseen intervenes I will be a candidate. My friends have urged me to stand for the nomination, and assurances of substantial support have been tendered. The duties of the state treasurer are analogous to those of auditor general, and my experience in my present office would be very helpful if I should succeed Treasurer Harris."

An auditor general and state treasurer will be nominated by the Republican state convention of 1903. Neither officer, under the constitution, is eligible to succeed himself, but either is privileged to take the other office. Mr. Harris, it is said, will not be a candidate for any state office at the expiration of his term.

That Republicans have no misgivings concerning the outcome of the present state campaign is shown by the alacrity with which they are getting in line for the elective positions of the coming year.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

CHANGED HIS VIEWS.

Young Minister Leaves United Presbyterians Because of His Opinions on Immersion.

At the Baptist Ministerial association meeting yesterday morning the Rev. George H. Seville, a graduate of the last class of the United Presbyterian Theological seminary, Allegheny, joined the Baptist church and its ministry. The young minister withdrew from the United Presbyterian denomination because of a change in his views regarding immersion. The Rev. Mr. Seville, who will go to the Loas missionary fields for the Baptist church, will be ordained into the ministry and be publicly immersed next Monday evening in the First Baptist church, Wilkinsburg.

The Rev. J. A. Maxwell of McKeesport read a paper on "The Social Evil, and How the Church Should Deal With It." He held dancing was a destroyer of virtue, and the theater degraded rather than elevated character.

The Reformed ministers had an unusual subject for discussion. The paper read by the Rev. J. C. Blair was on the subject, "Is It Wise for a Minister to Remain Single, and Is a Minister Justified in Using Tobacco?" He placed bachelors and tobacco on the same level.

THE A. B. CHASE PIANO
And the Others That
Are Sold Only by S. Hamilton.

In selecting a piano there is one important point to be borne in mind. The piano of our fathers is not the piano of today. The progress of the arts and sciences during the past 20 years has been swift and startling. The manufacturer in any line who has been resting on his laurels for the past two or three decades has fallen so far behind that, if his product is not already forgotten, it is remembered only as a bit of ancient history.

There is no comparison between the best piano of 20 years ago and the best piano of TODAY.

In buying your piano be sure to get the best piano of TODAY. You will have no difficulty in ascertaining which is the best. After you have seen and heard the A. B. Chase you will have no doubts of its incomparable pre-eminence. If you wish to supplement your own judgment by the opinions of the world's great artists you will find them unanimous in proclaiming the superiority of the A. B. Chase. "As good as the A. B. Chase" is the dream of other manufacturers, but the inspiration and the art and the skill to make the dream a reality have not been vouchsafed them.

Occupying as it does the acknowledged first position in the musical world, it is but natural that in Pittsburgh the A. B. Chase should be found only at Hamilton's, the largest and best known music house in the state.

This establishment has long been recognized as having in its stock the best instruments of whatever grade. For this reason it includes such famous makes as the J. & C. Fischer, the Schumann, the Hamilton, the Smith & Barnes and others.

PATTISON PARTY IN CLEARFIELD

The Ex-Governor Visits a County Claimed for Both Candidates.

GUTHRIE ASSAILS STONE

Tries to Make His Hearers Believe the Causes of Pennypacker and of the State Administration Are Identical—Jenks Absent.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

Clearfield, Pa., Oct. 6.—Democrats think they have a chance of carrying this county for Pattison. Republicans are just as confident of doing as well by Pennypacker. Clearfield is a battleground with some things to the favor of both parties.

Pattison and his party came into the county today with a hurrah, after the invasion of Jefferson county at Reynoldsville. Jefferson is safely Republican, but the spellbinders had their time, and they thought some converts might be made.

DuBois and Clearfield were the two points reached in this county today, and Mahaffey is to be visited tomorrow. At DuBois he made a street speech and shook hands with a large number of people. In this town he addressed a big audience, but the Republicans say that just as large a crowd turned out Thursday night to hear Pennypacker.

At the meeting in Reynoldsville this morning Guthrie made the declaration that since Gov. Stone has made a speech in defense of his administration, a vote for Pennypacker is a vote to indorse the Stone regime. At the same meeting, Pattison asserted that Quay has been responsible for every act of Stone.

At the meeting tonight Guthrie took up the Harrisburg speech of Gov. Stone. He said no argument, however plausible, in defense of the franchise bill, can excuse the midnight bargain by which the franchises in the city of Philadelphia were turned over to Stone's political supporters, but of which, alleged Mr. Guthrie, they made millions of dollars at the public expense.

At Falls Creek this morning the party was met by a delegation of Jefferson county Democrats led by William McCracken and Chairman A. C. Smith. George A. Jenks was not present. Although Reynoldsville and Brookville are but 15 miles apart, Mr. Jenks, who was the Democratic candidate for governor four years ago, did not put himself to the inconvenience of attending the meetings. There was a good sized gathering, presided over by M. G. McDonald.

It was the intention to hold a reception at Dubois, but when the candidates arrived they found a crowd clamoring for a speech, and Pattison and Guthrie made short addresses from the balcony of Hotel Dubois. James Kerr had come over from Clearfield with William E. Wallace, John F. Short, W. D. Bigler, Wright Bigler, Matt Savage, Chairman J. B. McGrath and about 50 other Democrats. Kerr presented the speakers at Dubois. He had been a rival of Pattison and Guthrie for the gubernatorial nomination in the Erie convention. He remarked that the body had acted wisely in naming Pattison.

Dubois is the home of D. E. Hibner, the Democratic candidate for congress. He was not given an opportunity to speak. Tonight the opera house was packed. James Kerr presided and the nominees made speeches.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

—Four cases of typhoid fever, two of scarlet fever and four of diphtheria were reported yesterday to the bureau of health.

—A slight wreck occurred on the Pittsburgh & Western road in Allegheny yesterday. Near Morris Island a freight car loaded with lumber left its trucks and blockaded the track for half an hour.

—Contracts for grading and paving a number of streets of the city were awarded yesterday. The expense will aggregate about $321,000. The asphalt contracts went to the Pittsburgh Asphalt Company.

—The police bureau was requested yesterday to make inquiry for three brothers named J. F., A. M. and E. E. Priest, who formerly lived on Sarah street, South Side, and on Coal street, Wilkinsburg, but left the city about three years ago. They were electricians and employed by the Westinghouse Company at East Pittsburgh. The settlement of a small estate can be effected if they can be located.

—Frank Zotti, the editor and publisher of the New York Narodini List, a Croatian newspaper, charged before Alderman Charles Von Moss of Allegheny by Z. V. Muzina and Frank Sepic with criminal libel, yesterday afternoon waived hearings and gave bail in each case in $500 for the December term of court.

—Andrew G. White, for 15 years a Pittsburgh letter carrier, against whom the Western Pennsylvania Humane society entered suit for cruelty and neglect of his wife and children, is missing from his home, rear of No. 2041 Forbes street. On Friday he tendered his resignation at Station A, East Liberty.

—A horse owned by Brace Bros. laundry was killed yesterday morning by being struck by a large iron bolt which fell from the new Farmers' bank building at Fifth avenue and Wood street. The horse's back was broken.

MEETING ATTENDED BY MANY WORKERS

Presbyterian Sunday School Association Discussed Missionary Work at Session in Wilkinsburg.

Over 400 members of the Presbyterian Sunday school association met in the Wilkinsburg Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon in semi-annual session. The session opened with devotional exercises by the pastor of the church, and was followed by addresses by the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, on "What is Essential to Freshness in Teaching;" the Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan, "Some Weak Points in Our Sabbath Schools;" the Rev. Dr. S. E. Elliott, "The Sabbath School as an Evangelistic Agency," and the Rev. G. W. Montgomery, "How Can We Cultivate the Temperance Spirit?"

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to discussing the best methods of doing missionary work. More than 100 Sunday schools were represented. One question was permitted to be asked from each school. The rooms of the Sabbath school, which are said to be the best equipped in Allegheny county, were inspected.

In the evening the devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. B. R. MacHatton, and an address was made by the Rev. Dr. R. S. Holmes on "Some Earnest Words to Sabbath School Teachers."

Tomorrow morning the presbytery of Pittsburgh will convene in the same church at Wilkinsburg and take up matters of business preparatory to the annual meeting of the synod in Allegheny on the 16th of this month.

One of the most important subjects of this meeting will be the creed revision overtures. James L. Cotton will be a candidate for the position of permanent clerk of the synod. It is not likely that any opposition will be offered, as Mr. Cotton has been filling the position since the death of Dr. J. J. Beacom. Arrangements will be made for the centennial celebration to be held in connection with the meeting of the synod.

WILL MAKE FIGHT ON ANNEXATION

TOWNSHIP WANTS TO RETAIN TERRITORY.

Several Formalities Necessary Before City Can Act—Debt to Be Assumed Uncertain.

Sterrett township will make a fight against the annexation of a part of that township to Pittsburgh. The finance committee of Pittsburgh councils will tonight take up the petition for annexation and will learn that the township will not submit to losing part of its territory. The city is committed to a fight to secure the territory, but when this promise was given it was thought that it was the entire end of the township that wanted to be annexed, and not the small portion. That was later shown. The remainder of the township is bitterly opposed to the project.

Application was made in the regular form to the city of Pittsburgh by that part of the township desiring to become a part of Greater Pittsburgh. There was no affidavit accompanying the petition, and this will have to be made before the city can seriously consider the proposition. One of the property owners called at city hall yesterday and will make the affidavit in a few days. He did not understand clearly the law in the matter, and will seek advice from the township solicitor before taking an oath as to the number of taxables who have signed, and what proportion they constitute of the whole number to be admitted.

Those property owners who signed the petition constitute about one-sixth of the township. City Solicitor Carnahan is casting about to learn just what is the indebtedness of that part of the township. The township debt amounts to about $7,000, but just what part of the debt can be charged against that part of the township to be annexed is in doubt.

It is not believed that the finance committee will accept the petition until the affidavit has been made, and until they are informed of the position of the township authorities on the matter.

Recorder Brown and Director McCandless made the arrangements with the property owners who first talked of the petition and they are bound to carry the matter through. It is said that the part of the township which wants to come in is strongly for the organization, and the latter will give all the help possible to get the petition accepted by councils. If this part of the township gets in, it will probably be made a part of the Thirty-seventh ward, which was originally a part of Sterrett township.

INVESTIGATING WITTMER WRECK

HEARING ADJOURNED

Three Violent Deaths Were Recorded Yesterday and an Aged Resident of the East End Was Struck by a Train.

Inquiry was begun yesterday by the coroner into the cause of the wreck at Wittmer station, on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad, on September 19, which resulted in the death of Brakeman George H. Carughty, Fireman Thomas E. Dugan, Engineer William E. Benedict, Fireman William Grattan, A. F. DeMoss, a boiler washer, and Harry Chambers.

The wreck was caused by a Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh passenger engine colliding with a passenger train on the Pittsburgh & Western tracks. Evidences of carelessness were brought out.

Four witnesses were examined and J. J. Green, dispatcher for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and S. D. Dunbar, telegraph operator at Sharpsburg, both disclaimed responsibility. Green said that the crew of train No. 208 should have flagged train No. 121. The hearing was adjourned until next Monday.

Michael Dewey, a laborer aged 35, died in the McKeesport hospital last night of injuries received last Friday, when he was struck by a freight train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Dewey was married and lived at No. 108 Sixth street, McKeesport.

Samuel H. Zellers, aged 54, died last night at the Mercy hospital of injuries received last Wednesday by being knocked from the new Ft. Wayne bridge over the Allegheny river. Zellers was a painter, whose home was in Columbus, O. While working on the bridge he was struck by a passing train. His remains will be shipped to Columbus.

Richard Thomas, aged 30 years, of No. 110 Kane alley, Allegheny, died at the Allegheny General hospital at 3:30 p. m. yesterday of injuries received a short time before by falling from and being run over by an engine on the Pittsburgh & Western road. Thomas was a fireman on the engine and at South and Allegheny avenues slipped and fell under the engine. Both legs were badly mangled and he died from exhaustion. The coroner was notified.

William Jones, aged 60 years, who lives at No. 223 Meadow street, was found under the Shady avenue bridge on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock in an unconscious condition. His skull is fractured and it is supposed he was struck by a train. He was taken to the East End Charity hospital and can scarcely live.

Weather—Fair. Tuesday, October 7, 1902.

With that well-known Pittsburg enthusiasm which anything of merit creates, when introduced by us, La Fleur yesterday received its meed of praise from many critical judges. Collectively, opinions tended to but one expression—perfection of corset making.

In effect La Fleur is a composite corset, embodying all the up-to-date ideas of the best of the world's designers and a refusal of the least suspicion of any of the old-time corsets.

In other cities La Fleur has met with an ovation. Judging by the first day of the demonstration it will have a repetition in this city.

We are showing models in which are employed beautiful clinging materials trimmed with daintiest of laces, suitable for every figure—from the debutante to the matron.

Of Utmost Interest to Women---New Walking and Dress Suits from 25 to 35 Per Cent Under Price.

And this is how it has come to pass. Thursday last our buyer ran over to New York for other things besides suits, and while busy happened to discover a sample line of the finest kind of suits—both walking and dress styles.

It was not a question of how many we already had, when these were offered 25 to 35 per cent under prevailing prices, but how quick they could be got to Pittsburg, and into the Suit Department of the second floor.

They arrived last evening and are ready this morning.

As we have said, they are samples. Many are entirely lined with silk. The materials are cheviot, broadcloth, zibeline, Scotch mixtures, and pleasing novelty weaves. There are black and solid colors, as well as those popular mixtures known as mannish effects.

The styles of Jackets are blouse, new long hip-seam coat, the staple little fly fronts, tight fitting and various other novelty effects. The sleeves in the jackets are copies of Paris and Vienna extremes, modified to meet American views, comprising such sleeve novelties as the new Bishop Puff, the Colonial, the DuBarry and the Iris.

They will be sold for $20 and along to $65, although they are worth from $30 to $85.

NOTE—In the collection are about twenty suits that stand out prominently, being of semi-costume effect in black and blue broadcloth. They are finished with silk piping and silk cord ornaments. The skirts are side pleated, flared at bottom, and lined with heavy pure silk taffeta. There is also an accordion pleated ruffle. The Jackets are the very newest results of the best designers.

We will sell them for $25, although they cannot be approached in either city for less than $38.

More and Very Special Silk News

We are so very determined to meet all preferences for silks, both in blacks and colors, that you may look for some such specially interesting news quite frequently.

Of course, these items only tell of many other favorable offers that have to remain unmentioned.

They are ideal if they fit well—otherwise they are a nuisance.

Perfect fit is a feature, and a strong one, of each individual Union Suit in our immense collection.

None but reliable makes are to be found here, back of which is a guarantee of perfect fit.

We have every good kind—cotton, silk and cotton, silk and wool, all silk and merino, the latter wool and cotton mixed.

Women's Every-day Handkerchiefs.

Three little prices submitted—and each one is so much for a handkerchief that is all pure linen.

5c each. Heavy linen hemstitched Handkerchiefs—1/4-inch hem.

9c each—3 for 25c—Fine sheer linen hemstitched Handkerchiefs—1/4 and 1/2 inch hems. We have seen many at 15c that were not nearly so good.

Two Special Numbers in Venetian Cloth.

One is all black, the other has black and the prettiest shades of a varied range of colors.

The first is a $1.25 grade of Venetian in black only, for which we charge but the even $1 a yard. It is an excellent example of this weave, and it is full 51 inches wide.

The second number is a $1.50 grade of Venetion Cloth which comes in black and such solid colors as navy, marine, cadet, turquoise, castor, red, brown, havana and reseda. It is aiso 51 inches wide. $1.25 a yard.

And here is something that has a Scotch look. From what has lately come under our notice some stores would not hesitate to pass this mixed homespun off as the real Scotch stuff.

65c a yard—a splendid $1 quality—53-inch Homespun—representing a manufacturer's surplus. It is a pretty brown and white, with here and there a fleck of red and green. Only 500 yards altogether.

The Weather Makes the Newsing of Kid Gloves Imperative.

Although the nippy weather is here a little earlier than usual, it found us prepared with our entire kid glove collection for women.

Every good kid glove that is known is here, beginning with the world-famous Jouvin & Cie., and the Reynier, and running down through all the dependable grades until our own best of $1 gloves are reached.

Space only for mention of some numbers of this $1 glove—the best woman's every-day kid glove in this city or any other city.

Our first special Glove for $1 is a 2-clasp overseam medium weight kid glove, with embroidered back. Made specially for us in France. All the new Autumn shades, besides white and black.

The third special Glove for $1 is a strap-seamed mocha with a soft velvet finish. It, also, is a one-clasp glove.

There are many $1 kid gloves around the city, but of such inferiority as to preclude any idea of comparison with these.

Women's and Children's Medium Weight Stockings.

It's best to be on the safe side when we are liable to have changeable weather. And one of the best sides is good warm stockings.

COAL OWNERS JOIN BATTLE

FUEL AT HIGHER PRICES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Bangor, Me., Oct. 6.—C. M. Holman of this city, who is a part owner in coal mines in Pennsylvania, of which the Philadelphia & Reading Company are lessees, is considering the question of making application to the courts for a mandamus to compel the coal operators to open mines and resume operations. As the property is leased on a royalty, Mr. Holman says that no income has been derived since the mines were shut down.

Mr. Holman has wired President Roosevelt that the interests of the owners entitles them to representation in any conference which may be held with reference to a settlement of the strike.

In his telegram to the president Mr. Holman referred to the operators' "obstinate policy of refusing to submit to arbitration their differences, which the striking miners, with whose demands many of the real owners of the unmined and unpaid for coal of Pennsylvania, over which the railway magnates so despotically exercise the power of the legal title they hold as lessees, are, like myself, entirely in sympathy. We have some vested rights entitled to respect, and we welcome your intervention."

Strike Clauses in Lease.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—John B. Kerr, general counsel for the New York, Ontario & Western railroad, declares the owners of the coal lands forfeited their right to interfere in case of strike by signing leases containing strike clauses.

The Churchmen's association, which includes more than 100 of the representative Protestant Episcopal clergymen of the diocese of New York, today passed these resolutions:

Whereas, The present coal famine is the cause of widespread distress and great industrial disturbance involving possible consequences of unprecedented gravity; and

Whereas, The public deprivation of a necessity of life raises an issue which is above the merits of any private quarrel; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we recognize with gratitude and approbation the patriotic action of the president of the United States in his endeavors to conciliate the conflicting interests.

And further Be it Resolved, That we pledge to the president our heartiest moral support in his further efforts to secure justice for the public.

High Prices Are Paid.

Nine dollars a ton is the price of soft coal in New York today. Anthracite has no fixed price. One lot of five tons was sold today for $125 by one retailer, and 85 cents a bushel is now being asked in some places. This is at the rate of $32 a ton.

The cargo of the City of Chicago, Welsh coal, was put on sale today at $15 a ton.

Mayor Low today sent a telegram to Mayor Maybury of Detroit, declining to appoint delegates to the coal strike conference at Detroit.

DETROIT, Oct. 6.—No previously prepared plan of action will be presented for the consideration of the coal strike conference which meets here Thursday morning, by the local committee which has in charge arrangements for the conference. The committee decided today that it would be better to let all plans of action and resolutions originate in the conference.

READING, PA., Oct. 6.—For the week ending at midnight last night, officials of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company say the company sent to market 16,000 tons of washery and mined coal. The company's officials here claim that they have men at work taking out coal at Brookside, Good Spring, Silver Brook and other collieries in Western Schuylkill county.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Oct. 6.—Nine hundred miners employed by the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railway Company at Blocton struck today. The Blue Creek miners to the number of 800 decided this afternoon to go out. This closes all the principal mines of the Tennessee company, where convict labor is not employed.

BOY ACQUITTED OF MURDER.

State Failed to Prove That Child Had Criminal Capacity.

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 6.—Ten-year-old Stephen Chicura of Winton was acquitted today of the murder of 9-year-old Mary Kubias, whom he instantly killed during a children's spat at Winton on June 4, by hitting her on the head with a rivet.

The only defense made by the lad's counsel was that the commonwealth neglected to observe the provision of the law requiring that in the prosecution of children between the ages of 7 and 13 it must be proven that the defendant has criminal capacity. Judge Ferris directed a verdict of not guilty.

POLICE CHASE STUDENTS.

Boys Enjoy Themselves in Kansas City by Smashing Windows.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6.—Two riot calls were sent into police headquarters today to suppress incipient riots started by 200 medical students who smashed the windows in the Medico-Chirurgical college and the Kansas City Medical college. The students were committing the pranks usually incident to the fall festivities. Their work was completed before the police caught up with them. Half a dozen students were hurt, but none seriously.

State Charters Issued.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 6.—Charters were issued today to the following corporations: Greenville Trust Company, Greenville, capital $1,000; Fort Pitt Improvement Company, Pittsburgh, capital $1,000; Euclid Improvement Company, Washington, $30,000; Bowman Real estate Company, McKeesport, $1,200; United States Steel Tile Company, Pittsburgh, $1,000; Pittsburgh Land and Improvement Company, Pittsburgh, $1,000; Butler Trust Company, Butler, $1,000.

New Dip for the Hair.

A feature of all recent hairdressing has been the dip of hair over the forehead, with which a more carefully, careless spirit in the arrangement prevails and a rather different use of the waving irons or tongs.

Under this regime the irons do not so much leave a definite ripple on the hair as lend to it a certain set about the face, making a very becoming frame. Coke Dandruff Cure is much better to use than irons. It not only gives the fluffy effect but adds the luster so much desired, besides eradicating dandruff and keeping the scalp in a healthy condition. This preparation is much preferable, as irons scorch and deaden the hair.

Nothing can be more stupid than a fine abundant growth of hair dragged away from the face (which it was intended to frame), just to form a large and heavy knob at the back of the head.

CORONER IS PROBING PUNXSUTAWNEY DEATH

One of the Victims of Alleged Knockout Drops Is Able to Testify.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PUNXSUTAWNEY, PA., Oct. 6.—The mystery in the death of Agnes Tompkins, the 15-year-old girl who died at the St. Elmo restaurant yesterday morning, the supposed victim of knockout drops, is still unsolved. The coroner's jury reconvened this afternoon, and District Attorney Murray examined witnesses.

Joseph Phillips, an employe of the restaurant, testified that L. M. Miller had insisted upon his taking a drink from the same bottle that Miss Tompkins had drank from, and that he had felt no effects from it until Sunday morning, when he had a queer feeling come over him that he was unable to describe. He attributed it to the whisky. He went immediately to his home, but today recovered without any other bad effects.

Mrs. Hogenloger is still unable to testify before the coroner's jury, but the doctors say she will recover. The Stonebreaker girl, who was in a stupor all day yesterday, was able to testify today, but she was not required to state whether she had drank with Miller. She testified that when Mr. Fisher, the proprietor of the St. Elmo, accused Miller of putting knockout drops in the liquor that the girl drank, he had replied with an oath that he had, and drawing a knife, threatened to cut Fisher's heart out. Fisher corroborated her testimony.

The coroner expects to finish taking testimony tomorrow. All the druggists in town and the physicians who held the autopsy will be among the witnesses. The body of the dead girl was taken to DuBois by her father today, and the funeral services will be held tomorrow.

TWO MEN SHOT.

White Man and Negro Wounded by Flourish of a Revolver.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Two men were badly wounded in a shooting affray at West Pittsburgh, below here, on Saturday night, but only small particulars are obtainable. A colored man and a white laborer got into a dispute, when the white man shot twice at the colored man.

The first shot took effect in the negro's stomach, but the second passed through the left arm of the shooter, as Manager Cunningham of the West Pittsburgh company struck the man's arm and turned the weapon away from the colored man. The latter is in a critical condition and may die. No names have been given out, and, as yet, no arrests are made.

THREE BOYS BITTEN.

Stray Dog Runs Amuck at Freeport and Is Finally Killed.

FREEPORT, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Today a stray dog of the Scotch collie breed wandered into town bespattered with mud and seemingly mad. He went to Putney lane, where he encountered a son of Patrick Kelly. The child was thrown down and seriously bitten on the arm. The dog also attacked Clyde Rowly, who was carrying evening papers, biting him on the hand. The dog then ran to the home of Robert Cooper, where a Cooper boy was attacked and bitten.

Mr. Cooper and others pursued the dog and killed him. All the boys had their injuries dressed by physicians.

To Test Registration Law.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Citizens dissatisfied with the law regarding the registration of voters, have prepared a petition and will present it in court at Lisbon tomorrow asking that the deputy supervisors of election of the county be enjoined from enforcing the registration act here. The petitioners claim that the new law, although general in its terms, is special legislation, as in effect it applies only to this city, and therefore, under recent rulings of the supreme court, it is void.

FARMERS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER NEW WABASH LINE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 6.—There is every indication that the Wabash company will build a standard gauge road between Washington and Waynesburg. Today an enthusiastic meeting of land owners along the proposed route was held at the Van Buren school house, eight miles from this place, and the question of granting rights-of-way was discussed.

Dr. J. W. McKay, editor of the Waynesburg Times, was chairman of the meeting, and prominent Wabash officials were present. The plan for the building of the road through Washington and Greene counties was submitted by James Webster, right-of-way man for the Wabash company, and the farmers were elated with the project. Addresses were made by many of the heavy land owners, and all pledged support to the Wabash company.

The work of securing a right-of-way from Van Buren, where the meeting was held, to this place, is progressing favorably, and officials of the company stated today that with one exception a clear right had been secured from that place to the Jolly school house in South Franklin township. From that point to Washington all but two or three have given the right-of-way, and since the meeting today it has been given out that there will be practically no opposition on the Washington end.

The Wabash is experiencing little difficulty at the Waynesburg end, and officials of the company stated today that they would have the entire right-of-way papers signed by Wednesday. The only obstacle presented is an entrance into Washington. The Wabash had a route planned into this place, but the Pennsylvania company bought all the available land and still has men here ready to do anything to block the construction of the Wabash branch. Wabash officials, however, assert that their road will enter the center of the town.

SHOT A POLICEMAN.

Parkersburg Officer Is Wounded in a Battle With Burglars.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—In a battle between safe crackers and policemen last midnight Officer Samuel Emerick was shot through the shoulder and painfully injured. Officer Lee Brown was missed by a bullet fired so close that it burned his face, and three burglars escaped.

They were detected trying to open J. R. Anderson's safe, and the police rushed in on them. One of them fired and a fusillade ensued, in which it is thought one of the burglars was injured. They then stole Judge L. N. Tavenners' horse and drove away with it, leaving it by the roadside, where it was found today. Several houses were entered, but nothing of value taken.

Gave $5,000 to Hospital.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—John Reis, a general manager of the United States Steel Corporation interests in the New Castle district, has just made a $5,000 donation to the Shenango Valley hospital of this city. It is a state institution and the hospital authorities are trying to raise $20,000 for an extension.

A Woman's Idea of the Perfect Shoe

Dorothy Dodd

In our quarter of a century's experience we have never introduced a shoe to our trade that has met with the universal favor with which the new

has been received. Its sale has been enormous. When we assume the sale of a shoe for the large territory covered by the trade of these stores, we give it our unqualified indorsement, and it has got to possess merit far above the ordinary. That we have taken the exclusive agency of the "Dorothy Dodd" is evidence conclusive that it possesses those qnalities, some of which are mentioned above.

Of course you have read in the magazines of the great $4,000.00 prize proposition offered by the makers of these shoes. Ask for the particulars when you are in—you can get a share of it.

"Dorothy Dodd" Shoes leave the foot remain as nature made it and permits its natural action. Faultless fitting is the keynote of the whole story of the "Dorothy Dodd." It holds the foot firmly around the instep and supports the unsupported arch. It saves fifty per cent of foot fatigue. It preserves the natural outlines of the foot, yet makes it look a full size smaller—

We show an unlimited variety of styles in these famous shoes, meeting the demand of every sort of wear—and any taste can be pleased in leathers, as the lines include all the popular bright and dull finishes.

"Dorothy Dodd" Boots all sell at $3.00 the pair, with the exception of a few styles, which, owing to the extra fine finish and trimming, are sold at $3.50.

WILL MARCH IN PARADE

Automobile Pageant, Dedication of Camp Roosevelt and Fireworks the Spectacular Events of Yesterday at Encampment.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, 601 Fifteenth St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.

As is usual at Grand Army encampments in the east, the old Keystone State again enjoys the prestige for the largest attendance. The veterans and their friends are arriving on every train, and it is conceded that the Pennsylvania division in the parade on Wednesday will be the largest. The department headquarters at the Ebbitt house were thronged today, Commander Scott and Adjt. Gen. Stewart being kept busy welcoming the veterans.

The state headquarters of the department of West Virginia were opened at the Barton hotel this morning by Assistant Adjutant General Smith Risinger of Moundsville, who arrived in the city in advance of Department Commander C. C. Matthews. There are 55 posts in the state and each is represented by a delegation. It is expected that there will be about 800 West Virginia veterans in the city.

The Woman's Relief Corps from West Virginia also has its headquarters at the Barton, and Mrs. M. B. Bartlett, president, was there today seeing that each new arrival was duly registered.

Venerable Ohio General.

Prominent in the Ohio delegation was Henry B. Carrington, now 80 years old, said to be the only surviving regular army colonel of ante-bellum days.

One of the interesting events of the day was the automobile parade, in which many handsomely decorated vehicles participated. The start was made at 10 o'clock from Scott circle, and the line extended for many blocks. Headed by a large automobile containing a band, the procession moved slowly downtown. The procession was reviewed by several cabinet officers and a number of invited guests from the judge's stand erected near the White House.

A spectacular street exhibition was given at 3 o'clock by the Improved Order of Red Men. They marched down Pennsylvania avenue from the capitol to the White House, about 450 strong.

At night the veterans and their friends were entertained by an exhibition of fireworks on the Washington monument grounds. The principal scene represented was the rescue of the diplomatic legation at Peking, in which 300 persons were engaged.

Camp Roosevelt Dedicated.

The only formal proceeding of the day was the dedication at 4:30 this afternoon of Camp Roosevelt, the tent city on the White House grounds which will be the headquarters of the several corps organizations during the week. The ceremonies consisted of addresses by men of national reputation, the chief speech being delivered by Secretary Hay.

The dedication ceremonies were presided over by B. H. Warner, chairman of the citizens' committee of the District of Columbia. District Commissioner B. F. McFarland delivered the address of welcome. John Hay, secretary of state, spoke for the president. When the cheers which succeeded Mr. Hay's speech had subsided Gen. Eli Torrance, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, was introduced to respond to the words of welcome.

Referring to the fact that the ex-soldiers of 1861 had disappointed the predictions of European publicists, that they would be a menace to the peace of the country, he declared that there never had been the least danger.

Good Soldiers and Good Citizens.

"We were good soldiers because we had been good citizens," he said. "We had been made good citizens at our own firesides, and there never has been the least reason to apprehend harm to our national institutions because of our soldiery."

Secretary Moody spoke for Secretary Root, who was detained by official business. The secretary said he had asked Admiral Dewey how he had felt in contemplating the mines and torpedoes in Manila bay the night before attacking the Spanish fleet in the harbor of that city, and that the admiral's reply was he simply had asked himself what Farragut would have done if confronted with similar conditions. The secretary concluded that men inspired by such traditions as these never could turn their backs on the flag.

Brigadier General Jacob H. Smith, who was retired by President Roosevelt last July on account of the severity of his campaign against the natives of Samar, has come to Washington to attend the encampment.

PICKED THE UNIFORM.

The Pittsburgh Huzzars Fast Perfecting Their Organization.

The uniform for the "Pittsburgh Huzzars," the new cavalry organization now being formed in this city, was selected last night at the weekly meeting. These, however, are only the fatigue uniforms. The final glitter and polish of warfare will come with the dress uniforms to be ordered later.

The organization is meeting with gratifying success. A number of prominent men want to become honorary members, and pay a good price to do so, but it has been decided that no members of that kind will be admitted until the first troop has been fully organized, drilled and has shown its worth. The drills will be held Monday nights at the Schenley riding academy, which has been secured for the purpose. The formation of the second of the three troops will be started at once.

SENATOR FORAKER MAY BE A SPEAKER

Chairman Robertson Trying to Get Him Here---Situation in Third District.

Senator J. B. Foraker of Ohio has been invited by A. C. Robertson, the county chairman of the machine, to address a meeting in Pittsburgh. Chairman Robertson realizes that Mr. Foraker, if he speaks in Pittsburgh at all, will devote his remarks to national issues, but nevertheless he has invited him to come, as Mr. Robertson alleges he himself is enthusiastic for the election of the Republican state candidates, and any help that Foraker can lend will be welcome. The Foraker meeting will be held after the meeting on October 24, at which Senator Quay is to preside. It may be held in Allegheny, but that detail will be considered when the consent of the senator to appear has been obtained.

The anomalous situation in the Third district continues. The Citizens party, as represented by William B. Hays, has decided that the Citizens candidates shall run and that neither of the Democratic candidates seated by the Dauphin county court shall be taken up by the Citizens party. John A. Martin, the leader of the victorious Democrats in the Dauphin county court contest, has always been an anti-machine fighter, and he will therefore work for the Citizens county ticket, while advocating the election of the Democratic candidates for the legislature in the Third district.

J. P. O'Neil, candidate for county recorder on the Citizens ticket, still holds the chairmanship of the Republican committee of McKeesport. The machine has made a canvass of the committee and has found that the majority will not consent to remove Mr. O'Neil from the chairmanship. They argue that Mr. O'Neil, in fighting the machine as a Citizens candidate, has not fallen from true Republican principles, as the machine does not represent the Republican party, but merely a spoils faction.

VISITOR LOST $280.

Joseph Bendell Had His Pocket Picked While Seeing the Sights Down Town.

Another robbery was last night added to the long list reported during the past few weeks.

Joseph Bendell of Elizabeth, Pa., a weighmaster in the employ of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, called at Central station last night and reported that he had been robbed of $280.

The man's story is that he came to town yesterday morning, and after attending to some business here, had spent the afternoon in going about town with Joseph Matthews and Thomas Lafferty, residents of Charleroi. They spent most of the afternoon in the saloons in the First ward and later visited in Second and Third avenues. It was after leaving one of these places that Bendell says he missed his pocketbook containing $280. Matthews and Lafferty disappeared shortly before Bendell missed his money, and the police believe they may have had something to do with the robbery. Detective William McElroy was put on the case.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

Reading the violent attacks made upon Mr. Mitchell by the mining operators in their statement to President Roosevelt, one would be apt to gather the impression that the president of the miners' union was simply an agitator. It should not be forgotten that quite recently Mr. Mitchell showed that he is a man of stanch principles and conservative views, and to those characteristics the public owes the fact that the strike was not allowed to extend outside of its original area. At the recent convention at Indianapolis of the National Mine Workers of America, there was a strong disposition in favor of a general strike in aid of the anthracite workers. This disposition Mr. Mitchell energetically and successfully resisted. In his speech to the convention he said: "I have during all my life in the labor movement declared that contracts mutually made should during their life be kept inviolate, and while at times it may appear to the superficial observer or to those immediately concerned that advantage could be gained by setting agreements aside, such advantage, if gained, would in the very nature of things be temporary, and would ultimately result in disaster, because a disregard of contracts strikes at the very vitals of organized labor. The effect of such action would be to destroy confidence, to array in open hostility to our cause all forces of society, and to crystallize public sentiment in opposition to our movement."

Other prominent labor leaders also exerted a powerful conservative influence. President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor offered to send 20 organizers into the bituminous field to preach the inviolability of contracts. Henry White, grand secretary of the United Garment Workers of America, declared: "The desperate expedient of a general strike every one would regard as sheer madness, because it would only intensify the distress and impose great suffering upon non-combatants without rendering any direct aid to those now involved." In fact the influence of prominent labor leaders is now generally exerted against sympathetic strikes and in favor of strict fulfillment of contracts. On this ground President Gompers broke a strike of brewers in Milwaukee, insisting that the men go back to work. For the same reason Herman Lillien, the business agent of the Chicago Hod Carriers' union, fought a strike ordered by the union and induced the men to return to work. Last fall, when a local union of longshoremen at Buffalo went on strike in violation of agreements, President Daniel Keefe of the International Longshoremen's association revoked the charter of the local union, and when he could not get enough union men to fill their places, got together non-union men to break the strike.

Although the anthracite coal operators in the Washington conference refused to accede to any course involving recognition of the miners' union or Mr. Mitchell's representative position, the coal operators of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois have found it to their advantage to do so. Bituminous coal mining is carried on under interstate agreements, arranged between operators' associations and the United Mine Workers. This adjustment of interests was not reached until after many strikes and frequent outbreaks of disorder, but under it the bituminous fields have enjoyed a quiet unknown before, and present conditions are far superior to what they have been in the past. In view of the fact that the miners' organization dominates the labor supply the position of the anthracite operators is not sensible, and in view of the disturbance it provokes, it is not wise.

The merits of the controversy between the anthracite operators and the miners have been lost sight of in the tremendous issues as regards the public welfare which have been raised by the protracted struggle. It may, therefore, be well to recall that an investigation made by the United States commissioner of labor, Carroll D. Wright, resulted in recommendations implying that there were grievances which should be redressed. He specially referred to the need of reforms in the method of weighing coal, which is one of the points urged by the miners' union. Mr. Wright's report recommended that the miners in the anthracite region form an independent union, making it by incorporation financially responsible for its agreements, and thus putting it into a position to enter into binding contracts with the mine owners. Then a joint committee should be formed to investigate grievances and arrive at remedies by mutual agreement. Mr. Wright's suggestions look forward to a state of affairs much like that which exists in the bituminous fields, providing for the settlement of differences by conference.

One phase of the disorder prevailing in the anthracite region is of a sort that invites and authorizes the action of the federal government, even if state authority fails to call for it or should even oppose it. We refer to the tearing up of railroad tracks and obstruction of the movement of trains. Outrages of this nature in the Pullman strike caused President Cleveland to send the regular troops to Chicago in spite of Gov. Altgeld's angry protests. Recent dispatches report the blowing up by dynamite of a section of track on the Silver Creek branch of the Philadelphia & Reading road and of an attempt to tear up the New Jersey Central tracks. This is close to the line of federal authority, which is absolute as regards interstate commerce and the transmission of the mails. And President Roosevelt is not the man to hesitate a moment when he has decided that the time has arrived when the national government must act.

Good advice is given by the chairman and secretary of the Union party organization in Cambria county, namely, to vote the entire Republican ticket. We know nothing of the details of the alleged duplicity of the Democratic politicians in Cambria leading up to this climax, but the conclusion is the wisest that could have been reached. As a matter of fact Union party voters throughout the state are likely to take the same course after mature consideration and vote for Pennypacker and Brown, whatever the result may be of the contention in the Dauphin county court.

A PLAIN ISSUE.

President Roosevelt is not the sort of man who turns back when he has put his hand to the plow and the failure to reach an agreement at the conference called by him has simply acted as an incentive to further and more energetic effort. The news dispatches announce that communications are being sent out from the White House and some effect may soon be expected to appear.

The conference, although a disappointment in immediate results, was successful in giving sharp definition to an issue, prompt settlement of which will decide the conflict. The operators asserted their ability to mine coal if given protection against violence. "We can mine coal to meet the public wants," said President Baer. The refusal to treat with President Mitchell was put upon the ground that "he has no right to come from Illinois to dictate terms on the acceptance of which anarchy and crime shall cease in Pennsylvania." In his reply Mr. Mitchell said: "I have admitted on more than one occasion that there has been some lawlessness, but I will say that a large portion of such lawlessness has been provoked by criminals, who have been brought into the anthracite regions to recruit the coal and iron police." It will be seen that while differing as to the cause both sides agree upon the fact that lawlessness exists.

This makes the duty of public authority perfectly clear. The whole power of the state must be exerted to suppress lawlessness. With a coal famine threatening the great cities of the east on the verge of winter, it is no time for half-way measures. Gov. Stone has decided to call out the entire national guard of Pennsylvania and cover the whole area of disturbance with troops so as to insure protection to every man who wants to work.

If now the operators do not offer such terms as will procure for them enough men "to mine coal to meet the public wants," it will be the plain duty of public authority to proceed against them for the abuse, non-use and misuse of their franchises. While it is not the practice of the courts to appoint receivers for corporations, except in cases of insolvency yet the power is not so limited and its exercise would not be doubtful in such an emergency. In every way the responsibility was hard up against Gov. Stone. He has met it as he should.

DIAMOND STREET WIDENING.

It would seem incredible that the widening of Diamond street should be abandoned, and the public will be slow to believe that the proposal to repeal the ordinance is seriously meant. Still it would be a relief to all who have at heart the development and progress of Pittsburgh if the committee to whom the matter was referred would promptly give an emphatic negative.

The grounds assigned in support of the movement have more the look of petulance than of sober consideration of municipal interests. It appears that some resentment has been excited because certain property owners have filed exceptions to the viewers' awards, so that there is a feeling that if these owners set such great value upon their alley frontage they might as well be permitted to keep their alley. But this is not a proper spirit in which to deal with the subject. Exceptions were to have been expected. They are an inevitable incident of the legal proceedings to effect any great improvement and simply must be endured.

There can be no question about the need of more thoroughfares in the down-town district. This necessity impresses itself upon every beholder. To repeal the Diamond street ordinance, after years of effort, would be to take a long step backward upon a vital matter. Pittsburgh ought, instead, to be going forward. Whatever the difficulties or the obstruction which may be encountered the widening of Diamond street should be put through, and the committee on public works by its action in the matter should make it known that this is a fixed determination.

HALL CAN BE BEATEN.

Republicans of the Thirty-eighth senatorial district owe it to themselves and to the party to put a strong candidate in the field in place of E. M. Wilson of Clarion, who has withdrawn from the ticket. Mr. Wilson professed a disbelief in his ability to win at the election in November. In spite of his feelings on the subject, while the effort to elect a Republican to the state senate from the district means an up-hill contest from the start, success is not the absolutely hopeless thing that Mr. Wilson seems to think it. The Thirty-eighth district is composed of Cameron, Clarion, Elk and Forest counties. In 1898 it gave A. M. Neely, the present state senator, a majority of 1,390. His own county of Clarion gave him a majority of 882, and Elk county gave him 1,146, a majority in the two counties of 2,028, which was cut down 638 by the votes of Cameron and Forest. At the same election the Democratic candidate for governor, the Hon. George A. Jenks, a resident of Clearfield county, in the same congressional district as Clarion, Forest and Elk counties, received but 924 plurality in the senatorial district. In the presidential election of 1896, preceding this senatorial election by two years, the district gave McKinley and Hobart a plurality of 299, and at the presidential election of 1900, two years after Neely's election to the senate, it gave McKinley and Roosevelt 731 plurality. This is sufficient proof that the Thirty-eighth senatorial district is not for Republicans, the thing Mr. Bryan terms "the enemy's country."

The Democratic nominee for the state senate in the Thirty-eighth district is the Hon. J. K. P. Hall of Elk county, who has controlled the political fortunes of Elk for many years, who has been a large factor in its material prosperity and who is representing the Twenty-eighth congressional district (former apportionment). He is now serving his second term. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress in November, 1898, by a plurality of 3,341 over W. C. Arnold, Republican. Two years later he was opposed by Col. A. A. Clearwater of his own county, and his plurality on this occasion was cut down to 621. Col. Clearwater made the fight almost unaided, the national Republican congressional campaign committee and other leaders being misled by Hall's large plurality in 1898 to believe that a Republican had no chance in the district and that effort there would be effort wasted. It is clear now that had the Republican nominee been given assistance that would have enabled him to keep a closer watch on the workings of the Hall machinery in Elk county he would have been elected, for it was in Elk that Hall made his killing. Hall's beggarly plurality of 621 was obtained in a total vote of 38,623. Elk gave him 1,585 plurality; the four other counties in the district went against him nearly 1,000.

If it was possible to cut Hall's congressional plurality nearly 3,000 between elections and bring him to the verge of defeat, it is by no means impossible to defeat his present effort to reach the state senate. The attempt ought to be made.

THE ONLY OPEN COURSE.

Present indications are that party lines will be drawn on the polytechnic school site. It is reported that members of the committee of councils belonging to the Citizens party will submit a report in favor of using the $360,000 now in the treasury to purchase an 11-acre tract as an addition to Schenley park, and in consideration of that fact using a part of the present park area as a site for the school. The old organization members will favor a sufficient appropriation to purchase one of the tracts of land outside of the park which have been optioned.

We think it a mistake to allow party politics to intrude. The matter is a business proposition and when the situation is squarely met it will be seen that there is really no alternative. Whatever be the merits of the Schenley park proposal—and they were such as to win the approval of distinguished friends and supporters of the polytechnic school when first presented—it is now barred out by the manifest fact that Mr. Carnegie's offer is conditioned upon the purchase of a tract of ground for the special purpose. The attitude of Mr. Carnegie's representatives, who are presumably in communication with him, leave no doubt upon this point.

The case then resolves itself into this—the city must buy a site for the school or lose the millions Mr. Carnegie offers for its endowment. Is there really anything to do but to comply? The school will be of immense public benefit in many ways. It will provide opportunities to the youth of Pittsburgh of greatest value, and it will constitute a direct contribution to the wealth and importance of Pittsburgh that amply justifies the public expenditure proposed. As to the question of legality councils have been advised from the proper quarter that they have the necessary authority to make the appropriation, and the sensible thing to do under the circumstances is to go ahead and make the appropriation.

DEWET'S SIMPLE FAITH.

Gen. DeWet, speaking at Brussels, gave utterance to a Boer sentiment that augurs well for the future peace and progress of South Africa. The Boer generals were given an enthusiastic reception at the Belgian capital, great crowds lining the streets to cheer them. Gen. DeWet was surprised and naturally the thought came to him that if these throngs had shown their sympathy during the war it might have ended differently.

From the hotel balcony he acknowledged the demonstration and spoke his simple thought. He wondered that the feeling in Europe had not caused intervention and explained it by resort to Boer fatalism. "It was not to be," he said. "God willed we should lose our independence." Then he pledged himself again to his new allegiance and declared his purpose to strive for the progress of his country under English government.

When a man like DeWet, who fought so fiercely and resourcefully for independence, accepts the result of the conflict, it is evidence that the Boers are fully reconciled to the inevitable. It is a promise that the energy displayed in self-defense will be diverted to useful progress. And it is likely to appear that the richest prize won by Great Britain is not a wonderful gold territory, but a loyal, steadfast people.

Readers of Mark Twain's novel, "Puddenhead Wilson," will remember that the climax of the story turns on the evidence of finger marks. Evidence of the kind convicted a burglar in a southern court recently. He had made his entry through a window whose sill had been freshly painted. He left a plain imprint of his thumb. This led to his detection and a seven-year sentence was the penalty of being so careless with fresh paint. The minute lines and ridges on the finger tips and particularly the ball of the thumb constitute an autograph signature which cannot be forged and which has a peculiar pattern for each individual. Since 1894 the English police have preserved finger print records of criminals as a certain means of future identification. A similar method of authenticating signatures to important documents has existed for ages in the east, and in India today the use of thumb marks as signatures is a part of the postal order system adopted by the British postoffice authorities as a safeguard against forgery.

Dramatist Gilbert in London has joined actively in the demand for legal regulation of automobiling. He did not take this view until he had himself run down a clergyman. Then he felt the necessity for legal restriction to counteract the exhilaration of the sport. It is, indeed, high time that legal restriction be imposed upon motoring, not to deprive the sport of all zest, but to protect motorists and the public from unnecessary damages.

Congressman Acheson's decision to stand firm is the wisest he could have reached. If his nomination is not of a character to pass the Dauphin county court he could hardly have improved matters much by a new deal. It will be unfortunate, indeed, if his nomination is not upheld, for it is important that his district should be represented by an active Republican in the next house as well as in this.

One of the latest New York murderers, evidently having little faith in the skill of the police and detectives, immediately took himself and a correct story of his crime to the nearest police station.

Judge Pennypacker not only knows Pennsylvania history pretty well but he seems also to know how to make history in the dignified revelation he is affording of the suitableness of his candidacy.

The impression seems to be growing stronger every day in New York Democratic circles that the Hon. David B. Hill got back into party harness just in time to make a mess of things.

In the Pittsburgh region the problem of keeping warm it not as serious as elsewhere. There is an ample supply of natural gas and bituminous coal for the Pittsburgh fireplaces.

LADY SOMERSET COMES FOR REST

She Will Also Preside at National Convention W. C. T. U. at Portland.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 6.

A woman came to town today whose name is associated with temperance work and efforts for the improvement of her sex from one end of the world to the other. She arrived on the steamer Minneapolis from England. Her name is Lady Henry Somerset. Pittsburghers know her, for she has made addresses to them in their own city and has many personal friends in Pittsburgh in all classes. Lady Henry says she has come over partly for rest but primarily to preside at the convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance union in Portland, Me. Although she says she needs rest, she did not look it as she stepped jauntily down the gangplank from the big liner this morning. She was welcomed by a number of friends, and as she smilingly responded, she looked eminently fit. How was Lady Henry dressed? Well, she wore a tailored suit of black broadcloth with a blouse of white Irish point lace. Around her neck was a string of big pearls, while her ears were decorated with two pearls as large as peas, set off with diamonds. A collar of minever, which was the prescribed fur for the coronation, made a dainty nest for her pretty chin, and her hat was of black and white camel's hair cloth. She spoke enthusiastically of the progress of temperance work in England and of the homes for inebriate women in which she is specially interested. She will depart for Montreal and Quebec tomorrow, paying a short visit to Niagara on her way, and will deliver addresses of an informal nature in Quebec before going to Portland. After the convention there Lady Henry will come back to New York for a few days, and then, after going to Washington to see friends, will sail for home. She did not express any intention of visiting Pittsburgh, but there is no telling what she might do if the women of that city were to exercise their powers of persuasion.

Herbert Proud of His Orchestra.

Victor Herbert has a proper appreciation of the quality of the Pittsburgh orchestra. He has shown that many times, but he never did it more gracefully than when he remarked the other day in this city that he is "at the head of the best permanent orchestra in the land—that of Pittsburgh."

Huge Checks for Taxes.

Collecting taxes in New York is a weighty proceeding, judging by the amounts disbursed by some of the multi-millionaires of the city. The Vanderbilts today gave a check for $800,000 for taxes. This included taxes on New York Central and personal property. It was the largest check handed in. The Astors did pretty well, with $350,000, as did the Aldridge estate, with $350,000; August Belmont, with $100,000, and John D. and Thomas Crimmins, with $100,000. This was the opening day on which taxes could be paid, and there was a rush to the office of the receiver of taxes, with several hundred persons in line before the doors were opened, because there is a discount of 6 per cent on all taxes paid before November 1, and everyone wants to get in on the ground floor.

Burr McIntosh's Exhibit.

The womans' exhibition at Madison Square garden opened this evening, with great eclat. There was a tremendous attendance and the garden was jammed all evening. Among the notable exhibits was that by Burr McIntosh, the well-known Pittsburgher, who shows works of art in photography that have already created a sensation. Burr is as good a photographer as he is an actor, and withal is one of the most popular men about town in the metropolis.

Law Laid Down for Freshmen.

Things are to be a bit restricted for freshmen at Columbia university this year, unless the new men can fight the sopomores to a standstill. This was the opening of the school year and pamphlets were circulated about the campus and grounds, which laid down these rules for freshmen, passed by the board of student managers and ratified by all the classes: "Freshmen must not smoke pipes unless they win in two out of three of the cane sprees, and then only after February 22 of the year following. They must not carry canes unless they win in the tug-of-war, and then only after February 22 of the year following. They must keep off the grass plots on the campus. They must not sit on the steps or on the ledges of the library. They must not enter the college tavern except in company with an upper classman. They must not wear golf trousers. They must not wear caps bearing 'prep school insignia.' The decision of the upper classmen in regard to under class matters shall be final."

Butler's University Degree Idea.

Much interest is evinced in the suggestion of President Butler of Columbia university in his first annual report, that the institution grant the degree of Bachelor of Arts after a two-years' course. President Butler gives his reasons for the suggestion fully, the main point being that it will make the course of study at Columbia just the length that may be desired by students who may have different purposes in life. In other words, he wants to do away with iron-bound rules for the length of residence. On its face, it is considered that President Butler has made a sensible suggestion and one which, most likely, will be followed.

New Animals for Bronx Zoo.

Having spent $17,000 on animals for the zoological gardens at Bronx park, W. T. Hornaday, the veteran naturalist, came back from Europe today well satisfied with his work. He has brought so many different kinds of animals, including little Margaret Carnegie's $1,500 lion, that the zoo will be better worth visiting than ever. Pittsburghers spending a day or two in New York should go up to the Bronx, if only to see how the collection compares with that in their own Highland park.

Uneasiness About Fuel Supply.

Amid the whirr and turmoil of general news of all kinds one hears the steady hum of discussion on the coal situation. New York is getting pretty badly scared over the absence of coal and unless there is relief from anxiety soon something surely will break loose. The announcement that the gas companies will not furnish gas for cooking is one of the worst shocks in connection with the trouble we have had yet.

Theatrical Openings.

This was a busy night in the theatrical opening way. Henrietta Crosman, in "The Sword of the King," at Wallack's; Ethel Barrymore, in "Carrots" and "A Country Mouse," the Savoy; Weedon Grossmith and his company, at the new Princess, in "The Night of the Party," and at the New York, Hagenbeck's trained animals. Those were the new things for this evening. Tomorrow night the new production, "Ninety and Nine," will be seen at the Academy of Music.

Lover's Kiss a Breach of the Peace.

Kissing in a public park shocked the authorities of Newark, N. J., and the young man and young woman who took part in the tender incident paid $10 apiece in court today. "Breach of the peace" the police of Newark call it. Not if the girl did not object and she did not in this instance, we should think.

Bold Trunk Thieves Blocked.

Sneak thieves in this city have been working a slick game in the way of stealing trunks for some time, but have been laid by the heels at last. They operated at the ferry house at the foot of East Thirty-fourth street. It is there that passengers of the Long Island railroad are brought into Manhattan. The thieves watch for the wealthy persons whose trunks was sent over on the boats, and presented themselves at the ferry house in the guise of porters, wearing caps on which were inscribed the names of prominent hotels. Very simple game, you see. They just took the trunks they thought were valuable and drove away with them. One trunk worth $800, and another containing property valued at $565, were stolen a few days ago. The police think they have the ringleader, who says he is John Holt, and who, moreover, has offered to make a full confession, it is said.

W. K. Vanderbilt to Build a Mansion.

William K. Vanderbilt, who ran over from Europe a week or so ago, has bought the site for a new city home since he has been in New York. It is announced that he has become owner of a plot on the north side of Fifty-first street, 115 feet west of Madison avenue, a little more than 100 by 82 feet, on which he will build a mansion to cost about $400,000. This indicates that he will live in New York more than he has in the last ten years. His New York home now is at No. 25 East Fifty-seventh street.

Foul Air Photographed.

Commissioner Woodbury of the street-cleaning department, who asked for an increase of nearly $500,000 in his appropriation for the year, has an original way of showing his necessities. At the hearing before Controller Grout of the heads of departments, to discuss their appropriations, today, Mr. Woodbury produced photographs of the air in various parts of the city. Some were laden with germs and filled with bacteria. In one ward, the Tenth, the commissioner said every day 18 tons of garbage are thrown from windows, and his men have to pick it up and carry it away. He said he would like to have, for the expenses of his department for the ensuing fiscal year, the neat little sum of $5,603,113. In spite of his realistic photographs, the chances are that the amount will be considerably shaved down before it is approved by the controller. Every other municipal department will have a similar experience. Controller Grout thinks all are flying too high with taxpayers' money.

Fear of Coal Famine Riots.

An indication of the dangerous unrest promoted by the scarcity of coal in this city, is the disposition of merchants to hide the fact that they ever deal in the commodity. One business man who has been in the habit of exhibiting pockets, each with different sizes of anthracite, in his store window, took them all out today. Then he had the words, "Dealer in Coal," scraped off his windows. He said he did not want his place to be connected with the coal business in the thoughts of the people just now. "I don't want a wrecked store," he added, grimly.

Piano Polishers on Strike.

Rubbers and polishers of pianos are on a strike in New York. There are 700 or 800 of them. They want fewer hours of work and increase of pay of 10 per cent. There have been sorties and melees, and cries of "scab," with all the rest of the amenities that usually attend a strike, and, as a consequence, some of the strikers have got into court more than once. One of them was fined $10 today for interfering with a boy who wanted to go to work. Meanwhile, the strike goes on.

McAdoo to Lecture on Ireland.

The Irish question is gaining strength in New York. William McAdoo will lecture tomorrow night before the Irish club in this city on the condition of Ireland and the duty of Irishmen in this country. From the description of the lecture given in advance, probably it will be an all-around talk on whatever is likely to please his hearers. Mr. McAdoo is a former ex-secretary of the navy, as Pittsburghers will recall.

Valuable St. Bernards.

Among the special entries for the exhibition of the Ladies' Kennel association in Madison Square garden on October 21, will be the famous Shenbrook St. Bernards. They are said to be the most valuable dogs in America. They are the eight dogs for which Frank Gould paid $30,000 last week. There will be several entries from Pittsburgh, as there are always for this particular exhibition.

Kicked Her Shoulder Out of Joint.

One of the high kickers of a spectacular show, soon to be put on in a theater here, kicked a little too high last night and dislocated her shoulder. She was making an extra high kick, when her foot slipped. The press agent says she will be ready for the opening performance, however. GEORGE C. JENKS.

Great Benefactor and Home Town.

There was once a man who had a grudge against the people of a certain town. They had treated him shamefully when he was a poor boy and made it necessary for him to go elsewhere to earn a living.

In time he became a captain of industry and had so much money that he couldn't understand why the poor were so unhappy. He still hated the people who had forced him to amount to something, and, his dearest wish was to get revenge. One day a scheme suddenly suggested itself to him. He sat down in his richly furnished library and laughed softly to himself as he thought about it.

"I shall punish them thrice over," he said, "and their payment of the debt they owe to me shall bear hard upon them for a long time."

Then he announced that he would give the town from which he had been driven $750,000 for an art gallery, provided the citizens would pledge themselves to give twice as much more within a given number of years. The offer was too good to be passed over, and the people pledged themselves. Hence it was proclaimed that the captain of industry had given the money to the city which had been the home of his unhappy boyhood as a token of his love for the dear old place and his pride in its institutions, and the people are still saving and scraping and worrying and having all kinds of trouble in their efforts to keep the great benefactor's benefaction from being withdrawn.

Moral—No wonder some philanthropists feel so good that they can hardly keep from laughing out loud.

ANSWER TO CORRESPONDENT.

West Homestead—Principal has right to send child home because not vaccinated, according to Judge Frazer's ruling, but parent cannot then be fined for non-attendance of child. It is up to the board of health to enforce vaccination law. If vaccination is enforced by the board then the child must attend school under penalties of the compulsory school law.

PERSONALS.

C. H. Halcomb, former president of the Crucible Steel Company of America, is not yet ready to launch a crucible steel concern of his own. He is here with Mrs. Halcomb. At the Hotel Schenley last night he said: "I can say nothing about this project because there is nothing to tell." His attention was called to the fact that a report from Buffalo, some time ago, said that the new Halcomb plant was to be located near there, and that options had been secured for a site. "Yes, I noticed that report; wonder where it came from?" He remarked that his present visit to Pittsburgh for only a few days is to arrange to give up possession of his residence in Ridge avenue, Allegheny, after which he and Mrs. Halcomb will return for a short time to the Jersey shore, where they have spent the summer, and then they expect to take up their residence in New York for the winter. Asked if there were any chance of his locating his new steel venture in or near Pittsburgh, he said: "I have just said that I am moving my home from here, and you can probably reach a conclusion from that."

Thomas B. DeArmit, formerly general manager of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company and manager of the coal mining properties of the Sharon Steel Company, with headquarters at Grove City, was in Pittsburgh yesterday. Mr. DeArmit, who is one of the best known soft coal men in the country, was anxious about the strike. "It is thoroughly deplorable and may have very bad consequences in arousing a dangerous sentiment," he said. Of the Sharon Steel Company's mining plant he said: "We have five mines with a vein running from four to five and one-half feet in thickness. It serves admirably, both as a steam and as a coking coal. We find it very difficult to obtain sufficient cars."

James A. Smith, Jr., has been placed at the head of the Pittsburgh sales department of the American Sheet Steel Company, vice F. A. Milliken, resigned. Mr. Smith is a former Pittsburgher, being the son of James A. Smith, the former secretary, treasurer and auditor of the Pittsburgh Junction railroad, who is now supervisor of traveling auditors of the Baltimoe & Ohio railroad, with headquarters at Baltimore. James A. Smith, Jr., has had a rapid rise in the sheet company. He came here from an important position in the purchasing department at New York.

George Westinghouse, head of the many Westinghouse industries in Pittsburgh, Great Britain and Europe, is in Pittsburgh making an inspection of plants. He will attend the annual meeting of the Westinghouse Airbrake Company today, and after his return to New York it is understood that he will soon leave for another trip abroad.

Francis J. Torrance, president of the state board of charities, left for Philadelphia last night on the fast line. He goes to attend a meeting of the board, investigating the alleged misdoings of the officials of the Eastern penitentiary. The first hearing in this case was held in Pittsburgh Saturday, as told in The Sunday Gazette.

Mark Hirsh, assistant manager of the American Window Glass Company factory at Kane, Pa., has resigned, to take up a gold and silver mine enterprise, with headquarters at Ontario, Can.

A TIME OF JOY IN THE SANCTUM

At This Season Things Are Coming the Country Editor's Way.

Autumn is the season of cheer for the country editor, for it is then that samples of the crops are brought into the sanctum and presented to the newspaper man. Things have recently been coming in the direction of the editor of the Grafton (W. Va.) Sentinel, and he makes happy acknowledgement as follows:

C. H. McCafferty of the West Side, who is becoming a leader of the county in floriculture, presented the Sentinel office, last Saturday evening, with quite a large and handsome bouquet of flowers, gathered from his own garden. Mr. McCafferty will make a specialty this year of bulbs of every description. He says he is prepared to furnish for a while flowers in color for balls, parties, operas, etc.

The thanks of the entire office force is due Dr. Ernest L. Love for the second basket of fine large apples, raised on the gentleman's farm at Lesmallnston, and presented to the Sentinel Monday of this week. The fruit contained a flavor and firmness seldom found in apples raised in this section this season, and the doctor is reasonably proud of the production of his orchards at a time when so many have failed. The Sentinel is also proud, and will welcome the genial doctor any day, and especially when he brings a basket laden in like manner to that left here Monday.

Friday, September 26, was the birthday of George H. Peer of Fetterman, and he celebrated the occasion by bringing the editor a fine, large pumpkin, beside subscribing for the paper for one year. This is the new twentieth century way of celebrating anniversaries, so all others will please take notice. Mr. Peer has been selected as night watchman at the Joyce brick plant at Fetterman, and says that the plant is the finest that money could put in and that it will turn out an elegant grade of brick.

Messrs. Loar & Poe, the Main street merchants, handed the editor a potato recently that was grown on the farm of W. H. Thomas at Knottsville, and which tipped the town scales at one pound and five ounces. Ben Poe says that this is the biggest potato that Mr. Thomas has ever raised, and is also the biggest he ever will raise. We don't know about this, but we are assured of the fact that if every farmer in the country would present the Sentinel with a potato the size of this one, we wouldn't be potatoless for a year to come.

NEW CRUSADE ALREADY FELT

TWO PLACES CLOSED

Proprietors Did Not Wait for Letters—Police Glad of Aid. Alderman Connor Wants Work to Begin in Fifth Ward.

The plans proposed by the Catholic Total Abstinence union for the closing of the speakeasies have met the approval of the police and aldermen in many wards where much illegal liquor traffic is conducted. Superintendent McAleese has thanked the members of the union for their offer of co-operation in his crusade and declared that the ward constables could do much toward singling out the speakeasies in their bailiwicks and would be able to keep them closed.

"The people of St. Agnes' parish have developed a practical scheme," said Alderman James R. Connor of the Fifth ward "and personal letters from the officers of the union and from the parish priest should be effectual in preventing some of the proprietors from continuing their trade.

"The ward constables should have information of all speakeasies when the return is made to quarter sessions court. The people also have the same privilege, and can inform on the speakeasy proprietors just as they tell the court of a violation of the liquor laws by a saloonkeeper. When license court is in session, many persons avail themselves of this opportunity, and among the laymen are many sleuths who guard the saloons with watch-dog tenacity.

"The Fifth ward would be a good place to begin," continued Alderman Connor. "The volunteer crusader, as well as the constable, would have plenty to do, and if the society is looking for a field that would produce fruitful results, let no one overlook the Fifth. A place where the speakeasy is a deep-rooted institution is just the spot for the crusader to start in. If he has success there, the proprietors in other districts with a less sure footing will take the hint and quit of their own sweet will."

The Fourteenth ward speakeasy proprietors were startled by the business-like methods undertaken Sunday by the Total Abstinence union of St. Agnes' parish. Yesterday two of the houses were said to have closed voluntarily, without waiting on the letters to be sent them by the officers of the union. A score of houses remain, and they are expected to be placed under the ban within a fortnight.

AMERICAN GENERALS SUMMONED TO COURT

Charged With Fast Automobile Driving by English Policemen—To Make No Defense.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Gen. Corbin, Gen. Young and John W. Gates have had an unpleasant experience with the English motoring laws. Both on Saturday and Sunday they were driving a car which was stopped by the police, who summoned the Americans for exceeding 12 miles an hour. The car in each instance was a fast, new vehicle, just purchased by Sir Thomas Lipton, who had lent it to Mr. Gates to show the generals around the country.

On Saturday the party was driving through Windsor when a policeman arrested the chauffeur and took the names and addresses of Mr. Gates and Gen. Young, who were the occupants of the car, and Sunday the same party, with Gen. Corbin, was nearing Brighton when a policeman stepped out of a hedge and stopped the car.

When the summonses are called up no defense will be made, for, as one of the Americans said, "The police have got you at their mercy. You may be morally sure that you were not driving at over the speed limit, but that is ineffective against the police, with their stop-watches."

COMET IS VISIBLE TO THE NAKED EYE

NEW CELESTIAL VISITOR CAN BE SEEN HERE.

Was Recently Discovered by Prof. Perrine—Brashear Tells Where to Find It.

A new celestial visitor is to be seen in Pittsburgh. It is the new Perrine comet, recently discovered by Prof. Perrine, of the Lick observatory. It may be seen any night in the skies with the aid of a common telescope or field glass.

Ever since the reported discovery Prof. John A. Brashear, acting chancellor of the Western University of Pennsylvania, has been in search of the comet. Prof. Brashear has located it, and in the following interview tells the people of Pittsburgh where it may be found:

"The new comet discovered by Prof. Perrine of the Lick observatory on September 1, and which at the time was a very faint telescopic object, is now bright enough to be seen with the unaided vision.

"It is moving rapidly to ard the west, and in the course of five or six weeks will be lost in the light of the setting sun.

"The comet was readily found last night, and is most fortunately situated in a part of the heavens the least obscured in our Pittsburgh sky.

"About 8:30 o'clock the constellation of Cygnus is almost in the zenith, i. e., overhead; at least the northeastern part of the constellation is so situated.

"Almost anyone knows the great cross in this constellation, the bright star at the head of which is one of the second magnitude and is nearest Cassiopea's chair.

"Drawing a line through the three stars forming the upright of the cross the new comet will be found tonight about three degrees northeast of the bright star Alpha Cygnus, the one conspicuous star at the upper end of the cross.

"Quite a number of interesting photographs of the new comet have been taken at the Lick observatory, which show the development of the cometary structure in a way difficult to determine with the eye at the telescope, but now it is visible to the naked eye and quite plainly seen in a field or spy glass.

"The delicate corona surrounding the star-like nucleus is also readily observed, and a faint tail of about a degree in length is unmistakable to the trained observer.

"This is the first comet visible to the eye that has appeared in the heavens for a long period.

"It looks more like a little patch of nebula than a comet. It is moving quite rapidly westward, and by the end of the month will be in the constellation of Ophiucus, very nearly crossing the track of Giacobini's comet."

W. J. BRYAN'S REMEDY.

He Asks the President to Summon Congress to Enact Kansas City Platform Measures.

LINCOLN, NEB., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—W. J. Bryan today issued an appeal to President Roosevelt to call a special session of congress for the settlement of the coal strike by putting in force the provisions of the Democratic platform made at Kansas City.

He compliments the president for calling a conference of mine owners at the White House, and says the executive well and forcibly presented the people's side in his statement. He says the president deserves and should receive commendation for his efforts to save the people from the horrors of a fuel famine, and asks what he will do now. Mr. Bryan says:

"If, as is alleged, the mine owners have entered into an agreement to fix prices and production in violation of the anti-trust law, let him enforce the law, not merely the injunction part, but the criminal part also. If present laws are not sufficient, let him call congress together and enact new laws. The emergency is sufficient to justify it."

Former Sharon Man Murdered.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Information was received today from Victor, Col., that Richard Lloyd was shot and killed by his wife in a fit of jealous rage, and that she then committed suicide. Lloyd was for many years a prominent citizen of this place and a member of the local lodge of Odd Fellows.

MANY MEETINGS ARE ANNOUNCED

ALL THREE PARTIES WAGING A HOT CAMPAIGN.

Citizens and Democrats Have Schedule Almost Completed. Gathering Postponed.

The campaign committees at the Citizens, Democratic and machine headquarters have been busy for some time arranging for political meetings all over the county. The Citizens and the Democrats have made nearly all their arrangements, but some details still remain to be considered. The machine yesterday announced a long list of meetings to be held.

The machine has postponed the colored mass meeting that was to be held last night in the machine auditorium in Sixth avenue, and it will take place on Thursday instead. The object of the postponement is clearly shown.

The Citizens party colored voters hold a meeting on that evening in Turner hall in Forbes street, and by offering a counter attraction at the auditorium it is hoped that the attendance at the Citizens meeting will be reduced.

The ballot reform party will hold a meeting in Old City hall on Saturday evening. One of the speakers will be George J. Churchill, the alleged Democrat, who tried to obtain a Democratic and then a Citizens nomination for the legislature, and when he couldn't get it cast in his lot with the machine.

Citizens Turned Out.

The negroes of Sewickley held a Citizens party meeting in the Sewickley A. M. E. church last night. Baldwin township voters turned out in large numbers to attend a Citizens meeting at which several candidates for office spoke. A meeting was also held in the Tenth ward, Allegheny.

Citizens party meetings will be held tonight in Natrona and the Thirty-fifth ward, Pittsburgh. There will be meetings in Dickson's hall, Swissvale, on Wednesday; in Bryan's hall, Homestead, and in the Braddock Citizens headquarters.

Democratic mass meetings are scheduled to be held almost nightly all over the county. On Friday night meetings will be held in White's hall, Carnegie; in the town hall, Sharpsburg, and in the Y. M. I. hall, McKeesport. On Saturday evening, October 18, a Democratic meeting will assemble in the Wickersham school, Pittsburgh. Citizens meetings will be conducted on Thursday night, this week, in the First, Eleventh and Fourteenth wards, Allegheny. A Citizens meeting was held in the Tenth ward, Allegheny, last night.

Many Machine Dates.

Machine meetings will be held tonight in the public school building at the head of the South Twenty-second street building; in the Third district of Wilmerding; on Saturday, October 18, in the Avenue school building, Brackenridge; on October 16 in the Moorhead school building, Eleventh ward; on October 16 at Whittaker; on October 13 in the German Singing society's hall in Willock; on October 10 in Odd Fellows' hall, South Twenty-second street, and in the Martin school building, Aleppo township; on October 23 in Turner hall, Thirty-first ward; on October 13 in Wylie hall, Elizabeth; on October 21 in the East End hotel; on October 14 in the Franklin school house, Eighth ward; on October 24 in Banksville; on October 22 in West Liberty; on October 25 in the Stevens public school, Thirty-sixth ward; on October 24 in Carnot school house, Moon township; on October 25 in the Tarentum opera house; on October 17 in Pfaub's feed store, Etna; On October 21 in Dewey hall, Haysboro, and on October 31 in the Sixth ward school.

A machine meeting was held in the Bare public school building in North Versailles township last night. The speakers, machine candidates, drove in carriages from the railroad station to the place of meeting, escorted by men carrying torches.

Swiss Military Called Out.

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND, Oct. 6.—The cantonal authorities have called out the military reserves to preserve order and prevent the strikers from interfering with the street car companies' employes who are desirous of continuing work. There are threats in some quarters of a general strike.

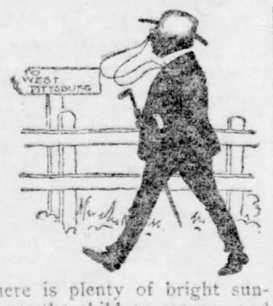
West Pittsburgh



West Pittsburgh has been laid out with an idea to the permanency of the town. It is not merely a speculative venture, but a thrifty, progressive town, where a town ought to be. It is the best home site in all the valley—a place where men of moderate means can live and enjoy life to the fullest. High enough to command a delightful view of the Beaver river, but not on a hill—West Pittsburgh is situated on a beautiful rolling tableland where there is plenty of bright sunshine and pure health-giving air; where the children can run and play to their hearts' content without danger of any kind, and where nature is at her best all the year 'round.

Five Railroads

West Pittsburgh is 5 miles east of New Castle; 2 miles east of New Castle Junction on the main lines of the P. & W., the B., R. & P., the P. & L. E., the Pennsylvania Lines and the B. & O. Railroad. Its railroad and shipping facilities are equal to those of Pittsburgh, and not surpassed by any in all Western Pennsylvania.

The extension of the street railway now in contemplation will place West Pittsburgh within very close communication of New Castle and the surrounding towns.

Plenty of Activity at West Pittsburgh

Ninety teams and three times as many men are now at work grading and paving the streets. Sewers are being laid and an overhead bridge across the railroad tracks is to be built, which will eliminate all danger of accident in going to and from work. The residence and business part of West Pittsburgh is on the east side of the tracks overlooking the river, and the manufacturing sites on the west side.

Not a Boom Town

West Pittsburgh is the natural and logical outgrowth of existing conditions—not merely a speculative venture. New Castle and the overflow population of the valley have been reaching out toward it for years; manufacturing interests have been demanding more room and the perfect shipping facilities that West Pittsburgh has to offer. And now that we have opened the plan, capital is coming to the front with great manufacturing enterprises that assure the success and permanency of the town.

In all the valley there is no location so altogether desirable for manufacturing purposes. The manufacturing sites occupy a broad level stretch, bounded on one side by five railroads and on the other by the Beaver river. Being above the mouth of the Connoquenessing river, the water is pure and perfectly satisfactory for manufacturing purposes—which is not the case at points below the Connoquenessing, on account of the salt which enters at that place.

Industries Already Located.

New manufacturing concerns have already broken ground at West Pittsburgh—among them being the Garland Nut & Rivet Co., which is a consolidation of the Rivet Department of the Garland Chain Co. of Pittsburgh, and the Dunham Nut Co. of Unionville, Conn. Another is a consolidation of the Safety Armorite Conduit Co. of Rankin, Pa., and the American Interior Conduit Co. of Milwaukee, Wis., and Waukegan, Ill. Other plants are preparing plans and getting ready to put up buildings. West Pittsburgh is not to be a one industry town. It is the aim of those having the interests of the community most at heart to have located in its manufacturing district a variety of industries so that in case of a slackness of trade in any one line it will not affect the general prosperity and growth of the town.

We are Going to Stand Back of West Pittsburgh

The town is there to stay. Its success and permanency are assured. The money we realize from the sale of lots will be put into new manufacturing enterprises. We burgh and we are going to stand back of it have planned a great future for West Pittsand make it realize all that we have planned.

The opening sale of lots is simply your opportunity to get a share in the general prosperity, for it is going to be general. Everybody who has a dollar invested will win out handsomely. There isn't any doubt about that.

West Pittsburgh is going to be the industrial center of Western Pennsylvania in a few years. It is above the high water mark; has all the railroad facilities and advantages of location enjoyed by Pittsburgh; plenty of pure water and absolutely no disadvantages at all. Real estate values are going to climb rapidly; can't help it. Everything is there to make them go up and to keep them up. If you want to clean up a big profit in a little while you will be at the opening sale Saturday, October 11.

Positively No Lots to be Sold Until Opening Day

We could dispose of hundreds of lots within 10 hours, if we were willing to do so. Every day people come to us with money in their hands. Others want to have certain lots reserved. But we will not sell a single lot, nor make a single reservation, before the opening sale. This is to be the greatest sale in the history of Western Pennsylvania real estate, and everybody is to have an equal chance. There are lots for all, good ones, too, nearly 1,600 of them.

Go on the morning free excursion if you can. First choice will be best. If you can't get away in the morning, catch the afternoon train. But go. Get there somehow, even if you have to lose half a day. You will have a chance to win a lot for nothing and—anyway, the opportunity for investment is too good to miss.

Look at the Investment Opportunity

Over 500 houses will be needed the first year. Need we point out the great possibilities to you? All kinds of stores will be needed. Need we emphasize the advantages of getting an early start? Lots are cheap now and easy to buy. But how long do you suppose they will remain at present prices? The probability is that before the day of opening sale is over they will be worth 30 to 50 per cent more. So whether you want to buy lots and build houses; whether you want to rent or whether you want to go into business, or whether you want to buy and sell again at a big profit, West Pittsburgh is your opportunity.

Over $100,000 Worth of Improvements

The improvements contemplated and now under way embrace the paving with block brick of Seventh street, 70 feet wide, and running east and west through the entire town, approximately 2,500 feet; also paving with block brick Center avenue, 70 feet wide, and running north and south through the entire town, approximately 3,000 feet. All other streets and avenues to be macadamized.

We have a complete sewerage system now under construction and have in contemplation a water works plant which will be undertaken as soon as possible.

Large Lots $100 up

THE CHAMPIONS CREATED FUN FOR THEIR FRIENDS

THE CHAMPIONS FURNISHED FUN

Field Day Was a Success and Had Many Amusing Features.

BOYS SPOILED FOX CHASE

The two-time champions entertained 1,600 of their friends over at Exposition park yesterday afternoon, and for two hours and a half entertained them in a manner that was pleasing to everybody. Considering the fact that field day exercises were carried on this year without splurge or blare of trumpets, the turnout of spectators was a compliment to the champions.

The afternoon's exercises started with an egg race, which proved amusing for the spectators but hard on the dozen players who participated in the event. Chief Zimmer, who was acting as master of ceremonies, had a dozen rows of hen fruit placed in straight lines across the infield. The players were then lined up along the third base line, and at a pistol shot fired by Sam Leever the contestants set to work. The conditions were that only one egg would be picked up at a time, and the contestant had to return to the line and place the egg in his cap, which was placed back of the line.

Clarke Had a Handicap.

This event was won by Fred Clarke, who, judging from his actions, was an old hand at the game, and therefore had the others handicapped. All the others started gathering the eggs closest to them, but not so with foxy Freddie, who started on the egg farthest out. The object of this move showed clever headwork, because as the race progressed and the contestants tired out, Clarke had less distance to run, and this held his speed. Kitty Bransfield tried to do a sneak act and grabbed up a handfull of the eggs and broke them as he put them in his cap, then Kitty had a time washing the cap out, and judging from appearances, the hen must have been sick that layed one of the eggs.

The egg race was followed by a sack race, with eight contestants, and this was won by Deacon Phillippe, who learned the art on the corner lots when he was learning to pitch ball. The Deacon proved himself something of a jumper, and won the event with a lot to spare. All of the players excepting Leach, Beaumont and Leever, took part in the 100-yard dash. Leach and Beaumont were out of it, as both have bad legs, and the Schoolmaster was the starter. This event was won by Phelps, with Burke second and Wagner third. The event would have been a dead heat between Burke and Phelps but just as they neared the tapes Burke gave Phelps a push and shot him in first by about half a foot. No time was taken.

Ball Game That Amused.

The next event was the ball game between teams made up of the champions. The only outsider being a youngster named Gray, who is a relative of Manager Clarke, and he was pressed into service and played in right field. The teams were known as the Greys, captained by Tommy Leach, and the Whites, captained by Manager Clarke. The full nine innings were played, and there was no attempt at burlesque, the players going about their work seriously. The game was won by Tommy Leach's Greys by a score of 15 to 5. Little Tommy led his forces in fine style and proved himself a fine field general.

The contest very much resembled the old game of rounders. The players started out in certain positions, and at the end of each inning shifted around, so that when the full nine innings had been played each player had filled every position on the team. It was lots of fun for the spectators to watch the efforts of pitchers to act as catchers and work in the in and outfields. It was also amusing to watch the other players in different positions from the ones they occupy on the regular team. The game was umpired by Jimmy Mason, who gave satisfaction, except on one decision, when he called Merritt's line hit to right a foul. The ball had hit fully a yard inside the line and was fair.

Honus Wagner as a Pitcher.

The only pitcher on the Whites who got away with an inning without being scored on was Chesbro, who pitched the first and allowed one hit. The other sids fared much better, as Merritt, Phelps, Sebring and Bransfield had no run innings. In Sebring's inning not a hit was made. The crowd cheered wildly when Honus Wagner went into the box, but Honus was touched up for a double by Sebring and a single by Merritt, and one run was scored.

Kitty Bransfield started his inning with the speed of a Mathewson, and he nearly knocked the head off Chief Zimmer with the first ball pitched. He struck the Chief out, but Chesbro managed to get a single off him. Ritchey's inning, as well as the one pitched by Zimmer, were the soft spots for the Greys. They got four runs off Zimmer as a result of three hits and four errors by the Whites, and they got four runs and five hits off Ritchey.

Boys Spoiled the Fox Chase.

The fox chase was saved as the finale, and it was spoiled by an army of small boys, who had gained admission to the grounds by way of the fence, and who when reynard was turned loose crowded out on the field and interfered with the players, but were finally chased off. The fox was the simon pure article, and he led the players a merry chase all over the field. He was as elusive as a drop of quicksilver, and some of the players who made dives for him came up with their arms full of mud and air. Harry Smith succeeded in driving his foxlets into a corner in center field and captured him. A second chase was given between the fox and a daschund owned by Honus Wagner. The fox proved too slippery for the hound, and reynard was finally captured by some small boys. The score of the ball game follows:

CHAMPIONS AND ALL AMERICANS

FIRST GAME OF SERIES TO BE PLAYED TODAY.

Lajoie Cannot Play Here, but Dick Padden Will Take His Place.

What will be the most important baseball series of the season will start at Exposition park this afternoon when the champion Pirates and All-American teams come together for the first game. The series will consist of four games, and a fifth if it becomes necessary, and to the winner of the series belongs the title of champions of the world.

The All-American team, which played in Cincinnati yesterday, and which will arrive here this morning, is certainly a cracker-jack organization, and to beat it the Pirates will have to produce the very best ball they have in their shop. The team defeated Cincinnati on Sunday, and speaking of the nine Joe Kelley said: "It is a great team gathered together. One can not get such a team together in a league, or they would have easy sailing in my opinion. There is hardly a position on the team that can be better. Some can be equaled, but there are few than can be bettered upon."

The team will hardly be as strong here as it will be when the two games which are scheduled for Cleveland will be played. The reason is that neither Lajoie nor Bernhard can play with it here. These players were enjoined by the Pennsylvania supreme court from playing with any other team than the Philadelphia league club and that injunction still stands. Lajoie's place will be filled in the games here by ex-Pirate Dick Padden, captain and second baseman of the St. Louis American league team, while Cy Young, the tall railsplitter of the Tuscarawas, will take Bernhard's place in the pitcher's box, and is likely to twirl the opening game today.

The strength of this all-star American team can be seen by a glance over its list of players, which follows: Catcher, Sullivan of Chicago; pitchers, Young, Boston; Mercer, Detroit; Lee, Washington; Bernhard and Joss, Cleveland; shortston, Monte Cross, Philadelphia; first base, Harry Davis, Philadelphia; second base, Lajoie, Cleveland; Padden, St. Louis; third base, Bradley, Cleveland; left field, Topsy Hartzell, Philadelphia; middle field, Fielder Jones, Chicago; right field, Harley, Detroit. It will be seen that there is not a weak spot in the entire team, the players being selected for both their fielding and batting ability.

Manager Clarke said last night that he will line up his regular team against the Americans, with Bransfield on first and Wagner at short. The honor of pitching the first game will go to Sam Leever, and the schoolmaster can be depended on to let out a few links of speed in order to secure a victory. The games will be called at 3 o'clock, and the umpires will be Hank O'Day of the National and Silk O'Laughlin of the American, who are considered the best men on both staffs. The opening game today will be played under the National league rules, the foul strike prevailing, and tomorrow's game under American league rules, without the foul strike.

DAN PATCH AGAIN FAILS AT RECORD

Track at Oakley Was Heavy and Time Made Was 2:03.

ANZELLA WON BIG STAKE

Took Six Heats to Decide the Ohio Race—Major Delmar Was Favorite, but Could Only Get Two Heats.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cincinnati, Oct. 6.—Despite the raw weather today 5,000 people gathered at the Oakley track to see Dan Patch go against the world's pacing record. He failed to lower his mark of 1:59¼, although he went the mile in 2:03, a remarkable performance, considering that the track, though dry, was soft. Time by quarters, :31, 1:00¾, 1:31½, 2:03.

In addition to the exhibition of Dan Patch, the Ohio purse for 2:11 trotters and the 2:05 pace, both postponed from Saturday, were decided. The Ohio went to the mare Anzella. Six heats were required and she won the last three in succession. Maj. Delmar took first and third heats, and the blind trotter Rythmic took second. Maj. Delmar was favorite in the pooling at $100 to $115 for the field.

In the last heat of the 2:11 trot, just as the field passed the judges' stand in the scoring, Starter Williams pulled the bell to call the horses back, intending to make another effort. Instead of paying attention to the starter's bell, the drivers went on about their journey, none of them attempting to pull up. Anzzella won the heat, which gave her the race, but no protest was offered from any quarter, and the race was allowed to stand. The drivers claim they did not hear the bell. Summaries:

FIRST GAME FOR THE BIG ELEVEN

Berrys Boys Will Open Local Season Next Saturday.

MATTHEWSON TO COME

The Star Fullback Will Get Down to Work at Once—Philadelphia R. R. Team Has Many Ex-College Stars.

Manager David J. Barry of the Pittsburgh football eleven has completed all details for the opening game of the season in this city next Saturday with the strong P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. eleven of Philadelphia. The visiting team is made up of ex-college players. All of them made reputations on the gridiron on college teams, the majority of them having played with old Penn. The members of the Y. M. C. A. team are now employed by the Pennsylvania railroad, but they have managed to get considerable practice after working hours, and they will be formidable opponents for the local eleven.

Before meeting the P. R. R. eleven, the Pittsburgh team will likely have a practice game tomorrow at Greensburg with the Scottdale eleven. Yesterday Coach Richardson had to look up a new field for practice grounds in Greensburg. Richardson yesterday started using the guard's-back formation, and Kerkhoff and Lang will be used in that style of play.

Christy Mathewson is expected in Greensburg this morning to join the team, and he will be in at fullback in Saturday's game at the Colosseum. After a stiff practice yesterday afternoon every member of the team run one and one-half miles from the grounds to the natatorium. The members of the big team are anxious to get into action, and the outlook is exceptionally bright for some lively football when they meet the heavy Y. M. C. A. men the last of this week.

THE HARVARD STYLE.

Wash-Jeff Players Are Working the Tackle Back.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The Washington and Jefferson football squad got into the practice today in a snappy, encouraging manner. All were in good condition but McFarland and Welty, both of whom were slightly injured in Saturday's game with Marietta college. The varsity squad this afternoon tore great holes in the scrub line and made good gains around the ends. Coach Greene lined up about 20 men against the regular team, but nothing could stop the backs and tackles in their fierce plunges for gains.

The local team has developed the Harvard tackle back play excellently for so little practice and the play will doubtless be used to advantage throughout the season. In this play, which was used with telling effect in Saturday's game, only one tackle drops behind the line and while he carries the ball he is pushed through by the entire back field, while the line men open up the hole. With big tackles, such as W. and J. has in Capt. Hayes and Heimberger, the play is a most effective one and nothing can stop it. Coach Greene will also use other plays of the Harvard system this week, although none of them were tried out today.

A surprise was sprung on the local football fans today when three new and strong men were found on the field. One is Bobby Burns of Steubenville, who has a reputation as a fullback and will be a candidate for that position. He weighs 185 stripped and will add great strength to the team, as full was considered to be one of the doubtful positions. Another new man was J. M. McClery of Cleveland, a former Western Reserve university player. He weighs 210 and will be a candidate for guard and tackle. Jerry Clingensmith, a New Castle boy, will try for a line position. He weighs 205 pounds stripped. A fourth new man, who is expected, is A. H. Young, a crack end and halfback, who played on the Oberlin college team at Oberlin, O., for three years. He weighs 185 and is said to be a speedy man.

TIGERS GET A SHAKEUP.

Changes Were Made in the Guard and Ends.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—A big shakeup in the Tigers line occurred today, which will eventually strengthen it, the coaches hope. Barney, the 240-pound guard, was moved to the scrub and Baker, '05, who played center on last year's freshman team, replaced him. Dewitt has been removed from tackle to the other guard position. Henry and Davis were given a rest and the end positions were filled by two new men, Brasher and Beard. Kafer was in at left halfback instead of Foulke, and Delaney played fullback in place of McClave.

In spite of these radical changes, the varsity managed to score one touchdown on the scrub after 20 minutes of play, Dewitt kicking the goal. The playing was rather ragged on account of some new formations being tried. The game scheduled for Wednesday with the New York University has been cancelled at their request.

VICTORY FOR GROVE CITY.

Slippery Rock Normal Eleven Went to a Defeat.

GROVE CITY, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The Grove City College Reserves defeated the Slippery Rock Normal team today in a warm contest by a score of 15 to 0. The locals started the game with a rush, scoring the first touchdown in three minutes, but after this the visitors held them well. In the second half, with 10 seconds to play, Marshall made a run of 55 yards for a touchdown. Hogsett and Dodds also had 50-yard runs. The lineup:

Reserves—15.		Slippery Rocks—0.
Marshall	R. E.	McGarris
Marks	R. T.	Douthell and McCall
Shaffer	R. G.	Gormley
Verbon	Center	Dougherty
Snyder	L. G.	Castle
Mast	L. T.	Thompson
Dixon	L. E.	McCullough
Bovaird	Q. B.	Alger
Dodds	R. H.	Watkins
Hogsett	L. H.	Seitz
Hildebrand	F. B.	McDonald

SURPRISE AT CORNELL.

Snyder Given Preference Over Coffin at Halfback.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The Cornell coaches sprung a great surprise today when Snyder was given the preference over Coffin at right halfback.

Today was also important in that it marked the return of all of the cripples. Forman, whose bruised hip has kept him out of the game for two weeks, played at fullback for a short time, and Hunt, with his sore shoulder, took a part in the line-up.

FIRST BIG LOCAL GAME.

W. U. P. Will Open Colosseum in Game With Grove City.

The W. U. P. football team will open its local season tomorrow, when it lines up against the strong Grove City team. The game will mark the opening of the Colosseum as the new football field, and there will be double interest in the contest.

The Colosseum will make an ideal football field, as the surrounding stands furnish seats which cannot be obstructed by the football cranks who usually take to the side lines. The park is to be used exclusively by the Star Pittsburgh eleven, so that much interest will be centered in the appearance of the new field.

FEW NOVELTIES IN THE THEATERS LAST NIGHT

"Mistress Nell" at the Grand.

In the production of George C. Hazleton's comedy, "Mistress Nell," familiar to local theaterfoers through the art of Miss Henrietta Crossman, the Grand Opera House Stock Company meets every visual requirement of the piece. To the eye it is a charming reproduction, excelling in beauty of detail, the original performance. It is expecting too much, however, to look for Miss Crosman's spirit and dash. Miss Taylor makes a pretty Nell Gwynne, but she does not catch that saucy mink's spirit. Hazleton created one of the merriest stage women the present epoch has seen in his refined and ideally conceived notion of the historical Nell, who won men's hearts as easily as she tossed off a glass of wine. But he also created one of the most difficult roles in the latter day galaxy of stage coquettes. It would be difficult to find anywhere among American actresses a woman who could accurately embody the character as Miss Crosman. The role belongs to her and she has created a model that it is extremely hazardous for a less gifted actress to attempt to follow. Miss Taylor does not imitate. She plays the role with all the art of which she is capable and when it is said she falls short, there is still much left for which she may be praised. Her most serious defect is in the reading of the lines. Here the spirit and subtle coquetry of Nell was almost totally lost. In the third act, where Nell accepts the presence of Beau Adair, Miss Taylor's work shows to better advantage, but even here, her greatest fault was a lack of proper emphasis and a disposition to rush her words together, which spoiled their effectiveness. Yet the performance was most enjoyable, and Miss Taylor is to be congratulated for undertaking what even one of the greatest actresses on the American stage tried to do and failed. At least, the Grand's leading lady need have no more regrets than did this accomplished woman.

The equipment of the piece was handsome and the several roles were played with fair ability. Mr. Ingersoll will make a better King Charles when he gets his lines thoroughly in hand. Mr. Elliott's Buckingham was an excellently cast role and played with skill and gracefulness. Miss Pennington was also admirable as the duchess of Portsmouth, while the Strings of Mr. Cooper was a cleverly pathetic piece of character portrayal. Mr. Greenleaf made rather a nervous and blustery Hart, while the comedy of Charles Abbe and Miss Conway was capitally Swallow and the landlord respectively, was excellently conceived and acted.

"Mistress Nell" is, indeed, a merry comedy and the stock company's revival as a whole is well in keeping with the beauty and importance of the play.

"David Harum" at the Alvin.

An audience that was quite large and certainly appreciative welcomed W. H. Crane and his company at the Alvin last evening when R. and M. Hitchcock's dramatization of Westcott's fine story, David Harum, was again presented. The play has improved with age and Crane has greatly broadened and strengthened his interpretation of the character of Harum since he presented it in this city more than a year ago. It is still overflowing with the distinctively Crane spirit and mannerisms, but time has mellowed it into one of the best things this sterling actor has ever done. The audience found its scenes of homely life and its quaint revelations of Homeville philosophy as represented in the old horse trade a source of keen delight from curtain rise until the last act, which, by the way, Crane invests with a rugged earnestness and pathos that is exceedingly appealing.

Mr. Crane's company has been changed very little since Pittsburgh first saw the play. Frank Burbeck, Charles Jackson, Sheridan Tupper, Kate Meek and Lois Frances Clark still give the excellent support that characterized their original appearance in the roles which they play. Of these the Widow Cullom of Miss Clark is one of the cleverest character studies we have ever seen. It is absolutely flawless in its trueness to life. Miss Perdita Hudspeth plays the role of Mary Blake with gentle effectiveness. Miss Grace Heyer, who was here last week with Elsie DeWolf, created this role, we believe. The Chet Turlson of Charles Jackson will be remembered as another excellently amusing bit of acting. These, with Earl Ryder, Percy Brooke, Joseph Rawley, George T. Devere, Charles Avery and William Dupont make a thoroughly adequate cast.

David Harum as a play may not be dramatically deficient, but as an evening's entertainment by artists who realize adequately the spirit of Westcott's Homeville people it is superabundantly successful and pleasing.

Empire—"Hunting for Hawkins."

One of the largest crowds in the history of the Empire theater went to the East End playhouse last night. It was the first time the new three-act musical comedy, "Hunting for Hawkins," had been presented in Pittsburgh and the piece was enthusiastically received by the audience. The story depicts a struggling young author in the depths of despair because he cannot marry the daughter of an ancestral-loving mother. To accomplish his purpose the author must have a great distinction and standing among men, but unfortunately he has no kinsmen to give him prestige. He finally induces his friend Hawkins to pose as G. Pusey Sanderoff, a Boston poet, whose works are in great favor with the prospective mother-in-law. Then Hawkins leaves home and the trouble starts. His wife takes up the search for him, a general alarm is sent out and the whole country attempts to find Hawkins. The scene of search is principally in New York, and the hunters have all kinds of difficulty in trying to find the missing Hawkins. The play is an original one in many respects and is filled with bright specialties and good musical numbers. The company presenting the piece is one of the best that ever appeared at the Empire. Especial attention has been given to the musical part of the program, and almost every vocalist performed with the greatest satisfaction. The second act lasts almost an hour, and there is not a dull moment in it. John and Bertha Gleason did several good song and dance turns and the monologue work of Alf Grant was very creditable. Aida Rivers, as Georgiana Smith, kept the crowd in laughter through the entire performance, while the acting of William Friend was worthy of the applause it received.

"Bandit King" at the Bijou.

The Bijou stage was transformed into a series of wild western scenes last night to give life and color to "The Bandit King." In its startling effects and freedom from the low and vulgar stage elements that might be expected in such a play, this production is to be heartily commended. From start to finish the crowded house was kept entertained in a way that brought vigorous applause. A supposed bandit in the person of Joe Howard, or John J. Farrell, the talented young romantic actor, turns out to be a western character of the noblest type, who has sought only the revenge of his mother's murder. The villain in the hands of Jack Webster, the eldest son of Miss Nellie McHenry, the famous comedienne, is a strong character.

Two characters by their ludicrous exhibition of alternate bravery and cowardice supply the evening's entertainment with comical situations. These are Tony West, the verbose reporter, who after his marriage to Joe Howard's sister, turns landlord and then outlaw, and the boastful sheriff, Homer Mullaney, whose courage consists in keeping out of Howard's way. A striking feature of the evening's performance is the work of the two trained horses, which is done with a skill and precision rarely seen on the stage. The play is well staged and merits the good support it received.

Vaudeville at the Avenue.

The Avenue theater has some very good specialties this week for a popular price vaudeville house. The "Motor Girl" is an unique act which successfully baffles the audience until the final denouement. It is the best impersonation of an automaton ever seen in this city. Dervalto, assisted by Mme. Dervalto, ascends and descends a spiral path on his revolving ball. Arthur Deming is there with some new songs and a number of old jokers. Hanson and Drew have a pleasing skit called the "Village Bill Poster," and Carroll and Carroll introduce a comic mule to help along their songs and dances. The other features of the program are the Rackett Brothers and the cinematograph. The stage of the Annex is occupied by Harlan A. Saunders, a comical juggler; W. H. Burke, the musical Hebrew, and Carl Ricker's dancing dolls. The bill as a whole is a good one. The large audiences both afternoon and evening demonstrated that the "continuous idea" has not only taken root, but is already flourishing apace.

An Excellent Bill at Duquesne.

The Orpheum show, introducing a number of real novelties to the vaudeville stage, opened a week's engagement at the Duquesne theater last evening. Every act made a distinct hit with the large audiences, and although this is the best go with Pittsburgh audiences, the character of the acts were best told in the applause and encores. Everybody has heard of the famous Australian boomerang throwers, but Rawson and June gave the most novel exhibition of this difficult art, supposed to be known only to savages of the South Sea Islands. Boomerangs were thrown out into the audience and returned to the thrower, passing through hoops and making exact circles back to the stage. McIntyre and Heath, old Pittsburgh favorites, appeared in a farce, carrying with it a number of new negro sayings that kept the people laughing continually. Capt. Graham's feat in swimming the whirlpool rapids below Niagara Falls is depicted by the kinetograph, and is probably the most interesting moving picture ever shown on any stage. Purcell and Maynard have good voices and their opening operatic travesty gave an inkling of what was to come in the way of good things. The Melani trio, Italian musical artists, introduces one of the best violinists heard here in years. He almost makes the instrument talk and the audience could not get much of his work. Nick Long and Idalene Cotton presented an interesting little sketch entitled, "The Critic and the Lady," in which Miss Cotton gives imitations of French music hall dancers and Spanish dancers, and Mr. Long his popular imitations of a broken-down theatrical star, concluding with a burlesque of "Camille," in Italian. Mignonette Kokin is an interesting toe dancer with an excellent voice. The show concludes with a pantomime, "The Mask Ball," which introduces four European gymnasts, who show a few new tricks on the horizontal bars. The entertainment leaves little to be desired and will, no doubt, play to crowded houses all week.

Academy—"Morning Glories."

"Scribner's Morning Glories" show has good and bad points in its makeup. The bad part comes in where the management works into up-to-date burlesque an old village opera house farce comedy idea, which used to be worked to death on the oil town circuit back in the seventies. The disgust of the front row was a sight to see, but the facial contortions of some of the actors caused an occasional laugh in the gallery. The good part of the show is the specialty department, which is one of the cleverest on the road. Clifford and Burke, the Pittsburgh boys who made their debut last season, have elaborated on their act and they now probably the best of its kind on the boards. The bit they made last night might be very properly termed tremendous. The Misses Cooper and Schall are as good as the best in their singing and dancing act. The Couture Brothers are a decided hit as wonderful and some of their contortion feats are very much so. Leslie Brothers performed in a musical act which is very funny. John and Lilly Hoover got a decided reception in their juggling and swinging act. The Bijou Comedy trio foot the olio with several medleys, imitations, etc. Many of the chorus numbers were encored, which is somewhat unusual at the Academy.

Goodwin in a New Play.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 6.—N. C. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott made their first appearance here tonight at the Broad Street theater in Madeline Lucette Ryley's comedy, "The Altar of Friendship." The play seemed to have made a remarkable hit. Never before have Mr. Goodwin and Miss Elliott been so admirably suited with agreeable roles. Mr. Goodwin was in the best of health and spirits, and "The Altar of Friendship" bids fair to be a most profitable vehicle for them for several years. The company supporting Mr. Goodwin and Miss Elliott is considered the best ever gathered together by these artists. It comprises several players of international reputation.

Empire Theater Company.

The sale of seats opens Thursday morning for the engagement of Charles Frohman's Empire Theater Company, beginning at the Alvin theater next Monday night in a new play, "The Wilderness," by H. V. Esmond. The play ran an entire season in London on the occasion of its original production there and was continued all of last winter during the engagement of this one of Mr. Frohman's companies at their home play house, New York. It will be presented here with the original cast, which includes Mr. Charles Richman and Miss Margaret Anglin.

MAGEE MEMORIAL IN SHAPE OF FOUNTAIN

Committee's Report Recommending Erection of Two, Was Adopted by Trustees.

A meeting of the trustees of the C. L. Magee Memorial association was held yesterday afternoon, at which the form of the proposed monument was discussed. James I. Buchanan, for the committee on plan, presented a report recommending the erection of one or two memorial fountains. In this report Mr. Buchanan said:

"Having in mind the great interest Mr Magee always manifested in the welfare of the citizens of his native city and home, we believe that the memorial which would best conform with his sensibilities would be one that would minister to their comfort, and we are of the opinion that one or more artisaic and useful fountains to furnish good drinking water at points of public concourse would meet the requirement.

"Your committee believes that with the necessary piping and appliances there will be a sufficient amount of the fund to have designed and erected a beautiful and appropriate memorial fountain, which in future years shall stand as a beneficent reminder of Mr. Magee and his kindly attitude toward the people of Pittsburgh."

The report further recommended that the present spring at the serpentine drive in Schenley park be improved and equipped with an underground reservoir. The water could then be piped along the line of Panther hollow to the entrance of Schenley park, where a fountain would be erected. The proposition to erect another fountain at Soho was rejected. With this exception the report was accepted by the trustees.

A final meeting of the trustees will be held at the chamber of commerce on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. The amount of the monument fund is now in the neighborhood of $36,000.

PLANS TO COLLECT FUND FOR STRIKERS

Executive Committee Will Have Safeguards to See That Cash Is Cared For.

The executive committee having charge of the Pittsburgh relief fund for the anthracite strikers, yesterday completed arrangements for a plan of collection. The committee consists of 12 representatives of the Iron City council of the American Federation of Labor, the United Labor league of Western Pennsylvania, and the Building Trades council. M. M. Garland is chairman and William J. Kelly, secretary.

The meeting, held at headquarters of the Pittsburgh district miners' organization, adopted a plan of collection, which is now operated in Philadelphia. This plan provides every security that contributions for the striking miners reach them. The collectors will work throughout the county and will start today in the business portions of Pittsburgh.

These collectors will carry credentials, signed by the committee officers and bearing the seal of District No. 5 of the United Mine Workers of America, which is the Pittsburgh organization. Secretary Kelly is ready to receive voluntary contributions.

The postal card system is of rather unique character. Printed on the cards will be a date blank and other matter, as follows: "W. J. Kelley, secretary miners' relief fund. I have this day donated (blank for amount) to Collector (blank for his name). Signature." In addition the card will bear the words, "Cash," "Publish," and contributor will cancel the one or the other. The committee will publish the name of each contributor who desires it.

Suit Resulting From Explosion.

The suit of James McNeil & Brothers Co., against the Crucible Steel Company of America, is on trial in common pleas court No. 1. This suit, as well as other damage suits which are based on similar allegations, grew out of the result of a boiler explosion at the Park Steel Company plant on December 28, 1901, in which several persons were killed and others injured, in addition to damage done to surrounding property. The plaintiff company demands $75,000 damages to its plant, which was wrecked. The plaintiff charges that the boilers in the defendant's plant were defective and that they were manned by incompetent employes.

STIRRING RACES ON THE POTOMAC

THERE WERE SOME EXCITING FINISHES.

Vesper Eight Won the Intermediate, but Lost the Senior Race.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—One of the big features of the opening day of the Grand Army of the Republic encampment was the regatta of the Potomac River Regatta association. It was the first regatta held since 1896, and proved to be the largest and most interesting in the history of the association. The banks of the river and the bridges over the course were crowded with sightseers. The weather was fine, but a stiff breeze made the water choppy.

There were 11 events, each of a mile and a half with a turn, except the junior, intermediate and senior eight-oared shell races, which were each a mile and a half straight away. Only two races were productive of stirring finishes, the intermediate eight and the junior double sculls. In the former Louis Abell, the famous coxswain, piloted the Vesper crew of Philadelphia to a winning finish by a nose, and in the latter the Potomac club won from the Seawanhakas by a half length. In this race the crack Malta club team fouled a pier in the river and lost its chance of victory.

Varley of New York won the intermediate singles in commanding style. The Potomac Boat club carried off the laurels, winning three of the eleven events. The eight of the Vesper club of Philadelphia, whom Coach P. J. Dempsey sent to victory so many times, and with whom he beat the world's representatives on the Seine river at Paris, rowed in both the intermediate and senior eights, but were beaten in the last event. Summaries:

Junior eights—Georgetown University, B. C., of Washington, first, by 1½ lengths; Potomac Boat club of Washington, second by 3 lengths; Pennsylvania Barge club, of Philadelphia, third. Time, 7:53½.

Junior singles—William Britt, of Potomac B. C., Washington, first, by 3 lengths; H. S. Rodearmel, of Vesper, B. C., Philadelphia, and G. A. Griffin, West Philadelphia B. C., finished in order named. Time, 1:13¼.

Senior double sculls—Vesper Boat club, of Philadelphia, first; Malta B. C., of Philadelphia, second, and Atalanta B. C., of New York, third. Time, 10:12.

Senior singles—Frank Vezeley, Bohemian club, N. Y., first; B. L. Zimm, New York Athletic club, second; Robert Farman Fearnan, Seawannaka B. C., third. Time, 11:07.

Junior fours—Ariel B. C., Baltimore, first; Nassau B. C., N. Y., second; Anatostan B. C., Washington, third; West Philadelphia B. C., fourth; Georgetown University B. C., last. Time, 10:02¾.

Intermediate eights—Vesper B. C., of Philadelphia, first; Potomac B. C., Washington, second; Fairmont Rowing Association, third. Time, 7:40½.

Senior fours, shells—Pennsylvania Barge club, of Philadelphia, first; University Barge club, of Philadelphia, second; Jeffries Joint Rowing Association, of East Boston, Mass., third. Time, 9:50.

Intermediate singles—William Varley, Atalanta B. C., first; Norman A. Garrett, Arundel B. C., of Baltimore, second; W. B. West, West Philadelphia B. C., third. Time, 11:40½.

Junior double sculls—Potomac B. C., Washington, first, by half a length; Seawanhaka B. C., of New York, second; Malta B. C., of New York, third; Union B. C., of New York, fourth. Time, 1:05¾.

Junior fours, gig—Nassau B. C., of New York, first; Malta B. C., of Philadelphia, second. Time, 10:05. The Ariel Boat club of Baltimore started but fouled the stakeboat and dropped out. The Malta club broke their rudder, but finished.

Senior eights, shell—Dauntless Rowing club, of New York, first; Vesper B. C., of Philadelphia, second. Time, 7:58¾.

MISSING PAPERS FOUND.

Harrisburg Officials Discover the Objections to Congressional Nominees.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 6.—Copies of the missing objections to the nomination of George Shiras III., H. K. Porter and James W. Brown, the Citizens-Democratic candidates for congress in the Twenty-ninth, Thirty-first and Thirty-second districts, were found this morning among the election papers in the state department.

When these cases were argued in court on Friday a motion was made to dismiss them on the ground that copies of the objections had not been filed in the department, as required by the ballot law. The attorneys for the objectors stated that the papers had been filed, and on the strength of their statement the court would not entertain the motion to dismiss the cases.

PIRATES SEIZE COAL AT REVOLVER'S POINT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Another one of the many ill effects of the coal strike has come to light. An act of piracy was perpetrated at Elizabethport at the coal pockets of Mequin, Offerman & Heissenbuttle early last Friday morning. About 10 tons of coal, which according to the latest quoted price should be worth about $300, was taken from the barge William T. Offerman at the point of a revolver.

Just before dawn a rowboat manned by several men using muffled oars approached the side of the barge and made fast. One of the small boat's crew crept to the door of the cabin and knocked. Capt. Delano opened the door to see a man with a loaded revolver in his hand. The intruder demanded the key of the coal bunkers or the captain's life, and the captain wasted no time in deciding.

Silently and quickly the other members of the boat's crew filled the boat with the precious fuel. While they were still working two other rowboats, each manned by several men, approached the barge and made fast. When all three boats were loaded they made off in the darkness. No trace of them has been found.

It is feared that this is only the beginning of similar acts.

ROGERS WORKS STRIKE

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—For the first time in five years the Rogers locomotive works were closed today and the 1,500 employes are on strike. The men refused to work on Saturday afternoon, and Superintendent Wells insisted that they must. The superintendent says that his shop cannot compete with the "locomotive trust" if the men do not work the full 60 hours a week.

A big meeting was held this morning and a committee was sent to the shops. The men, it is believed, will come out victorious, as the shops for some weeks past have been working full time, with double gangs at night, to keep up with the orders.

During his term as lieutenant he was also health officer and humane agent. The borough council will appoint his successor.

COAL IS GIVEN RIGHT OF WAY

Collectors of Ports Ordered to Allow Fuel from Abroad to Be Rushed.

PURCHASES IN WALES

Two Hundred Thousand Tons Have Been Bought Since the Strike Began—Retail Price Is Likely to Go Up in London.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6.—The treasury department today sent the following letter to the collectors of the principal ports of entry in the United States:

"Reports indicate that quite a large quantity of coal is being imported. If any portion of this should arrive at your port the department desires every facility afforded for its prompt delivery. So far as may be, give consignments of coal the preference over everything else and for the present solve all reasonable doubts in favor of the coal importer."

LONDON, Oct. 6.—A telegram from New Castle announces that 100,000 tons of coal were sold on the New Castle coal exchange today for America.

Reports from Cardiff say that 25 steamers have been secured for early sailing from South Wales ports for New York and Boston, and it is said that American purchases during the last week at Cardiff alone totaled 100,000 tons, of which 80,000 tons were for New York. The purchases at Swansea last week totaled 20,000 tons.

Sending Us 200,000 Tons.

It is estimated that the Welsh sales of coal for America aggregate 200,000 tons since the rush began.

Anthracite coal is now quoted at the highest price which it has ever reached in this country. A prominent dealer on the coal exchange said today: "I should not be surprised if retail coal in London reached $10 per ton during the next few weeks."

Ocean freights are rising, although the earlier shipments were taken at normal rates. Some of the steamers owned by big concerns, such as Elder Dempster & Co., the Leyland line and Johnston line, are loading coal at Cardiff and Liverpool.

It is not expected that sufficient anthracite will be obtained to supply the American demand.

Germans Side With Miners.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The coal strike in the United States is attracting more and more attention here. The newspapers print rather full accounts of the conferences at Washington.

The press takes sides with the miners and censures the operators for their unyielding attitude. The Frankfurter Zeitung, regarded as the best financial authority in Germany, today devotes a leading editorial to the strike. It alludes to the spirit of the operators as "lunacy of fancied greatness," and adds:

"When the coal combination sees it is able to throw 70,000,000 of people into anxiety and need and remain beyond reach it will naturally get the idea that it holds possession by the grace of God, like the potentates of old Europe."

This paper also alludes to the probable effect on the continent of the withdrawal of English coal for the United States, says it is likely England will draw from the continent the deficit caused by the shipments to the United States and concludes:

"Hence, if the strike continues the price of coal will rise on the continent."

Coal for Their Work People.

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—William M. Wood and James Phillipps, Jr., of the executive committee of the American Woolen Company have cabled abroad for 5,000 tons of anthracite coal to be placed at the disposal of the operatives of the mills of the company; 2,000 tons for the help at Washington mills, Lawrence; 2,000 for the Providence mills' help, and the balance for other localities where they have operatives. The coal is to be sold at exact cost.

APPEAL BOND FILED.

American Express Co. Carries Franchise Tax Suit to United States Court.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—The appeal bond in the tax case of the American Express Company was filed in the United States court this afternoon for $100,000, covering costs and judgment in the appeal to the United States supreme court, in case the decision shall be for the state of Indiana.

Attorneys everywhere are watching this case. It involves the legality of taxation on franchises. If the decision in the higher court be favorable to the company, it is expected that many similar suits will be brought throughout the country.

NO SETTLEMENT YET.

Tin Plate Conference Committee Met in New York Yesterday.

The meeting of the tin plate conference committee of the Amalgamated association, with officials of the American Tin Plate Company, was resumed in New York, after consuming most of last week without reaching a settlement. When the Pittsburgh headquarters closed yesterday evening no word of a settlement had been received.

The conference committee is understood to be alive to the importance of action which will allow the manufacturers to secure the orders of heavy producers and amounting to about 1,500,000 boxes, which now come from Wales. The plan has been for the workers to accept a 25 per cent reduction on such business. Many of the tin plate mills are now closed for lack of specifications on orders and the American Tin Plate Company alone can make more tin plate than the domestic consumption. In addition there is the material production of independent concerns, which are constantly increasing in numbers, adding largely to the overproduction.

GEN. KOBBE FAILS TO BREAK BLUES

MAJ. LEACH'S TRENCHES PROVE TOO STRONG.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

FORT RILEY, KAS., Oct. 6.—While fully as practical as any of the preceding maneuvres, today's exercises contained a larger element of the spectacular.

Maj. Leach of the engineers, commanding the blues, defended a position with what all the military critics concede was very great skill. Gen. Kobbe, leading the browns, made dispositions for attack that were praised fully as highly. Moreover, Gen. Kobbe pushed home his attack with a fierceness and energy, which, had the combat occurred in actual warfare, must have caused heavy losses to both sides.

At the close of the fighting Gen. Kobbe had been badly crippled, but he was coming on to make a final rush for the trenches. His men were dashing down a slope fully exposed to the rifle fire of an intrenched line, and after descending this and passing through a ravine, his men had still 300 yards of open ground to cross before reaching the entrenchments. The critics say that it was hardly possible to do this. Still, Gen. Kobbe had two full imaginary regiments in reserve, and even though repulsed the first time, his game was far from being played to the finish. The blues were not forced from their trench and won the battle.

The entrenchments for the defense were made under the direction of J. E. Cavanaugh of the engineers, and were most skillfully constructed. The loose earth thrown up in creating the trench was covered with grass, placed at a right angle to the line of the trench. This gave to the eye at a distance of 100 yards very little indication of the location of the trenches.

INQUIRIES ANSWERED.

Miss E. H. writes: Having seen your recipes in the paper and tried some of them and found them very good, I want to ask you if you have your recipes in a bound book for sale. If so please send me the price and particulars.

The recipes published in our household department are so numerous we could not very well publish them in convenient book form for use of housewives, though we would be very glad to do so. Our readers are always privileged to ask for and obtain the recipes through the household department. We will file your inquiry and if, in the near future, we should put the matter in book form, will let you know.

Bread, Tea Buns and Rolls.

Mrs. H. A. Gregg writes: You published some recipes for making the different kinds of bread. Tea buns, Parker house rolls and cinnamon cake were among the list. I had the paper put away, but it was accidentally destroyed. Could I have same again, please? I would like them very much.

Cinnamon Cake.

The article mentioned contains a recipe for cinnamon cake, but not the other two you mention. We will repeat the cinnamon cake recipe in this issue and publish the others later on.

Set a sponge as for bread, then take a pint of it when light, half a cup of butter, one egg, half a cup of granulated sugar and a cup of flour. Stir all together, cover, set in a warm place, and let rise. Then mix in flour enough to make a biscuit dough, roll out an inch thick and place in a well-buttered pan; sprinkle with two large tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar mixed with two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon and dot generously with bits of butter. Cover and set in a warm place and when light bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes.

Healthy South Side.

The report recently made by the chamber of commerce committee on sanitation for the first five months of this year shows that the South Side had only half as many cases of typhoid fever, in proportion to the population, as the rest of the city.

In regard to which an official of the Monongahela Water Company naively says: "Comment is unnecessary."

A FOOD CURE FOR CONSTIPATION.

Constipation is an almost universal disease among civilized nations, due to concentrated and imperfectly cooked food. Mushes, milk, fine flour, bread and condiments, added to sedentary habits, result in constipation, hemmorrhoids, piles and other diseases of the rectum requiring surgical operation, intestinal catarrh, headach, bilious attacks, nervous exhaustion, insomnia, sleeplessness, autointoxication and paralysis. The remedy is the daily use of Toasted Wheat Flakes, sweetened with Malt Honey. Each flake represents an entire wheat kernel, less the woody fibre, and contains all the life building gluten of the wheat. The raw starch found in wheat and cracked wheat mushes is dextrinized by thorough cooking and toasting, making Toasted Wheat Flakes at once digestible and curing constipation and its attendant ills. It is unfailing in its work

HAD CONFERENCE UPON THE TAXES

Recorder Brown Orders Treasury Clerks to Hustle on Estimates of Collections.

DEBT EXCEEDS THE LIMIT

Best Figures Obtainable Show That Debt Not Authorized by People Is Far Over Two Per Cent.

Recorder Brown and City Treasurer Torrence had a conference yesterday concerning the amount of the taxes that will have to be collected to make up the deficiencies in appropriation. Treasurer Torrence told the recorder that he could give him no information as to the amount that came in September, as the clerks in his office have not yet finished their accounts. Recorder Brown ordered him to have the clerks redouble their energies, as he wants the information at the earliest possible moment.

The order of Recorder Brown addressed to Delinquent Tax Collector Osterraider to publish the list of delinquents for 1902 has stirred up more trouble than even the recorder expected. The attempt to throw the responsibility on Controller Larkin has proven a failure, as Controller Larkin has easily been able to show that if the extravagance of the departments of public safety and public works were abated, there is still sufficient money remaining in the appropriations to tide the city over.

Controller's Stand.

Controller Larkin said yesterday that he never had any intention of throwing any obstacles in the way of the payment of fixed charges against the city. By fixed charges, the controller means salaries of necessary employees and other things necessary to care for the health, safety and protection of the people and their property. "My intention is to protect the people against the extravagance of these departments," said the controller. As the city charter makes it obligatory that the signature of the controller must be upon all financial documents, it is difficult to learn just what the administration will be able to do to avoid meeting his solution of the difficulty.

An ordinance is now pending in councils, providing for giving authority to the city recorder and the city treasurer to negotiate a loan with the five banks that act as city depositories.

Consent Is Necessary.

City Solicitor Carnahan drew the ordinance it is said under protest, as Mr. Carnahan is said to be aware that the consent of the controller is necessary. Controller Larkin has never said that he would stand in the way of a loan that is absolutely necessary.

The best figures obtainable are that the debt of the city incurred without the assent of the people, is about $8,572,801 87. This is more than $2,000,000 above the 2 per cent which cities may incur without the assent of the people, and if the figures are correct the supreme court decision will not avail the city government in any event. The books of the city are in such shape that it is difficult to learn just how the debt was incurred, but the researches of parties interested in a site for the technical school brought these figures to light.

HANDSOME WOMAN LEADER OF BOXERS

She Has Attracted Ten Thousand Chinese Rebels to Her Standard.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 6.—Advices have been received from China of the increase of Boxerism both in Sze Chuen and Chi Li. In Sze Chuen the Boxers, 1,000 strong, attacked Cheng Tu, the provincial capital, and there were some sanguinary fights in the streets. The Boxers were held in check by the imperial forces, and, a report being proclaimed that reinforcements were coming for the garrison, the Boxers fled from Cheng Tu and encamped at Shippantan, where earthworks had been thrown up.

The Boxers of Sze Chuen are led by a woman, Liao-Kuan-Yin, who is alleged to be one of three sisters who were arrested at Tien-tsin during the rebellion of 1900, it being said that they were "the Boxer goddesses." Letters from Prince Tuan, Yung Lu and other Boxer leaders were found in their possession. This woman, who is described as being handsome, had attracted 10,000 Boxers to her standard. The Chung Kiang correspondent for the North China News, says: "She is the most powerful rebel chief in Sze Chuen."

It is estimated that 1,500 native Christians have been killed in this province. In Chi Li the Boxers are secretly drilling every morning before daylight, even in the vicinity of the capital.

Celebrated the Crystal Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Sipe celebrated yesterday the 15th anniversary of their wedding day. The crystal wedding festivities were continuous through afternoon and evening. Mrs. Sipe received in the afternoon, followed by a dinner at which the assisting ladies and their husbands were guests, and in the evening a large card party was given for the married friends of Mrs. Sipe's parents, the home in North Highland avenue was beautifully decorated. In the parlors none but white flowers appeared amid the wealth of green foliage, while the lights were softly shaded with white blossoms. A brilliant contrast was the library, where gorgeous red flowers were to be seen, enhancing the rich furnishings of the apartment. In the dining room the coloring was a delicate shell pink, the flowers upon the table being exquisite pink roses, pink ribbons and a tracery of maidenhair ferns and smilax. The other apartments upon the second floor were prettily decorated. The house is a handsome one and filled with costly hangings, rare bric-a-brac and works of art.

Yesterday afternoon, standing with Mrs. Sipe while she received, was Mrs. Paul J. Engleman of Toledo, O., a recent bride, who, with her husband, is a member of a house party Mr. and Mrs. Sipe are entertaining this week. Miss Mary B. Lippincott, the late head resident of Kingsley house, has associated herself with the University settlement in King street, New York. It is the intention of the University settlement to establish a new department dealing entirely with the public schools, and it will be Miss Lippincott's work to formulate the plans and inaugurate this new feature of settlement work. The position is very good and would be held open some time, in order to secure Miss Lippincott. The salary which she will receive is larger than that of her former position in this city.

AN ICEBERG WIFE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—"My wife is the coldest proposition, as far as her disposition and manners are concerned, that exists in the form of a human being. She has turned so absolutely cold toward me in the last six years that it is impossible by words or language to describe to the court this woman's disposition. She is tantalizing and would drive a man to desperation by her coldness. She is the most despicable creature in the form of a woman, and gifted with a power of deception that is absolutely without description."

Such is the language that Emory W. Fenn, only son of the late Supreme Court Judge Fenn of Connecticut, used in an affidavit to describe his beautiful wife whom he is suing for absolute divorce. Mrs. Fenn is an unusually handsome woman of the Spanish type, with lustrous black eyes. The couple were married several years ago and have a daughter.

Counsel for Mrs. Fenn, in making the motion for counsel fees and alimony, declared that Fenn has deserted his wife four years ago, and since that time had not contributed to her support. She asserts that her husband went to Cuba and fought in the Cuban army without her knowledge and consent.

Thomas Patterson of No. 2215 Wylie avenue yesterday afternoon witnessed the funeral services of his wife, who died Sunday morning after an illness of only five days. Mrs. Patterson, who was 71 years of age and the companion of her husband for nearly half a century, had been attending Capt. Patterson in his illness and contracted pneumonia.

Two weeks ago Capt. Patterson, who is one of Pittsburgh's best known rivermen, was seized by typhoid fever at Cairo, Ill., and hastened home to get his wife's tender care. When she died he was kept in ignorance of her death, but at length seeing the saddened faces of the members of his family he suspected what was wrong and insisted in having an opportunity to listen to the funeral services.

The Rev. Dr. N. L. Brown, pastor of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal church, to which the family belongs, conducted the services, assisted by the Rev. Dr. E. M. Wood. Capt. Patterson lay on his sick bed within the sound of the ministers' voices, and when the funeral hymn was sung the solemn music greatly affected the aged sufferer. The interment was made in the Allegheny cemetery. Capt. Patterson, it is thought, will recover.

President Butler of Columbia Says Professors Are Teaching for Salaries of Clerks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—In his annual report today, President Butler of Columbia university says the institution is without adequate grounds and buildings and without sufficient income to care properly for the work that has already been undertaken.

The president reports the value of the property of the university to be $21,312,554.

"Men in middle life," says the report, "who have devoted years to the successful pursuit of investigation and to teaching in their chosen fields, are giving skilled service to the university for smaller compensation than is often paid to an experienced clerk."

President Butler says Columbia university needs $10,000,000.

HONOR IS SOUGHT BY RAILWAY MEN

COLLINS A CANDIDATE

Present Incumbent on P.R.R. Division Has Active Opponent in W. E. Shaffer—First Election to Be Held on B. & A. V.

The contest for membership on the advisory committee of the Voluntary Relief association of the Pennsylvania railroad lines, east of Pittsburgh and Erie, is becoming lively. Unusual interest is manifested this year. The vote will be taken Thursday, November 27, and counted on December 1. The official list of candidates will be announced about November 1, but before this most of those desiring to represent the men on this committee will have announced their candidacy and set activity at work for votes.

The present members for the Pennsylvania railroad grand division is James H. Collins of Harrisburg, baggage master on the middle division. Mr. Collins is a candidate to succeed himself, and will have much support. W. E. Shaffer, baggage master on the Pittsburgh division, has, however, entered the lists against Mr. Collins and is giving him a sharp contest for the honor. Others are expected to join in the fight.

First for Valley.

On the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division, which now for the first year has distinct representation on the advisory committee, Engineer George Woodard holds the position by appointment. The first election for the position will be held in November and Mr. Woodard will be able to make a good showing if not win in the contest.

The position is purely an honorary one. It carries no salary, but provides for several pleasant trips during the year. Each of the following grand divisions is entitled to one member of the board. The number of members of the association on these divisions, according to the August report, the last issued, is also given: P. R. R., 33,705; United Railways of New Jersey, 11,048; Philadelphia & Erie, 4,622; Buffalo & Allegheny Valley, 4,126; Northern Central, 3,887; Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore, 5,444; West Jersey & Seashore, 1,730.

Many New Members.

In August the association increased in membership upwards of 1,200. It now has a total enrollment of 64,002, or 62 per cent of the employes of the road.

The financial transactions of the association are of considerable magnitude. The last year showed $977,770 paid out in benefits, and in 1902 the payments have been averaging between $90,000 and $100,000 a month. This year the total will pass $1,000,000. The association is under the direction of Superintendent Spencer Meade of Trenton, N. J.

The new offices of the association on the first office floor of the Union station building are the finest on the system devoted to such purposes. Dr. W. K. T. Sahm has charge in Pittsburgh, with an office force of several men. The office is also used largely as an emergency hospital for any accident about the Union station demanding the immediate attendance of a physician or surgeon.

ENCAMPMENT TRAVEL BREAKS THE RECORDS

Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Lake Erie Haul 50,000 Persons in Three Days' Excursions.

It is safe to say that all records for the number of persons passing through Pittsburgh and starting in Pittsburgh on any excursion have been broken by the movement of the past three days on account of the Grand Army of the Republic encampment at Washington. Regular schedules have been brushed aside and on the Pittsburgh divisions of the Pennsylvania railroad and of the Baltimore & Ohio as high as eight, 10 and 12 sections of one regular train have been run. Naturally regular business, both freight and passenger, has been sadly interfered with, but the whole movement has now passed without serious accident in this vicinity. Fully 50,000 passengers have passed over these divisions in three days.

According to figures obtained from official sources the Pennsylvania railroad handled over its Pittsburgh division the equivalent of 50 solid trains of 10 coaches each filled with these excursionists. This alone makes a party of 25,000 people. Comparatively little of this originated in Pittsburgh. The great bulk of the travel was from western points, even as far west as the Pacific coast, as well as from towns on the Pennsylvania lines.

The Baltimore & Ohio almost tied the Pennsylvania in the amount handled through Pittsburgh and excelled that road in the total amount sent to Washington from the west, about 10 trains going over the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern. Through Pittsburgh there were 31 trains. Over the Newark division there were 12 and this added to the Southwestern's share makes a total of 53 trains. There were close upon 27,000 people carried.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie had the equivalent of about 50 coaches, which were delivered to the Baltimore & Ohio at Pittsburgh. These coaches came from points on the "Little Giant's" own line and from the Lake Shore and the Erie. The Monongahela City and the Franklin posts were moved by the Lake Erie.

The most varied assortment of cars seen in Pittsburgh for years were used in transporting this G. A. R. business. The Baltimore & Ohio called into use from its own lines the cars of the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling, the Ohio River railroad, the Annapolis Short Line and the Virginia & Pittsburgh. Cars were seen belonging to the following lines: Wabash, Burlington, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Northwestern, Rock Island, New York Central, Lake Shore, Erie, Great Northern, Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern, Bessemer and Chesapeake Beach. For regular business, odd, old-fashioned equipment was taken from the shops, anything that would run on wheels being sought for.

Changes Among B. & O. Yard-Masters

Trainmaster L. D. Savage of the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio announced yesterday the following changes in the force of yardmasters on the division: James Crawford, yardmaster at Willow Grove, assigned to other duties; E. W. Doughty, yardmaster at New Castle, transferred to Willow Grove; P. D. Barry, night yardmaster at New Castle, made yardmaster; Conductor Edward Fitzgerald, appointed night yardmaster, New Castle. The condition of the Baltimore & Ohio yards in Allegheny is reported as greatly relieved. They had become unusually congested.

RAILROAD NOTES.

George F. May has been appointed assistant secretary of the Baltimore & Ohio to succeed E. H. Williams, promoted to assistant to the general manager.

It was denied yesterday that the architectural firm of D. H. Burnham & Co. of Chicago is preparing plans for a new Pennsylvania lines passenger station on Canal and Adams streets, Chicago. It was reported that an improvement to cost between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 is to be made at that location.

STOCK MARKETS FEVERISH, CLOSING AT NET DECLINES

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

If the bull pools in Wall street required further confirmation of the attitude of the banks toward the stock market, it was forthcoming yesterday. Up to noon, when the rate for call loans ranged between 8 and 12 per cent, there were no offerings of funds by banks or trust companies, practically all the supply coming from individual money lenders. During the afternoon the First National bank and one trust company offered money moderately, but at no time was the supply large. The action of the sterling exchange market seemed to justify this course by the banks. While there was a fair accumulation of commercial bills over Sunday, these were readily absorbed, and during the afternoon exchange rates advanved a half point. It was reported from London that $500,000 gold had been purchased in that market for shipment to New York, and during the week $4,000,000 Australian gold will arrive at San Francisco and will probably be transferred east; but instead of looking for gold imports in the regular course of business, international bankers are now talking of the probability of gold exports. Various estimates have been made of the amount of sterling loans negotiated by New York earlier in the year, the amounts ranging from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000, and it is inferred that a portion of these is now falling due and will continue to fall due until the end of the year. It is this syndicate borrowing abroad, together with the heavy importation of iron and steel, and the arrangements being made for the importation of coal, that have upset the calculations of those who relied upon gold imports to immediately follow the advance in money rates here and relieve the stringency. The sub-treasury continues to gain from the banks, the net loss to the latter since last Friday amounting to $296,000. The drain to the interior is not likely to cease for several weeks yet. The associated banks have already practically given notice by maintaining the reserve against government deposits that this relief is not for the benefit of stock market operators, but for the commercial community.

The stock market opened very feverish, and that was its condition throughout the day. At various times efforts were made to rally prices, but in each instance the advance met with liquidation, which was ascribed wholly to bull pools. Stocks in which the latter have been most conspicuous were the worst sufferers. Atchison broke from 88¾ to 85½. Union Pacific from 104⅛ to 102. Southern Pacific from 73 to 70⅞, and Missouri Pacific from 113⅝ to 110⅞. There was also heavy liquidation in Pennsylvania, which at one time sold down to 160 and closed near the lowest. Even St. Paul, upon which the general bull interest had been resting its hopes, sold off from 194 to 191. When this road on September 11 last raised its rate of dividend to 7 per cent, exceeding expectations, the call money market rose to 12 per cent, and the event which the bulls had relied upon fell flat. Last Saturday the adjourned meeting of stockholders rather unexpectedly voted to increase the St. Paul's authorized capital by $25,000,000, foreshadowing value rights to accrue to present stockholders. Such an event a month or so ago would have boomed values. Yesterday the announcement failed to keep the stock out of the list of losses. This incident is cited for the purpose of illustrating the temper of the street. For months the market ignored all unfavorable developments and continued to advance. Now it has arrived at a point where it is forced to ignore favorable developments. In the final dealings there was a fair rally in the general list, due partly to shorts covering and partly to a rumor originating from Washington to the effect that President Roosevelt had requested Mr. Mitchell of the miners' union to order a resumption of work, with the promise of legislation that would avert a repetition of such prolonged struggles. It might be remarked in this connection that from the beginning of the strike Wall street has found its information on the subject at fault.

In Pittsburgh the total sales on the stock exchange were only 6,236 shares, distributed among 27 stocks. Of these 15 showed net declines for the day, 5 net advances, and 7 closed unchanged. In the industrial list the principal change was in Westinghouse Electric, which, after selling at 108½ at the opening, broke to 106 at the close. Airbrake declined 1 to 182. The annual meeting of the latter company will be held today, but no inkling of its showing reached the street. The steel stocks were only moderately active, but they closed at practically the lowest of the day. Crucible Steel common sold at 22 and 21⅝ and the preferred at 86 and 85⅝. United States Steel held comparatively steady until near the close of the day, when the common sold at 39⅛, a loss of ⅛, and the preferred at 88⅜, a decline of 1⅝ compared with last week's close. Window Glass opened lower at 60⅝, declined to 60¼, but rallied to 60⅝ at the close. The action of the directors in declaring the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent was not known on the exchange until after the close of the market, but it is doubtful if it would have had any effect, since there was little if any doubt that the dividend would be declared. Pittsburgh Coal was the most active stock on the list, selling at 29⅝ to 29¼, bue recovering to 29½ at the close, a net loss for the day of ½. River Coal was nominally unchanged. Brewing, Fire Proofing and Philadelphia Company were quiet and about unchanged.

There was a decided falling off in dealings in bank and trust company shares, and prices displayed a sagging tendency. The principal decline was in Colonial Trust, which opened lower at 665, declined to 660, and at the close was offered at 658, with 650 the best bid for a round lot. Five shares Pittsburgh Trust sold at 900, but 875 was the best bid at the close, and more stock was offered at 900. Allegheny Trust sold at 155, a loss of 3½, and Real Estate Trust closed with a lot loss of 2, declining to 310 after selling at 313. American Trust gained a point, advancing to 128, and Federal National bank was a point higher at 146. The bid on Union Trust remained unchanged at 2,150 and 2,500 asked, but no stock changed hands. There was nothing doing in bonds and prices remained nominally unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

There were no sales of Fidelity Title & Trust yesterday, and the quotations were nominal at 635 bid, 700 asked.

Just before the close of the market Hill & Co. sold a block of 450 shares Pittsburgh Coal to Darr, Luke & Moore.

The directors of the Pittsburgh Coal Company held a meeting yesterday, but owing to the absence of a quorum no business was transacted. Another meeting will probably be held today.

Several Wall street commission brokers yesterday notified their Pittsburgh correspondents that they would refuse orders to buy stocks on margin until the money market outlook becomes clearer.

A few days ago Chairman Roswell Miller of the St. Paul road was quoted as saying: "No increase in capital stock or new bond issue is contemplated." On Saturday the company voted to increase its capital to $25,000,000.

The fact that sugar broke below 120 yesterday, and closed near the lowest, was construed by some as indicating that the Standard Oil people were in favor of a further liquidation in the general market continue.

It is expected that within the next few days unanimous consent will have been received from stockholders of the Union Trust Company waiving the required 60-day notice for increasing the capital, and that the deal will be carried through by the 15th inst.

The first installment on subscriptions to the stock of the German-American Savings and Trust Company, amounting to 20 per cent, or $200 a share, payable today. The company's capital is $1,000,000, and when the stock becomes full paid it will have $500,000 surplus.

Secretary Shay says he will consider offers to sell government bonds, but the price must be low if any purchases are made by the department. The trouble is that investors who want United States bonds these days are not the ones who feel the pinch of the money market.

The Westinghouse Air Brake Company will hold its annual meeting this afternoon. Judging from the unprecedented activity in car building during the past year, the gross business of this company should show a large increase, but the cost of material has been higher, which would affect net profits.

"We are asking from $100 to $150 a share margin on all bank and trust company shares quoted over $500," remarked a Fourth avenue broker yesterday, "and we are not soliciting business even at those figures. Speculation in that class of security has had considerable to do with making money close here."

Three important roads reported gross earnings for September yesterday, and they made good showings. Missouri Pacific for the month increased $68,000, Louisville & Nashville increased $590,137 and Norfolk & Western increased $700,440. Chesapeake & Ohio reported a decrease in net earnings for August of $204,429.

It is reported that the Chase National bank of New York is arranging to substitute other security for its government bonds on account public deposits, and that with the release of these bonds it will issue $500,000 additional currency thereof. It was also reported that the National City bank was making similar arrangements.

Two stocks in which Pittsburgh capital is interested were not affected by the declining tendency in the east yesterday. These were Calumet & Arizona, which sold in the Boston market at 67¼, and Lake Superior & Pittsburgh Development, which advanced to 75 bid and was held at 80. These are the highest prices ever quoted.

The Allegheny Heating Company, one of the corporations affiliated with the Philadelphia Company, held its annual meeting yesterday and the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: H. Reeb, Joshua Rhodes, James D. Callery, T. H. Given, M. K. McMullin, Joseph F. Guffey, William E. Lloyd, Herbert Dunny, R. S. Smith, James T. Arnold and George W. Crawford.

The comptroller of the currency announces the following selections of new officers by national banks in Pennsylvania: The Delmont National bank of New Salem, C. C. Stonley, assistant cashier; the Citizens National bank of Tunkhannock, Harvey Sickler and Harry D. Billings, vice presidents; the First National bank of Greenville, C. E. Witmer, cashier, in place of C. R. Beatty; E. R. Turner, assistant cashier, in place of C. E. Witmer.

A Fourth avenue house received the following from its Wall street correspondent after the close of the market yesterday: "The main cause of the heavy liquidation which took place in today's market, and which extended throughout the entire stock list, appears to have been the necessary contraction of the unprecedented extensions of New York banks. There is every indication that this liquidation has not been completed and that lower prices will be seen in the immediate future. Several prominent operators who have heretofore been stanch bulls are supposed to have liquidated today."

The 1½ per cent dividend declared yesterday on American Window Glass common is not officially stated to be quarterly, but it comes at the regular quarterly period, and it makes the fifth consecutive dividend at that rate. In view of the heavy decline for the products some persons had been looking for a reduction of the rate, but the action of the directors justifies the inference that the business of the quarter ending with December will warrant the rate. The annual meeting of the company will be held on the 21st inst., when a good financial showing is looked for. The last annual report showed net profits of $1,010,000 over and above $600,000 common stock after charging off $400,000 for depreciation and paying 7 per cent dividends on the preferred stock.

It has always been a difficult matter to accurately quote the local money market, since there has never been any public offering of or bids for money, as is the case where a clearing house rate is established on balances, the latter being loaned fiat between banks. As a rule, brokers have their own particular banks at which they do business, and borrowing and lending is a matter of personal and private negotiation. For this reason the most variant reports are sometimes made as to the state of money market. One borrower who may happen to have been called on by his bank in person, or able to immediately place the same elsewhere, reports the market light, while another borrower may have been offered money by several of his banks during the day, and being able to use it, reports the market easy. In the east the relations between borrowers and lenders is less personal. New York banks have their representative on the stock exchange, through whom they offer their surplus funds, the rate is established through public bids and offers, and the loans is negotiated subject to inspection and approval of collateral. There does not seem to be any good reason why a similar system could not be established in Pittsburgh, without disturbing the personal relations now existing between banks and their customers. The personal element will always remain; borrowers will have their favorite banks at which they keep accounts, and banks will always have their customers. Borrowers who will receive the first concession if any is granted; but the establishment of an open money market would have a tendency to increase the amount of what might be termed impersonal business—that is, business in which the matter of rate and collateral would constitute the sole basis for negotiation, and the personality of the borrower would be a merely secondary consideration. In carrying out this suggestion all that would be necessary would be for the banks to select a representative on the stock exchange—temporarily the secretary of the exchange might be selected—to whom they would report the amount of surplus funds available for any borrower willing to pay the rate paid the highest bidder for collateral. The representative could publicly announce the separate or aggregate amounts of money offered on call, and in a general way the kind of collateral that would be acceptable. The borrower would be given the name of the banks having call money and the loan be negotiated in the regular way. This would bring to a common market the borrower and lender just as at present buyers and sellers come together in a common market when they desire to deal in stock. As stated, the funds so offered would constitute the surplus of money left after regular customers had been supplied. The advantage to the bank would be that it could always have its money employed at some rate, and always have the collateral directly under its control. The advantage to the broker would be that he would have a better idea of the tone of the general money market instead of the condition as indicated by his own particular bank. The principal advantage to the public would be a knowledge of the real condition of local monetary affairs. The president of one of the largest institutions to whom the suggestion was submitted, said that it was a good one, but that borrowers would have to become educated to the fact that a call loan meant payment on demand.

MORE B. & O. PURCHASES

Seven Properties in Glenwood Bought for Track Extensions. Vulcan Steel Co. Gets Land at Aliquippa.

One of the best realty deals which has been consummated in the downtown district for some weeks was yesterday closed by Samuel W. Black & Co., who sold for Whitney & Stephenson, the stock brokers, the property known as Nos. 212 and 214 Fourth avenue. The property has a frontage of 28 feet in Fourth avenue, 37 feet in Third avenue, with a depth of 171 feet. The ground is now occupied by old buildings. The name of the purchaser is being withheld, but it was learned that the new owner will have the buildings now occupying the property removed and erect in their place a modern structure. The price paid for the property is said to have been about $140,000, or $5,000 per foot front for the Fourth avenue frontage. This transaction in Fourth avenue shows that frontage on that thoroughfare is steadily advancing, as up until a short time ago the only site which brought $5,000 a foot front was the lot on which the new Colonial Trust Company building is erected, and this held the record price in the street for nearly one and a half years. The Whitney & Stephenson property adjoins that recently sold through the same brokers to the German Insurance Company for $80,000, and it is understood that the insurance company was also the purchaser of the frontage sold yesterday, and both sites will be used for another skyscraper, as the new home of the company.

Railroad Purchases.

The Schuylkill Improvement Land Company has bought for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad seven properties in the Twenty-third ward for $32,400. The deals were made through the office of H. O. Hornberger. The largest purchase was from Catherine Cox, who sold to the railroad two plots in the southeast side of Renova street, near Lytle street for $14,700. One lot measures 106x132 feet and the other 30x118 feet. Both are improved. Other purchases were as follows: From Thomas F. Green, a lot, 48x120 feet, in Lytle street, $1,000; from Walter S. Weir, a lot, 24x118 feet, in the east side of Renova street, near Lytle street, $3,450; from Mary Smith an improved lot, 24x72 feet, in the east side of Virginia avenue, near Lytle street, for $4,500; from Rachel L. Barnes an improved lot, 24x120 feet, in the west side of Renova street, near Lytle street, for $3,600; from Manas Bohner a lot, 25.5x151 feet, in the west side of George street, for $1,200; from Harriet A. Brown an improved lot, 48x120 feet, in Lytle street, for $4,000. The properties will all be used for track room.

South Side Purchases.

Two improved properties in the Twenty-eighth ward have been bought by Edward T. Evans from Christian I. Shannon and Ethel G. Shannon, trustees, under the will of Eleanor S. Naylor, for $34,000. The lots have a frontage of 43 feet in the north side of Carson street, near South Thirteenth street, and a depth of 72 feet. Both properties are improved with brick buildings.

Through the agency of Henry J. P. Diehl, T. J. Kell has sold to Tillie A. Moore two residence properties in the East End for $17,500. One of them is a lot 35x119 feet, in the east side of Woodworth street, near Atlantic avenue, Twentieth ward, which brought $7,500. The other property, which was sold for $10,000, measures 35x120 feet in the east side of Larimer avenue, near Station street, Nineteenth ward. This lot also has a 10-room frame house upon it. The two properties were taken in part payment for a residence, which Mr. Kell bought two weeks ago.

Spreading Out at Aliquippa.

The Vulcan Steel Company has purchased from the Ohio River Improvement Company four acres of land at Aliquippa for about $12,000. The land lies between the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and the Ohio river. It adjoins the plant of the Russell Shovel Company, and is near the works of the Aliquippa Steel Company. The purchasing company has already arranged for a big addition to its plant on the land bought.

The final papers have been passed in the purchase by the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western railroad of two properties valued at $56,157. The larger property was bought from Mary Belle Des Granges of Chicago, through the agency of Seidel Bros.—the deed having been made out to James W. Patterson. It is in three pieces, one 51x99 feet, in the north side of Ferry street, near Second avenue; one 33x79 feet, at the northwest corner of Ferry street and Second avenue, and one 4x66 feet, in the southwest side of Third avenue, near Ferry street. The lots are improved with 2-story brick buildings, and the total consideration was $50,000.

The other purchase was made from Morris P. Walsh, who sold 10 properties having a total frontage of about 430 feet in Rubicon street and 408 in Woodville avenue, Thirty-second ward, with an average depth of 100 feet. The consideration was $6,157.

An East End Sale.

John J. Buchanan sold to Elizabeth R. Silver a lot 60x120 feet on the west side of Highland avenue, near Alder street, Twentieth ward, for $11,500.

Samuel Saul has purchased from Henry A. Davis a property 48x80 feet on the east side of Turner street, near Wylie avenue, Fifth ward, for $15,000. The lot is improved with a three-story building.

The deeds were registered yesterday in the transfer of an undivided one-half interest in two properties in the Seventeenth ward, from Mary Jane Shaw to Silas P. Sadler for $29,225. The deal is part of the proceedings resulting from a dissolution of the firm of Sadler, Martin & Evans, from which Mr. Evans is retiring. One property is a lot 46x125 feet on the northeast side of Fifth street, near Geneva street, and is improved with a double brick house. The other lot measures 100x328 feet on the south side of Bruce street and has erected upon it 30 two-story brick houses. The properties were encumbered with two mortgages amounting to $15,000.

Bought Lots by Telephone.

As indicating the eagerness of homeseekers to pick up good building sites at reasonable prices, the sale of the Westwood plan of Wood, Harmon & Co. is a striking example. The first sale on the plan was on September 19 and Saturday night the last of the 936 lots was closed out. The total amount of the sales was over $300,000. A novelty in the way of selling lots happened on Friday, when a man from a West Virginia town, who had looked over the plan and purchased 11 lots for himself, telephoned in an order for 17 lots for his friends, naming them by number. His check for the first lot was received at the office on Monday morning. A much larger percentage than usual took advantage of the discount for cash and paid for their lots at once.

Owing to the heavy rain Saturday the opening sale of the South Monaca plan has been postponed by Black & Baird, agents, till Saturday, October 11. Despite the inclement weather over $7,000 worth of the lots were sold last Saturday, showing that the plan is likely to be a very popular one.

James B. Glass closed an exchange deal whereby Martha C. Shaw and others of Wilkinsburg gave to Belle Hamilton of McKeesport, Pa., a 10-room frame house, lot 80x114 feet, at corner of Thirteenth avenue and Jenny Lind street, McKeesport, valued at $7,000, for a brick business property in Monongahela avenue, Glassport, just south of the Glassport National bank, valued at $8,500, the difference being paid in cash.

GOOD WEATHER CUTTING PRICES

All Grains Slightly Lower in Chicago as Result of Clear Skies.

SLIGHT RALLY COMES

Northwestern Buying Helps Wheat in Recovery—Outsiders Are Liberal Sellers of Corn.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THIS GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Clear skies, with prospects of a continuance of more favorable weather conditions, was the main cause for lower prices in grain today. December wheat closed ¼c lower. December corn ¼c down and oats a shade lower. Provisions were strong throughout the day, January pork closing 20c higher, lard 15@17½c higher, and ribs 10c higher.

The early trading in wheat was at rather weak prices, due principally to quite general selling, induced by the more favorable weather conditions. The advance in corn and northwestern buying later caused a rally. There was a good local demand for both December and May and the latter option closed practically unchanged. December opened ⅛@⅜c lower, at 69⅝@69¾c, sold to 69⅜@69¼c, and rallied to 70⅛@70⅜c, only to react again on realizing by longs.

Close Slightly Lower.

The close was ¼c lower, at 69¾c. Primary receipts were 1,470,000 bushels, compared with 1,061,000 a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 981 cars, which with local receipts of 107 cars—only one of contract grade—made total receipts for the three points of 1,088 cars, against 1,451 cars a week ago, and 1,557 last year.

Corn was weak early in the session due to general commission house selling as a result of the improved weather. Outsiders were liberal sellers, and for a time the offerings exceeded the demand, but later on by good buying by locals, there was a more buoyant tone manifested. Realizing later in the session brought out more weakness, and the close was slightly under Saturday's closing figures. December opened ⅜@⅝c lower, at 48¾c to 48⅝c.

Reaction Follows Advance.

On the bulge the price advanced to 49⅜c, but a reaction followed, and the close was ¼c lower, at 48⅜@48¾c. Local receipts were 114 cars, with 22 contract grade.

Oats opened easy in sympathy with other grains and local scalpers and commission houses sold freely. Offerings were readily absorbed, however, and the early loss was more than regained. The principal feature was the scarcity of offerings after the opening rush was over. December opened ⅜@¼c to ½@⅝c lower at 32⅝@32¾c and sales ranged between 32¼c and 32⅝c, closing a shade lower at 32½c. Local receipts were 127 cars.

In spite of the lower prices in grains the provision market was strong with a heavy demand from brokers and commission houses. Small receipts of hogs and stronger prices at the yards, were also strengthening features. January pork closed 20c higher at $15 90. January lard was 15@17½c higher at $9 00, while ribs closed 10c higher at 8 82½.

FINANCIAL.

BETWEEN THE BEST Par Value Gold Mines.

Producing Ore.

In closing up the sale of Par Value Stock an unusual opportunity is offered for a safe and profitable investment and early returns.

The company is now producing ore in two mines, has three others developed to the point of production and owns or operates nine properties, including the Mary Cashen, Coriolanus, Mary Alice, Par Value and Stonehouse, which are located on Battle Mountain, adjoining or surrounded by the Portland, Stratton's Independence, Gold Coin, Ajax, Strong and the Granite, the richest mines in the Cripple Creek district. Two others are located six miles distant and two in the Mercur-Bingham district, Utah.

The company's properties, contain nearly 700 acres, over 600 acres of which are owned and the remainder leased.

It is capitalized for only $1,000,000, the usual capitalization of one mine, while it has sufficient acreage and every promise of opening a dozen other mines on its properties. It is not, therefore, dependent upon one for results.

The shares are full paid and non-assessable. Two years' time and work and nearly $100,000 have been spent by the company on development and plant, in addition to $100,000 expended by former operators on some of the properties.

The company has been established and in operation over two years, has developed and proven mines in the best locations in America, and it is on a producing basis.

The present sale of stock is to provide money for additional development, and the sale will shortly be discontinued. Now is the time to secure stock.

Adjoining mines are paying from two to three cents per month per share dividends, or 24 to 36 per cent.

The directors include bank officers, merchants, manufacturers and professional men of the highest character, as follows:—Henry Baird, National Bank Cashier; J. C. McNaughton, Wholesale Lumber Merchant; C. A. Meals, M. D.; J. F. Campbell, Bank President; William Bromer, Manufacturer; Thomas Armitage, Marble Works; J. E. Miller, Glass Manufacturer; A. E. Weger, Counsellor-at-Law, Campbell Jobes, Claysville, Pa., and the affairs of the company are conducted on business principles in the interest of the stockholders, as are all meritorious companies.

Location of property, development, capitalization, price of shares, standing of company, integrity and capacity of management and all things considered, no better mining investment was ever offered investors.

Gold Mining is the safest and most profitable of all industries properly conducted.

NEW HIGH RECORD FOR NAVY BEANS

Butter Quotations Unchanged. Peaches Less Plentiful and Higher.

Business for the week opened yesterday morning with the markets nearly all in good condition, but so far as trade in hay and grain are concerned there was little in the way of special feature. Prices were all held steady throughout the day at the closing figures of Saturday, and the tone of the market was firm. Beans showing a still weaker feeling, and corn is arriving but slowly. Advances made in shelled corn at the close of the week are maintained without trouble, receipts being light. Oats are steady at the advance of last week, fair receipts of yesterday in no way affecting quotations.

Navy Beans Still Advancing.

Grocery staples did not change in price at all, except for navy beans, which are quoted by jobbers here by shippers at a range of prices varying from $2 45 to $3 00, and the local market is unsettled, with quotations ranging from $2 50@2 75, and those figures not at all secure. Brokers are inclined to the opinion that the alarm in regard to injured crops is over-estimated, and that the only question which remains to be answered is as to the extent of the loss. Prices will likely be high, for while foreign beans may be brought in if desired, they are too high for consumers to pay, yet imported stock seldom gives satisfaction. There is a fairly good crop in California, and that state will be looked to for relief from Michigan's failure, if there is a sufficient eastern scarcity to permit of the bringing in of Pacific coast stock at the additional cost freight rates compel. Flour, sugar and coffee are all steady at unchanged prices, while canned goods and dried fruits are offering at old quotations.

Peach Conditions Stronger.

The peach market is in better condition, not so many offering as at the close of last week, arrivals yesterday being only seven carloads. Of course bulletins show a considerable number of cars still in freight yards, but much of the stock is in poor to be unsalable, and a considerable quantity has already been dumped out as unfit for use. Offerings on the street are at slightly increased prices. Potatoes are coming in freely but prices are yet well maintained. Farmers are lower in their askings, but stock has not come to this market in sufficient quantities as yet to break prices. Retailers are already doing some buying for winter storing, although there is not yet much of that kind of purchasing; it will be increasing, however, if the weather keeps cool. Harvest queries still in the line of about 26 cents, while all other kinds of produce remain unchanged.

Poultry May Go Higher.

Poultry prices are the same as at the opening of business yesterday. Receipts bid fair to show some falling off this week, and dealers now talk as though there might be a higher quotation inside of ten days.

Butter prices remained without change at Elgin yesterday, and local quotations are the same as those of last week. Eggs are steady, with supply just about equal to demand. Cheese is now higher, so dealers assert, at factories than it is selling for here, but local prices are not yet advanced.

Hay, Grain and Feed.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 34 cars hay, 29 cars oats, 5 cars corn, 5 cars feed, 1 car corn and oats, 9 cars rye, 1 car straw; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 5 cars hay; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 2 cars hay, 1 car oats, 1 car rye; Pittsburgh & Western railroad, 4 cars hay; total receipts, 98 cars.

Following are the official quotations for hay, grain, corn, oats and mill feed, furnished by the superintendent of the Pittsburgh $7mith exchange:

Straw—Oat, $7 00@7 50; wheat, $7 00@7 50; rye, $8 50@9 00.

Grain—Carbon, 110 deg. 9c; headlight, 93½c; water white, 10c; Elaine, 13¾c; Ohio W. W. test, 9¾c; miners' Lewis, 51@52c; special brands, 26@43c; prime refined, 26c.

CARRIED ICE ON HOT AFTERNOON

POLES HEEDED A RUMOR

Drew Money from a Bank, Then Prosecuted Their Landlady for Larceny by Bailee—A Day in Criminal Court.

Thoms McClelland was yesterday acquitted of larceny in Judge Collier's branch of criminal court, and the costs were placed on the prosecutor, Clyde Hamilton. McClelland was accused of the theft of a 50-pound piece of ice from an ice wagon on a hot July afternoon. The prosecution was unable to prove any more than that McClelland was seen carrying a piece of ice.

McClelland amused the court by shedding tears and telling in a rich Irish brogue that for 45 years he had been a hard working man and had never had the breath of suspicion raised against him before. The jury believed him and took but a few moments to return its verdict.

Annie Muyi was charged, on two indictment, with larceny by bailee, because Andy Soecty and Lizzie Lotsko lost faith in a Homestead bank and drew their money, placing it in the defendant's hands for safe-keeping.

She keeps a boarding house at Homestead. Lizzie Lotsko worked for her and Soecty was a boarder. They heard it rumored among the Polish people that a bank was going to break. Soecty drew $72 and Miss Lotsko drew $46. These amounts were given to Mrs. Muyi for safe-keeping. A few days later the defendant testified the money was stolen from a trunk where she had placed it. She intimated that Soecty might have taken it. The jury returned a verdict finding her not guilty of either charge.

Cross suits of aggravated assault and battery and assault and battery against John J. Chivers and William Gibbons were disposed of by a jury with acquittals and division of costs. The men became involved in a small-sized riot at a ball game at Bridgeville on July 26. Chivers represented he was acting in the capacity of an officer trying to quell the disturbance.

Other acquittals were: John Stein, Robert Curran, J. Irwin and John Kempenski, forcible entry and detainer, and John Stein et al., assault and battery, charged by Henry Sniger with entering a room at 3½ Frankstown avenue on August 7, prosecutor ordered to pay the costs in each of the cases; Mike Zubally, larceny of $25 from a trunk belonging to Andy Takacz; Dominick Stangis, assault and battery, Frank Miller, prosecutor, costs divided; John McNally and M. E. McNamara, assault and battery, prosecutrix Mary Ryan to pay the costs; Martin Lee, aggravated assault and battery and assault and battery, Joseph R. Miller, prosecutor and Freda White, prosecutrix, costs divided.

Patrick McCoy was found guilty of felonious assault, for the reckless shooting of a revolver of John C. Zobrist and towards the latter's house, in Jefferson township, September 14.

Henry Robinson pleaded guilty to the larceny of a gold watch from Jacob Aronson on September 19, and was sentenced to the workhouse for nine months.

This was done upon petition of Mrs. Allene T. Hostetter, widow of the decedent. The homestead at Shady avenue and Howe street is bequeathed to the testator's wife, who died a few months ago, and consequently the entire estate goes to the decedent's four children. His sons, George A. Kelly and Samuel R. Kelly, are appointed executors. Attorneys George C. Wilson represents the estate.

The will of John Paul was filed. The value of the estate is not given. It is bequeathed in equal shares to his widow and daughter. The Fidelity Title and Trust Company is named executor.

By the will of George Nutter, filed by Attorney George H. Lepper, an estate worth $2,000 goes to near relatives. Casper Schmidt, of Perrysville left a $700 estate to his son, August Schmidt.

An inventory and appraisement of the estate of Matthew Lanz, deceased, shows a valuation of $75,253 20, of which $73,753 20 represents an interest in M. Lanz & Sons.

May A. Hall, through Attorney John J. McAlinney, took out letters of administration on the $300 estate of Robert Hall. Like letters were issued to Sarah B. Reed on the $600 estate of Oliver M. Heath. Attorneys Peltes & McAllister represent the estate.

Seker Will Contest Up.

A jury was called yesterday afternoon to decide the contest over the will of Mrs. Wilhelmina Seker, late of Allegheny. The decedent was in the hotel business and left considerable property. The contestants are the children of the decedent, Henry C. Seker and Mary Cassidy, who received but a small share of the estate. It is alleged Mrs. Seker was of unsound mind and had been influenced in making her will by Hugh Stewart and others.

Soffel Wants No Advantage.

Permission was granted Attorney R. T. McIlroy in common pleas court No. 3, yesterday, to continue the divorce case of Peter K. Soffel against Kate Soffel. According to the petition, Mrs. Soffel is in the penitentiary and the order of court will prevent the respondent's attorney from later claiming undue advantage had been taken of his client's position.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Charters were granted to the Reineman hospital and the East Pittsburgh Mutual Beneficial association.

C. C. Schuerman entered suit against William T. Sull for $10,000 damages for alleged breach of contract.

Judge Shafer handed down an opinion dismissing the equity case of Helen D. Shields and others against James S. B. McCandless.

In the divorce case of Catherine Lejune against August Lejune, the latter was ordered to pay his wife $5 a week and $25 counsel fees.

At a meeting of the creditors before the referee in the bankrupt estate of George W. Martin, Attorney William A. McDowell was elected trustee of the estate, valued at $167,000 and with liabilities of $76,000.

A non-suit was granted by Judge J. A. Evans in the case of Jos. Cleary against J. H. Schoemaker. The action was brought to recover $122 on alleged contract for commission for the transfer of certain real estate.

H. K. McKenzie, manager of "Our Special Delivery Company," filed a petition asking that an appeal be allowed from a fine of $10 imposed by Alderman Von Moos of Allegheny for alleged cruelty to a horse. The appeal was allowed on the filing of a $100 bond by the defendant.

Executions were issued as follows: H. A. Mackey against Sadie and John D. Hall, $220 57; F. J. Stouffer against J. W. Boberg, $843 75; J. L. Springer against John McCutcheon, $196 27; Henry L. Gearing against Jacob and Katie Steinberg, $1,736 41; Shraden Land Improvement Co. against Emily Lytle, admx., $3,876.

The plaintiff in the suit of John Doris against Charles Larkin was awarded $3,500 by a jury yesterday. The plaintiff is the son of Michael Doris, of whose estate the defendant was made executor. The plaintiff said he was wrongfully induced to sign a paper by the defendant, which afterwards proved to be the deed for the sale of property worth $4,000 for $2,500.

Attorney A. G. Vogan filed a bill in equity for M. J. Steffen against George Kinnear in common pleas court No. 2. The plaintiff was awarded a contract for erecting a school building in Natrona to cost $25,000. He declares he let the contract for the foundation to the defendant for $6,200, but that he is not doing the work right. A preliminary injunction was granted.

Judge Frazer dismissed the bill in equity filed by Fred O. Harley against Samuel H. McKain and Dr. W. McCleary for a receiver for the Lincoln Avenue Pharmacy, Ltd., of Bellevue, which is now in the hands of liquidating trustees. The court finds that Harley did not act right in taking away the books of the company and ignoring the notice to present them to the trustees. This the court thinks, was an acquiescence to the liquidation of the company's business, and even if it was not the majority of the shareholders voted for dissolution.

Sentiment and the China Cabinet

Why is it that so much human interest centers in a China Cabinet? Well, first of all, a China Cabinet should be a receptacle for the specimens of ceramic art which appeal to the owner's individual taste—and, secondly, such a Cabinet is the logical lodging place of those pieces which one's artistic friends produce and distribute as gifts.

So it is altogether natural that the China Cabinet should occupy a place apart in the affections of the family. It is a piece wherein sentiment abides.

The Cabinet pictured above is made of quartered golden oak, 42 inches wide by 55 inches high; bent glass ends.

The large collection of China Cabinets here indicates the advantages of visiting this department for all sorts of dining room furniture. You'll find that both styles and prices are most interesting at
